

Drafts

DRAFTS issued by the First National Bank are used for the same purposes that Post Office and Express Money Orders are, and are available for many other uses.

We recommend the use of DRAFTS when traveling, when transferring money from place to place and when sending money to parties at other places as they are cheaper, much more convenient and absolutely safe.

DRAFTS can be carried in lieu of currency and the owner is absolutely protected from loss.

DRAFTS can be transferred from one person to another as many times as desired, thus saving many extra fees.

DRAFTS are available for use in the UNITED STATES, CANADA or MEXICO.

The fee charged for our DRAFTS is about one-third less than the fee charged for Post Office or Express Orders.

The Initiative and Referendum

As we grow older, and see more of the world, and learn more of the workings of governmental affairs, the more heartily are we in favor of putting questions of government and public policy directly up to the people and letting them decide what they want; and the more cheerfully are we willing to abide by the majority's decision when expressed unbiased by partisan prejudice or confusion of issues. We believe in "Let the people rule," not because that sentence has been made a party slogan, but because it expresses a principle that ought to be fundamental with all political parties. One of the most encouraging signs of the times is the great demand that is being made to let voters express their opinions and wishes in municipal, state and national government; and the yielding to this demand by many leaders of both the great political parties.

In our humble opinion, one of the best laws ever enacted by a republican legislature of the state of Nebraska is the one permitting cities to adopt the initiative and referendum for the settlement of questions relating to municipal government. And by the same token, the worst thing done by the democratic legislature, that did many good things, was defeating the bill for a law to adopt the initiative and referendum in state government.

In the issue of The Herald of December 20th, we called attention to the importance of adopting the initiative and referendum in Alliance, and suggesting and requesting the circulation of petitions for an election to vote on the adoption of the same. Since then petitions have been circulated and signed by a larger number of voters than was necessary to make the calling of the election legal. So far as we have been able to learn the sentiment in favor of adoption is general, but would probably be more nearly unanimous if the scope of the initiative and referendum were more fully known. Some seem to think that only one question is to be, or can be, settled thereby. This is a great mistake. Not only may the question of licensing saloons be decided by direct vote of the people, thereby eliminating the ill will that is so often unnecessarily engendered, where the question hinges upon the election of candidates for city offices, and which is so detrimental to a city's growth and business interests; but other questions of vital importance to a city's welfare may be voted upon and decided by direct vote. One of the most important questions coming up for settlement, as a city increases in size and commercial importance, is that of franchises, such as electric light, telephone, gas, street railways, etc., and the old plan of leaving these important matters entirely in the hands of a few men is fast playing out, and no up-to-date city will want to retain such a system long when an opportunity is offered to adopt a better method.

We apprehend that it will not be many years until a city that refuses, or neglects, to adopt the initiative and referendum, when there is opportunity to do so, will be the laughing stock of the public outside of its corporate limits.

While the east is crying out in all its misery about the worst winter in many years, we can't complain. A threshing crew at the Russell farm last Thursday and Friday turned out more than 3,000 bushels of grain, and the boys worked in their shirt sleeves, too. Come to western Nebraska, you storm-swept Iowans and Missourians and enjoy perpetual sunshine and good health!

There was considerable business transacted by the county commissioners at their meeting last week, but it is impossible to publish the proceedings in this issue of The Herald owing to the absence of the county clerk. The Herald was designated by the county fathers as one of the papers to do the printing for Box Butte county for the ensuing year.

Lieutenants Henning and Cooper came down from Fort Robinson to attend the dance given by the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church.
