

Sioux County Resources.

Under the head, "Exponents of Northwestern Nebraska," The Nebraska Farmer of March 23d prints an interesting article from the pen of C. H. Henderson, who resides in Sioux county, about ten miles west of Canton. He writes from the viewpoint of practical experience. Although what he says may not be altogether applicable to all localities in northwestern Nebraska, particularly a large part of Box Butte county, his statements are an accurate description of conditions in the parts of this country to which they apply, and we believe are as reliable as any statements that can be made in regard to the country.

It gives us pleasure to give below Mr. Henderson's article and, through the kindness of the editor of The Nebraska Farmer, we are also able to publish the two pictures referred to:

Editor Nebraska Farmer: I have been following the discussion concerning the sand hills in your paper. Between the opinions of Mr. McKelvie and Mr. Hamilton I would strike about an average. Taking Sioux county as a whole probably 10 per cent of it is bad, but on the other 90 per cent any man with grit, "get up" and push, with a small capital, can make a better living for his family here than he can renting land in the eastern part of the state. It is easier to get along here on 640 acres of Kinkaid land than in Richardson county on 160 acres between the years 1860 and 1870. I was there at that time and know whereof I speak. In fact I lived there forty-seven years.

If a man will come out here or anywhere else in this Kinkaid country and take up 640 acres, get ten good cows, and go to work he is safe and can depend upon getting a good living. If he can get hold of fifteen cows so much from them will, together with what his claim will be, worth, make the man that stays east and gives half of all he raises at the elevator look tired. There are a few Kinkaid left here in the western part of the county, but it is a very poor place for a lazy man.

I am sending a small kodak picture of 500 bushels of potatoes in one pile; also two ears of corn (not flint corn either) raised on section 10, township 26, range 54 west. We raised 400 bushels of corn, 225 bushels of oats, sixty of barley and eighty of wheat. We will feed it all but the spuds.

Our house is 26x30 feet with an addition 21x32 feet, all sod. The stable is 26x32 feet also, with a hay mow for six tons of hay. The chicken coop and coal house are also of sod. This shows what a man with little capital can do if he will spend a good deal of hard work. C. H. HENDERSON.

There were about one hundred and twenty-five on board here. Their first stop from here was at Denver where they picked up more delegates. The band in their uniforms marched up the street several blocks and treated the crowd to some music. There were two mascots, a little boy of about 8 years in band uniform and a tiny black bear only three weeks old. Souvenir apples was distributed each bearing the inscription, "North Yakima, Wash., The Apple Empire." Trainmaster Joder met them in Edgemont and conducted them here and Trainmaster Hickox took them over the south line. They make it a rule to have the train crew members of that order as near as possible.

A National Tuberculosis Sunday.

The National association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis announces that on April 24 a national tuberculosis Sunday will be held in the churches of the United States.

Following campaigns against consumption that have been carried on in the churches of hundreds of cities, and sermons on tuberculosis that have been preached before thousands of congregations during the past year, a movement has been started to establish a permanent tuberculosis Sunday, on which it is hoped that every one of the 33,000,000 church-goers in the United States will hear the gospel of health. It is planned to enlist the active cooperation of anti-tuberculosis organizations, labor unions, fraternal organizations, and other bodies together with the churches in the movement. The aid of leading churchmen in many of the principal denominations has already been offered. All of the large interdenominational bodies, such as the Young Men's Christian association, the Young Women's Christian association, the King's Daughters and Sons, and the various young people's societies are also in sympathy with the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

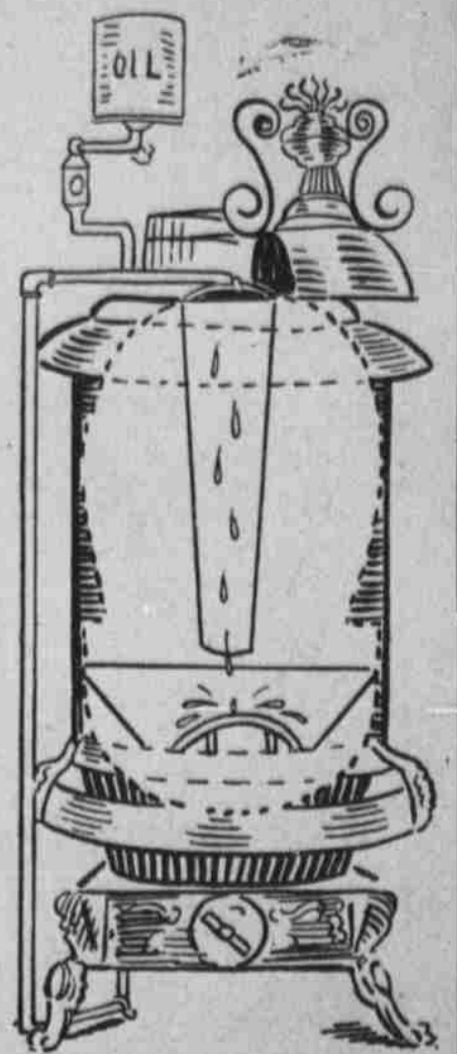

It is planned that on April 24th

How About Your Fuel Bills?

Come in and Let Us Show You How to Reduce Them

We have solved the fuel problem by inventing an OIL BURNER that burns oil right from THE WELLS as well as any products or by-products such as the highest grade distillate, down to the lowest grade of fuel oil, and gives perfect, uniform heat, thereby cutting your fuel bill in half, being a saving of 50 to 75 per cent to the consumer. Can be attached to any stove.

the better. There are postoffices and country stores all over this county within ten to fifteen miles of each other. Butterfat has been worth from 22 cents per pound (the lowest price of the year) up to 32 cents per pound at our station thirty-three miles out from the railroad. Any man can put up hay near or in the sand hills sufficient to winter 50 head of stock and everyone has plenty of summer pasture.

I have raised from fifteen to twenty bushels of sod corn per acre for the past three years and the sandiest land I have will produce from 60 to 125 bushels of potatoes per acre; I buried 700 bushels of spuds last year. We can raise on the average as much or more spring wheat, oats, barley, sorghum or spring rye than they ever could in the early days in eastern Nebraska. I believe we can beat those $150 lands yet if we leave out the corn and winter wheat.

However, I do not advise everyone to come west to farm altogether. The small Kinkaid must depend upon his cows and in three years the increase tuberculosis sermons shall be preached in all the churches of the country. Literature will be distributed to members of the congregations, and in every way an effort will be made to teach that tuberculosis is a dangerous disease and that it can be prevented and cured.

Clergymen who desire to obtain additional information in regard to tuberculosis will be able to secure literature from state and local anti-tuberculosis associations and boards of health, as well as from the National association.
