W. C. T. U. NOTES.

It is not reasonable to expect a stream of water to be clear and clean when we are told that at the head of the fountain there is piled rubbish, trash, and that is corrupt and defiling. Neither can we expect pure and wholesome laws when at our nation's capitol there are men of impure morals. Men who sanction those things which pertain to the nation's downfall. We must first make the fountain pure, then all will become so.

"Our temperance friends must turn a new leaf; we also must nationalize ourselves; the laws in regard to liquors being essentially national, we must meet our wily enemies in the national halls of Congress, not by petitions or other like nonsense. The enemy cares nothing for such 'foolery' as he calls it, and never did. We must be prepared to cope with the now powerful liquor interest by their own methods, the votes of Congressmen, which are to be obtained by the votes of those who send them to congress."—Horace Greeley.

Some politicians and some newspapers have been so thoughtless as to charge the Women's Christian Temperance Union with being the bond-servant of a political party because it has supported Prohibition candidates in past campaigns. It would be quite as proper to charge a reputable citizen with being the blind tool of a political party because he has given public utterance to his preference for that party. What of the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in politics? If that organization were not the foe of the saloon it would be but a sham and its name would be full of deceit. It was born in the midst of a woman's war on dramshops. During the period of its existence it has petitioned many legislatures for laws opposing the sale of liquor. It has met with countless rebuffs and at all times with scant courtesy. It has seen that saloon-keepers, and not women are powerful in politics. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is greater and purer than any political party. The man who sneers at it or derides its work either does not know whereof he speaks or else is inspired by motives which are not to his credit.

The Bible says: "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink." The law says, "That's so, but you may do it without sin if you will pay a certain price for the privilege." And the law carries conviction to the crowd everywhere and everytime, because it represents the idea of blue coats, brass buttons and locust cudgels. That is the kind of logic that even the dullest wits can understand.

What is temperance? The answers to this question are numerous. A saloonkeeper once told us that he "was a temperance man himself," and invited us to take a glass of beer with him; and a prominent clergyman once assured us that he was a strictly temperance man, but he had wine on the table and used it. Both these men were honest in their views, and temperance with them simply meant a temperate use of liquor. But nowadays the word has a different meaning; it is generally understood as meaning total abstinence. So when we speak of temperance we mean abstaining from alcoholic liquors in every form; and a society which teaches and practices this principle is doing a work of incalculable good to the race.

U. of Box Butte county met in the United Presbyterian church, in Alliance, Nebraska, at 3 o'clock p. m., Tuesday, June 28, 1910, following a meeting of the local W. C. T. U., for the purpose of organizing a county W. C. T. U. Miss Alice Palmer, national organizer, presided. Mrs. J. W. Thomas was appointed secretary pro tem.

On motion of Mrs. J. J. Vance, the convention proceeded to organize a county W. C. T. U. by the election of the following named officers for the present fiscal year: President, Mrs. I. E. Tash, Alliance; vice president at large, Mrs. Rolla Johnson, Hemingford; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. C. Attention is called to the ad in another part of the Herald of J. E. Smith, who is opening a new harness store opposite the postoffice. Mr. Smith starts out right by ordering a bunch of up-to-date printing from the Herald.

Young Girl Takes Own Life

A young lady by the name of Miss Stumpf, who was a domestic working at the home of John Curran, living west of Hemingford, committed suicide by shooting herself with a rifle late last Thursday evening. Dr. Siagle, who is coroner, and Undertaker Gadsby went to Hemingford Friday morning. A coroner's inquest was held but no reason could be found for her rash act. Her father had been to visit her shortly before she killed herself and he said he knew of no earthly reason for her killing herself. Burial was made in Lawn cemetery Saturday.
