Sequel to Hanging of Judge in Effigy at Seattle.

FIGHT IS OVER CAR TRANSFERS

Prominent Persons Alleged in Conspiracy to Incite People to Disobey Injunction of Court Secured by Railway Company.

Charged with conspiring to obstruct justice in a United States court, Oliver L. Erickson, member of the Seattle council; Leroy Sanders, editor of the Seattle Star; B. C. Canfield, publisher of the Star; John H. Perry, attorney for Canfield and Sanders; Deputy Sheriff Hugo Kelly, Paul K. Mohr, a labor leader; Thomas Horner, an attorney, and Will Atkinson, a real estate dealer, were arrested on warrants sworn to by District Attorney Todd.

Erickson, Mohr and Kelly refused bail and were sent to the county jail. Atkinson was released on $1,000 bail and the others on $5,000. Preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday.

The warrants were issued as the result of the hanging of an effigy of United States District Judge Cornelius Hanford and the utterance at a mass meeting of inflammatory speeches denouncing the court for having issued an injunction restraining the people of the Rainier valley from interfering with the Seattle, Benton and Southern railway, which is involved in a dispute with its patrons over fares and transfers.

BEATTIE JURY SEES AUTO

Panel Examines Closely Machine in Which Woman Was Shot to Death.

Considerable progress was made by the prosecution in the case of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on trial at Chesterfield, Va., for murder of his young wife, who was slain with a shotgun while motoring with her husband on the Midlothian turnpike last month.

The prosecution by its witnesses sought to prove that the blood near the machine marked the spot where the murdered woman fell from the automobile and that the blood could not trickled through the bottom of the car, as the defense claimed.

The jury, at the request of Prosecutor Wendenburg, examined the automobile carefully as it stood on the lawn outside of the court room. Several of the jurymen inspected the portion of the car underneath the seat, where the prosecution claims a grease pan would catch the dripping blood.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

At Many of Jobbing Centers Are Numerous Buyers.

Bradstreet's says: House trade at large centers has been improved to a considerable extent by the presence of numerous visiting buyers. Staple commodities, such as dry goods, wool, print cloths and clothing, show the effects of the better buying movement. Withal there is no disposition to lead up or to speculate as to the future. In fact, the tendency is to buy sparingly and to await developments. In the circumstances trade may be termed disappointing, but there is a tendency to look for better things now that congress has adjourned and that one disturbing feature—tariff legislation—is relegated to the more or less distant future. Cooler weather has improved retail trade to a moderate degree, but developments in this as in other lines are not satisfactory, and current clearance sales with marked reductions in prices evidently leave little room for profits. Crop reports show little significant change, while commodity prices do not display any material differences, the undertone of the latter on the whole being firm.

TWENTY-SIX DEAD

Lehigh Passenger Carrying Veterans Goes Into Ditch.

SIXTY PERSONS ARE INJURED.

Two Cars Roll Down Embankment Sixty Feet in Height—Two Engines Pulling Coaches in Effort to Make Speed—Defective Rails the Cause.

Twenty-six persons were killed and about sixty hurt when passenger train No. 4 on the Lehigh Valley railroad jumped the track at Manchester, N. Y. The cars rolled down an embankment sixty feet in height and it was in these cars that the greatest mortality occurred.

The wreck was due to defective rails. The engines and two forward coaches passed over the bad spot, which was about 100 feet east of the station, without accident, but when the diner struck the defective rails they spread and the last two coaches were thrown from the track and rolled down the embankment.

Several persons in the dining car were killed, but the largest number of dead were in the last two coaches.

Following is a partial list of the dead: Harry Becker, brakeman; Edgar Pangburn, Ellis Island, N. Y.; Charles Hicks, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. H. Zudek, Philadelphia; Mrs. C. C. Johnston, Philadelphia; George S. Guncie, Smithville, N. J.; E. Power, Thomas Murray, fireman; Colonel D. M. Belch, Los Angeles.

Veterans on Train

A number of veterans returning from the Grand Army encampment at Rochester were on the train. Most of the victims are old men and women.

The train was forty minutes late and was running fast, hauled by two powerful engines, in an effort to make up lost time. It does not stop in Manchester.

The third and fourth cars plunged over the side of the bridge to the level below. The third car struck flat on its side in the water, while the fourth landed on its front end. The remaining five cars left the rails, but did not go off the bridge. The concussion threw every passenger from the seats and scores received slight injuries. The cars in the creek were crowded and it was in these the casualties occurred.

Twenty-six Killed in Panic

Twenty-six persons were killed and more than sixty injured in a panic which followed the explosion of a moving picture film in the Cannonsburg (Pa.) opera house. Immediately after the flash of the film, some one shouted "Fire." There was a rush for the exit and in a moment a writhing, screaming mass of humanity was piled ten feet high in the narrow stairway leading to the entrance of the theater. Most of the dead were smothered.

STRIKE RESTS WITH MEN

Vice President Kruttschnitt Visits Omaha and Discusses Situation.

En route to San Francisco, Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president and director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman railway system, arrived in Omaha and an hour and a half later left for the west.

Asked if a strike on the Harriman system was expected, Mr. Kruttschnitt replied:

"That is something that is up to the men. We are not seeking, neither are we bringing on a strike. We have treated with our men, and they, or a large portion of them, are familiar with the conditions as they exist at the present time."

Asked if the Harriman system would recognize the proposed demands of the federated labor organizations, Mr. Kruttschnitt answered that he had nothing to say upon this subject.
