Remarkable Success of these Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases

These doctors are considered by many former patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys, or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fall to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons", by doing away with the knife, with blood and all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

Deafness often has been cured in sixty days.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit this time may help you.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Office at the Drake hotel, Alliance, Saturday, May 20. Hours 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Below are names of a few of the many patients that have many good things to say for the doctors:

TRUCE AGREED TO

Armistice of Five Days is Now in Effect.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE TO FOLLOW.

Conditions Are Speeding Back and Forth Over the Wires for the Approval of Both Sides—End of War Believed in Sight.

El Paso, Tex., April 25.—An armistice of five days, beginning at noon Sunday and affecting the district between Juarez and Chihuahua and west of the latter, was made effective in an exchange of identical letters signed by General Francisco I. Madero, Jr., for the rebels, and General Juan Navarro, for the government.

The truce provides there shall be no movement of troops on either side during the next five days and that provisions and medicine may be brought to either camp from the United States without payment of duty.

It is noted that Ojinaga, where a small federal force is besieged, is not covered in the armistice, the insurgent activities in that district being largely independent. It is expected that in the event of the settlement of the rebellion in Chihuahua the situation in Ojinaga and other scattered places throughout the republic will receive attention.

Other Settlements Soon.

The moral effect of the cessation of hostilities in Chihuahua is regarded as certain to make settlements in other parts of the country simple.

It was known that a truce was agreeable to Madero and a telegram from Mexico City informed General Madero that General Navarro had been instructed by President Diaz to enter into the agreement.

General Madero was the first to sign the armistice. He placed it in the hands of Oscar Braniff and Toribio Equivel Ohregon, who rode on their mission to Juarez. General Navarro then signed an identical letter, with which the messengers returned to the rebel camp. Braniff is a wealthy citizen of Mexico City and an amateur sportsman and aviator. Ohregon is a leading lawyer there.

Boat Captain Discovers These Persons Inhabiting Unknown Island.

Neah Bay, Wash., April 24.—Just a year after the census man finished counting the noses of people of this state comes the news of the discovery on an isolated island off the coast of Washington of forty persons who were missed in the count, and, for that matter, were not known to exist. The discovery was made by the captain of the Admiral Sampson, which vessel was forced to put into a cove during the high wind of last week. As the vessel came to anchor in the natural harbor several men came down the beach, Robinson Crusoe fashion, and the story of the hermit colony was known. There are fifteen men, eleven women and sixteen children living on the unnamed isle. They make their living fishing and gardening. Produce and fish are taken to settlements along the coast and supplies procured. Thus far no person has known of their lonely abode.

DYNAMITE FOUND

Labor Leader Charged With Complicity in Times Explosion.

SECRETARY M'NAMARA HELD.

Police Guard Dynamite Found in Offices of International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association—Sergeant Guards Explosive.

Indianapolis, April 24.—Investigation that is expected to show, according to the police and William Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' association, that Indianapolis for two years has been the headquarters of a conspiracy that has resulted in eighty destructive explosions of dynamite, causing a property loss of $2,000,000 or more, continues after the sensational arrest of J. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The National Erectors' association, it is said, represents in its membership 80 per cent of the structural steel and iron contractors of the United States. Against them, in their efforts to operate "open shops," officials allege, explosions of dynamite under bridges, viaducts and buildings, from Springfield, Mass., to the Pacific coast, have been directed.

It was after the most serious of the explosions, that which wrecked the Los Angeles Times building, costing the lives of twenty-one persons, that the indictments were returned by a grand jury on which were arrested here J. J. McNamara, and in Detroit, J. B. Bryce, alleged to be James McNamara, brother of J. J. McNamara, and Orrie E. McManigle.

Dispute Over Seizure of Books.

Daybreak found the bridge and iron workers' officials and their counsel in controversy with William J. Burns and his operatives, the local police and Attorney Drew, for the National Erectors' association, as to whether a search warrant held by Burns vested in him power to seize the books of the association.

Superintendent of Police Hyland finally determined to remove the books to police headquarters, where, it was said, a transcript would be made of receipts and expenditures made by authority of Secretary McNamara in the last two years. Mr. Drew said these entries would be offered as evidence when the accused were brought to trial at Los Angeles.

The books were taken from a safe in the association's offices, after an expert had cut the locks. President Ryan and other officials of the international union said McNamara, who had been taken from the city immediately after his arrest, was the only official who knew the combination.

After five hours' work the locks yielded, and over protests of the officials of the union and their counsel, Detective Burns, Attorney Drew and Assistant District Attorney W. J. Ford of Los Angeles began an examination of the books, which continued for several hours, when it was decided to take the books to police headquarters.

Dynamite Found Among Books.

The custodian of the building in which are the offices of the iron workers' union told the police, the latter said, that McNamara had asked him for permission to build the compartment in the basement in which explosives were discovered. Here the police found, among old books and letter files of the association piled indiscriminately, about four bundles of dynamite.

A police sergeant guards the dynamite pending its removal. Business men whose offices are in the building or neighboring buildings made indignant protests to the police against the great quantity of explosives being permitted to remain in the business center of the city, but the police had difficulty in determining on a safe method of disposing of it.

The police made another trip to the barn, three-quarters of a mile west of Indianapolis, said to have been rented by J. J. McNamara of D. Jones, where seventeen sticks of dynamite and two quart cans of nitroglycerine were found, and questioned Jones, who is a structural iron worker. Jones denied having any knowledge of the explosives.

Taken West in Secret.

Los Angeles, April 25.—Upon separate trains and hidden away in locked Pullman compartments under the surveillance of armed guards, John J. McNamara, secretary of the Structural Iron Workers' association, and his two alleged confederates, James McNamara and Orrie McManigle, are being rushed to this city to answer to the charge of having dynamited the Times building, Oct. 1, 1910, and causing the death of twenty-one men.
