THURSDAY FAIR'S BEST DAY Crowd Largest ever on Fair Grounds Taylor Speakes to Big Audience

Thursday torenoon the fair program was about the same as the day before. except that the crowds were much larger and the Indian races and parade appreciated much more. Every hotel in the city is crowded and the management has been hard at work to secure sleeping quarters for all the visitors. The crowd began moving toward the fair grounds at the noon hour and by two o'clock the grandstands and bleachers were full. After music by the band the first on the program was a speech by Hon. W. J. Taylor, of Merna, Nebraska, who is candidate for Congress on the democratic ticket. In spite of the wind, which was quite heavy, Mr. Taylor made a good speech and was applauded time after time by the audience.

Mr. Taylor argued that the tendency of the present time is to reverse the proper functions of the government. In that ours was born at Plymouth colony, by men looking for religious freedom; and, established two centuries later in New England upon the principle of equal rights. That from then till now we have passed through three transitions of parties' uses. First, parties were used purely for the advancement of principle and recited the contentions of Jefferson and Hamilton over state rights and a centralized government. Second, parties became the medium of politicians and their contentions over spoils and cited the Grant, Sherman, Hayes, Tilden times. Third, and now, they have been subverted to the uses of corporations for their rule.

He stated that thus from the early principle of religious and individual and equal opportunity, we have reached our present condition-where the interests of property overshadow hunanity-and no longer does our government perform its proper function of protecting the weak from the greed of the strong. He reminded his audience that he had written Mr. Kinkaid proposing joint meetings-for the reasons that large numbers could be reached and the people compare their candidates, records and things they stand for. He said he believed Kinkaid would accept his proposition and perhaps the next time he came to Alliance Mr. Kinkaid would be with him and tell the people how much of his ability had been employed in dethroning Cannonism, revising the tariff downward, and how strenuously he had exerted himself to prevent graft in the coal land scandal in Alaska. He closed by urging the voters to support our legislative candidates because they have conceded that U. S. Senators should be elected by the people to the extent that they have declared that if elected they will vote for the candidate having the most votes and give as another reason that Hitchcock is for the people-Burkett, a trimmer. Hon. M. E. Haley, candidate for state senator, of O'Neill, who was to have spoken, did not get in on time because of the late train. The races were good and the trick and fancy roping was enjoyed by the audience. Freeda Hartzell, the lady crack shot, broke glass balls thrown into the air while riding around the track in an auto and brought the applause of the crowds on her head. The Indians attracted much attention, and when George Molling, Joe Vaughn and E. P. Sweeney joined them in their war dance, the crowd went wild and the Indians seemed to be supremely happy. One of the most interesting exhibits of the fair is the booth of the Agricultural department of the state, presided over by Mr. G. H. Coons. The different exhibits are placarded and the weed seed contest has many entries. three prizes being offered to the person giving the best list of weed seeds found in samples of alfalfa- Dr. E. Mead Wilcox, Prof. of Botany, arrived this morning and will be one of the judges.
