

ACHESON BROS., REAL ESTATE

The above heading does not mean that the gentlemen who were formerly engaged in the hardware business under the firm name of Acheson Brothers have abandoned that for real estate. As Herald readers are aware, W. S. Acheson disposed of his interest in the hardware some time since to his brother, I. L., who continues the business. The new firm consists of W. S. and A. R. Acheson. Most of our Box Butte county readers are, no doubt, acquainted with the former, and many of them with the latter.

W. S. Acheson is too well and favorably known in Alliance and vicinity to need any words of introduction or commendation from us. We will say, however, that we are glad that he has decided to continue to make this city his home, and re-enter business here. A. R. Acheson came here from Aberdeen, S. D., about two months ago, with his family, consisting of wife and one boy. He was a resident of this town before it became a city, in fact he was here when the town started. He has recently been engaged in real estate business in South Dakota, and being well acquainted with this country will be well adapted to the business here. He has a reputation for square dealing, and bearing the name of Acheson is a further recommendation for him in this part of Nebraska.

In addition to handling real estate, the new firm will write insurance, in which line they will probably work up a good business.

THE Y. M. C. A. TO DATE

Several weeks ago the ministers of the city got together to discuss the advisability of getting a Y. M. C. A. started here. With that object in view a meeting for men on Sunday afternoon was planned. Younkin's theatre was secured and meetings have been held for five Sundays past. The splendid attendance at these meetings has been so encouraging that the following action has been taken: A committee of three men from each church has been appointed to confer together as to further plans. This committee meets Thursday night at Rev. Brown's church. It is expected that definite plans will be ready for publication soon.

RETURNS FROM OHIO

Harvey Myers arrived last Sunday on his return from a visit of several weeks in Ohio. He stopped in Indiana, and a couple of days in Chicago on his return. Although he had a pleasant visit among relatives and other friends, he was glad to get back to Nebraska. In conversation with him we learn that prices are high in the east, as well as in the west, and the price of land still going up. On March 11th he attended an auction sale of western horses at Akron, Ohio. One team, weighing about 1,300 each, sold for $440; another team, weighing about 1,440 each, sold for $460; and one six-year-old horse, weighing about 1,200, sold for $247.50. In Indiana he found that one hundred dollars per acre was being offered for land that sold for sixty-five dollars when he was there three years ago.

While in Chicago, Mr. Myers exchanged the photographic outfit, with which he took a good many farm and ranch views last year, for a much better one, paying the difference in cash. He expects to spend a good deal of his time the coming summer doing view work.

WESTERN RYE GRASS

George E. Douglas called at The Herald office last Saturday with a bunch of western rye grass, of which he has about seven acres on his place southeast of Alliance. As many of our readers are aware, he is a great hand to experiment with crops, his farm for a number of years being a sort of private agricultural experiment station. He says he has experimented with twenty or more different kinds of grasses, and finds that the western rye grass is away ahead of anything else he has ever tried for this country. It is a splendid grass either for grazing or hay. Two crops of hay can be cut any ordinary year, the first crop yielding about a ton and one-half to the acre and the second crop a ton. It keeps green all summer, even in the dry years.

The sample brought to this office was a bunch pulled up by the roots, the top growth having been made after the hay was cut last year. It has the appearance of being quite nutritious, not being wiry like some drought-resistant grasses. Mr. Douglas will sow fifteen acres more of this grass this year, and intends to add to his acreage of it year by year until he has a hundred acres or more. We are pleased to learn that a number of other Box Butte county farmers will begin planting it this year.

BIG SHIPMENT OF PAPER

The Alliance Herald, with the largest circulation in western Nebraska, uses a great deal of print paper; and as the Dalton Herald and Lingle Herald, which are also partly published in Alliance, use a great deal of paper, large shipments are received by the Herald Publishing Company. This week a shipment of nearly two tons of the finest print paper was received. Although the print paper used by The Herald papers is much better and consequently more expensive than that used by competitors, we have found that it pays to use only the best and expect to continue to use good print paper.

NEW PAPER STARTS OUT WELL

The Lingle Herald, just established by The Herald Publishing Company at Lingle, Wyoming, started out last week with a good list of subscribers and a fair amount of advertising patronage. It is the intention of the publishers to make The Lingle Herald the leading weekly newspaper of the North Platte valley and we feel sure that those who have seen the paper will agree with us when we state that it contained more news last issue than many other similarly situated papers usually do. Lingle is in a good, growing country and has every prospect for making a big town.

NEW LOCATION FOR HOLY ROSARY CHURCH

A vote by ballot of the congregation of Holy Rosary Catholic church was taken last Sunday to decide whether the church edifice to replace the building recently destroyed by fire should be constructed on the old location at the southeast corner of Niobrara avenue and Fifth street or on the new site on the west side of Cheyenne avenue, in the second block south of St. Agnes Academy. The vote stood: for old location, 10; new location, 66. This means, no doubt, that the new church, which is to cost between $17,000 and $20,000, will be built on the new location.

Father McNamara has gone to Omaha to consult with the bishop of this diocese and make further arrangements for the construction of the new building, work on which will be commenced soon.

STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Lincoln, Nebr., March 4, 1911.—The fervor and hilarity of the first evening's session in the House Wednesday night furnished entertainment for everybody. It was a busy session too, and witnessed the close of the introduction of bills. Some of the members kicked on meeting nights but it always seems to satisfy the taxpayers.

Speaking of bills, the Thirty-second session has done fairly well. With 702 bills in the House and within 4 of 400 in the Senate, it is obvious that there will be no time for idleness.

This calls to mind the time honored sifting committee, the committee which usually consists of two members from each congressional district, which takes the whole batch of bills on the general file and reports for passage only those which a baker's dozen of men concluded shall have their chance for life on the third reading. The Senate is already working on a sifting committee and it is probable that the House will get busy this week.

The public looks with some suspicion on the sifting committee because a great many meritorious measures are killed by that committee every session. It is to be hoped, however, that the better measures will get a show for their white alloy.

The committee on apportionments is getting busy and in a few days the fruits of their labors will be known. It is understood that this legislation will be highly satisfactory to the state, and thoroughly non-political.

RESIDENCE FOR SALE

The best bargain now offered in the city for a residence is that of a house on Laramie Ave. The lot is well improved and has a large barn on it. Can be purchased for $2,850. If it carries a long time loan of $1,600 at only seven per cent interest which can be transferred to purchaser. Balance can be paid partly in cash and partly in trade for unimproved city lots. The property rents readily for $30 per month at all times of the year. Owners will return to Iowa, by April 1, reason for offering such a bargain. F. M. BROOME, Opera House Block. 13-11-616
