

Drafts

DRAFTS issued by the First National Bank are used for the same purposes that Post Office and Express Money Orders are, and are available for many other uses.

We recommend the use of DRAFTS when traveling, when transferring money from place to place and when sending money to parties at other places as they are cheaper, much more convenient and absolutely safe.

DRAFTS can be carried in lieu of currency and the owner is absolutely protected from loss.

DRAFTS can be transferred from one person to another as many times as desired, thus saving many extra fees.

DRAFTS are available for use in the UNITED STATES, CANADA or MEXICO.

The fee charged for our DRAFTS is about one-third less than the fee charged for Post Office or Express Orders.

Cleaning Up at Crawford.

The sensation of the northwest corner of the state the last week has been the much-needed cleaning up that is taking place at Crawford. On Wednesday of last week Wm. C. Kieffe, on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League, went to Chadron, the county seat, and swore out eighteen warrants for the arrest of alleged law breakers of Crawford.

On Friday, ten were brought into court. Five women were fined $101.00 and costs, they having plead guilty on two counts to being mistresses of houses of ill fame and selling beer without license. Two men plead guilty to leasing their premises to be occupied as houses of ill fame and were fined $50.00 each. Two colored men plead guilty to selling liquor without a license and were fined $100.00 each. James L. Hogle's bartender plead guilty on four counts to selling after 8 p. m. and on Sunday, and was fined $100.00 and costs on one count, and sentence suspended on the other three counts. P. L. Krickboom is to be arraigned on the charge of allowing premises to be used as house of ill fame. On Monday of this week, Chas. Price, H. G. Newcomb and J. Newcomb were bound over to district court on gambling charges. The trial of Chas. Price and Rafella Price, on charge of allowing premises to be used as house of ill fame, was set for Feb. 4th. Hodge Sanders, charged with gambling, was to have been tried yesterday. Mayor P. G. Cooper's trial, on the charge of allowing premises to be used as a brothel, comes off today. H. G. Newcomb's trial on charge of selling on Sunday and after 8 p. m. was set for yesterday. John N. Bruer is to be tried today on same charges as Newcomb. John McFarland, one of Hogle's bartenders, was to have been tried yesterday on charge of selling on Sunday. Mayor Cooper agreed to resign on Tuesday of this week. We have not learned whether he did so. We understand that John N. Bruer, member of the council, will also resign.

To a person unacquainted with Crawford, it might seem that the entire town was given over to law breaking, but such is far from being the case. The fact is, a large percentage of the citizens are highly respectable and law-abiding. If this were not true, there would not be the cleaning up that is now taking place. We congratulate the respectable people of that town on the good work that is being done, and hope it will continue till Crawford becomes as noted for virtue as it has been for vice.

Temperance Rally at Alliance.

A union temperance meeting will be held in the Phelan Opera House next Sunday evening, Feb. 6th, at which Rev. Marna S. Poulson, superintendent of the Nebraska State

REV. MARNA S. POULSON

Anti-Saloon League will deliver an address. Mr. Poulson is reputed to be one of the leading temperance orators, not only of this state but of the nation as well. He is a gentleman in the broadest sense, and while intensely earnest in his efforts to abolish the traffic in intoxicating beverages, treats those who differ in opinion with him fairly. Whether you believe as he does or not, you will be well entertained if you go to hear him lecture.

Tamora, Nebraska, is one of the places where he has lectured since coming to this state. The local paper of that town, The Lyre, in its issue of January 27th, has the following to say regarding his address:

"As per previous announcement from the pulpit and through these columns, Marna S. Poulson, editor of The Issue, published in Lincoln, and also state superintendent of the anti-saloon forces of Nebraska, occupied the pulpit in the morning at the Presbyterian church and in the evening at the Methodist church, besides filling in an hour in the afternoon at Goehner. At each of these services he had large, attentive and appreciative audiences, and especially so at the evening service, even standing room being at a premium. The speaker having had a vast and varied experience in the work, has thoroughly familiarized himself with the subject matter—that of denouncing the saloon traffic. He is not only versed and logical, but he is exceptionally fluent and is possessed of a remarkable delivery. His advanced theme, in addition to dwelling upon the evil effects of a close and continued companionship of John Barleycorn and his lieutenants, is county option. In his addresses he is fair—not heaping coals upon the heads of his enemies—but on the contrary, pleads that they abandon the liquor business and engage in a business of a legitimate nature. In case he should revisit Tamora, there could not be found a building large enough to accommodate those who would turn out to hear him."
