Great Voting Contest Drawing to a Close

The Herald's great voting contest closes Thursday, July 7, 1910, at 8 o'clock p. m., if there is no one at The Herald office at that hour wishing to subscribe for the paper or turn in votes or subscriptions. The object is to close the contest at a time known to all contestants, and others interested, but still not depriving anyone of the privilege of subscribing or voting because of a rush that may occur at the hour set for closing.

When it is ascertained, at or after 8 p. m., that there are no persons present at The Herald office having votes to report, or wishing to subscribe, the contest will be declared closed. The standing of the candidates will be bulletined during the day and evening of July 7 in The Herald office, or in front thereof.

CASH REFUNDED TO SUBSCRIBERS

Here's something that will put ginger into the contest, and will be of great interest to subscribers:

The subscriber who is paid the farthest ahead at the close of business, Thursday, July 7, 1910, will be refunded three-fourths of the amount paid ahead at that time.

The subscriber who is second farthest ahead at that time will be refunded one-half of the amount paid ahead.

The subscriber who is third farthest ahead will be refunded one-third of the amount paid ahead.

As we are offering to give winners of prizes in the contest their choice between the prize won and a percentage of the money paid on new subscriptions from June 1st to the close of the contest, and on the special Graphophone prize from June 9 to July 7, and as we will not refund under any circumstance more than seventy-five per cent. of the money paid on any subscription, we make the following exception to the above: in regard to new subscribers who have voted for a candidate who chooses a percentage of the money paid on new subscriptions: If the amount to be paid to the winning contestant plus the amount that would go to the subscriber makes more than seventy-five per cent. of the amount paid ahead, the amount to be paid the winning contestant will be deducted from the amount that would otherwise be refunded to the subscriber, and after the deduction has been made the balance, if any, will be paid the subscriber.

Present to Subscribers

Every subscriber to the Herald, whether new or old, who pays two years in advance on subscription, on or before July 7th, will receive a beautiful and useful Library Wall Chart free. These are being published expressly for us, and will be delivered to subscribers free, express or postage charges prepaid. They show portraits of the Governors of Nebraska, an excellent county and township map of Nebraska, map of the United States with portraits of the Presidents, map of the world giving portraits of the rulers of the world, and descriptions of the principal cities of the United States.

This beautiful Wall Chart is printed in colors on three sheets of heavy paper, 28 by 36 inches, mounted ready to put up. It is not for sale; we ordered them to give to our subscribers; but compared with the prices charged for other maps, it is well worth $1.50.

We will give absolutely free, transportation charges paid, to any person paying two years' subscription to The Herald in advance; or to any person paying one year in advance and fifty cents additional. Any person paying four years in advance will receive two copies free; and for each additional two years paid in advance, an extra copy of the Wall Chart.

Subscription Cards

For the convenience of persons who may wish to subscribe and pay, and furnish the names of the persons subscribed for later, we have subscription cards, each good for a year's subscription. One of these will be furnished for each dollar and a half so paid, which will entitle the person paying to 150 votes for the candidate of his or her choice. Upon return of these cards, receipts will be issued to the persons to whom the paper is to be sent, and showing the date to which each is paid.

Reception at McCorkle Home

In the Herald of last week we gave a report of the wedding of Frank Dunning and Inice McCorkle. The reception was held at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. C. McCorkle, on Friday evening, July 1st. The happy couple returned home from their honeymoon trip to Denver, Colorado Springs, and other Colorado points last Friday morning.

The residence was beautifully decorated in pink and white and costly cut flowers were everywhere in evidence. In the receiving line were Mrs. W. W. Norton, who received at the door; Mrs. Cogswell, who did the introducing; and Mr. and Mrs. Hargraves, who stood up with the newly married couple. The residence was crowded all the time from eight o'clock until eleven thirty.

On several tables in a side room were many beautiful and costly presents, which were admired by all. The large front porch had been enclosed for the evening, Mr. Cogswell entertaining in the smoker.

In the dining room the guests were served punch by Miss Alice Acheson and Mrs. Lloyd C. Thomas. Ice cream and delicious cake were served by Nell Acheson and Ruth Aspenwall.

The orchestra which was composed of Miss Beulah Smith, Paul and Carl Thomas, Camille Nobe, Fred Funk, and Herbert Nelson, entertained with several beautiful instrumental pieces. The vocal solos were well rendered and elicited much applause.

Let Other Towns Celebrate

When it was proposed to celebrate the Fourth of July this year, and follow the celebration with the three days stockmen's convention, The Herald favored the proposition; but we wish now to start a movement to let the neighboring towns have the Fourth of July celebrations. Alliance people celebrating with them, and then invite them to come to this city to the annual stockmen's convention and the big fair in the fall.

We do not know yet what action the stockmen will take in regard to dates for future conventions, but we wish to suggest that a certain time be set for every year, say three days, commencing the first, second or third Monday in June; or if preferred, commencing on some other day of the week. Our idea is to have the stockmen's convention held at the same time each year.
