SPECIAL NOTICE TO HERALD CORRESPONDENTS

About the time the printing office was being moved we received a number of contributions which we did not publish for the simple reason that for a few weeks it was impossible to print but a small part of all we wished to publish. Since then some of these correspondents have ceased sending their items, which we very much regret. It is not probable that such omissions will occur again soon.

The Herald is now lined up to print the news better than ever before, and we want all we can get for publication. If you will compare this issue with any previous issue or with any other western Nebraska paper, we are sure you will find the comparison favorable to this paper right now.

Send in the news: the more the better now.

DESERVES PATRONAGE

W. A. Dunlap has been the victim of misfortune more than commonly falls to the lot of one man. Seven years ago last January his wife died, leaving him three children to care for. In the April following he was stricken with paralysis, from which he still suffers. He has lost the use of one arm and it is with difficulty that he walks. Notwithstanding these difficulties, he has gone about striving to make a living by honorable means for himself and those dependent upon him for support. He has a claim in the Malinda neighborhood farming, but of course not on an extensive scale.

For some time past he has engaged in the agency business with varying degrees of success. He takes subscriptions for the Christian Herald, and just now has a very attractive proposition to make subscribers to that paper, a beautiful flag, four by six feet, being furnished in connection with a subscription. He also sells extracts, spices, etc. Although incapacitated for ordinary work, Mr. Dunlap refuses to become an object of charity. He does not even ask for patronage on account of his affliction, but prefers facing the world on an equal footing with his able bodied fellowmen. We think it would be a noble act for any of the Herald readers who are subscribers to the paper for which he takes subscriptions, or who wish to subscribe for it, to give him the subscription. A postal card addressed to him at Malinda, Nebr., will receive prompt attention. Persons who have an opportunity to purchase goods of him would do a thousand times better to trade with him than to patronize some of the many fakers and grafters traveling thru the country.

MAIL ORDER BUYERS ARE STUNG

The unwavering support of the Methodists in the fight against the mail order evil may now be expected. The women of the First Methodist church are divided into circles, and these circles in turn have charge of the regular Friday afternoon tea-

Not long ago, one circle decided to have cookies on the bill of fare, and rather than make them, considered buying them. A woman who said she knew where she could send and get the cookies at a marvelous reduction in price was given the job. She sent for the cookies to an out of town house, supposing she was buying them at the rate of 40 cent a box. When the cookies came they were rated at 40 cents a dozen, the circle's expense for them was $14, and the proceeds of the tea amounted to but $7.00. That circle has not said a word, but the story got out. Sears-Robuck advertising agents, please copy.—Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

Should suffer in the face of evidence like this: Mrs. George G. Gadsby, Wyoming St., Alliance, Nebr., says: "I hold as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I previously recommended them in May, 1907. At that time I was troubled by severe pains in the small of my back. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and procuring a supply at Fred E. Holsten's Drug Store, I began their use. The contents of two boxes completely cured me. Since then I have had several slight recurrences of kidney trouble, usually in the spring, but Doan's Kidney Pills have always driven the complaint away."

Telephone Talks
No. 3

The Telephone Voice

Most people in using the telephone talk unnecessarily loud. Telephone diaphragms are constructed for ordinary modulations of voice, and to talk otherwise hinders transmission.

Speak in a distinct, slow and even tone, with your lips about one inch from the mouthpiece, talking directly into the transmitter.

In making a call, the figures of a telephone number should be separated, and one number given at a time. For example, for Black 140, say "Black one-four oh".

Transmission is often impeded by the use of extra mouthpieces, ear-cushions, and other unauthorized attachments to telephones. Every necessary appliance is supplied by the Company and subscribers must refrain from the use of other apparatus.
