EASY FOR GOTCH

Russian Lion Topples Before
Charges of Iowa Champion.

HACK MAKES POOR SHOWING.

First Fall Is Won With a Reverse
Body Lock in Fourteen Minutes.
Second Fall Comes With Toe Hold in Five Minutes.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The wrestling championship of the world remains at Humboldt, Ia. It took Frank Gotch, who made that town famous, just 19 minutes and 50 seconds to topple over George Hackenschmidt, who thus twice failed to wrest the world's highest wrestling honors from the sturdy Iowan.

Gotch secured the first fall with a reverse body lock in 14 minutes and 18 1-3 seconds, the second fall required exactly 5 minutes and 32 1-5 seconds. According to the general comment, Hack entered the ring a beaten man.

He looked like a loser. Gotch was supremely confident and master of the situation at every stage. The second fall looked as if the "lion" from across the Atlantic simply quit. It was rather a pitiable spectacle.

Gotch held a levee just outside of the platform of the arena, while Mrs. Gotch held another one in the grandstand.

"What do I think of it? Well, it was rather easy, wasn't it? Frank really can't wrestle some, though I cannot say very much, as Frank is really the more important member of the family. Thank everybody for the nice way they stood by my husband."

Police were required to clear the aisles in order to afford a passage for the champion's wife.

Gotch said: "Honest, I didn't think it would be so easy. I expected to win, but not with the ease with which it was accomplished. I had not been in the ring three minutes when I knew that Hackenschmidt was even less to be feared than he was three years ago."

"I have nothing to say," the defeated Russian grunted.

Gotch made his way to his dressing room with the assistance of his broad shoulders and a squad of police. He waded through the crowd like a big Atlantic liner going through a fleet of tug.

In his dressing room Hackenschmidt broke down and cried and with the floodgate of his tears open, his tongue was loosened and he said:

"I was in no condition to wrestle. Two weeks ago I wrenched my left leg. My trainers told me I could go in without injuring the member. But we had scarcely got to work when Gotch began to pull and twist my left leg. I realized that I was in no condition to continue the match. I am no quitter. Neither do I desire to charge that I was not treated squarely. My defeat is due entirely to the injury. I feel deeper than words can tell the loss of this match; however, I did my best. No man could have done more."

Abe Arends, as soon as he could make his way to the press stand, told the reporters that when Gotch secured the toe lock Hackenschmidt cried:

"Let go; it's hurting," and fell flat, bleeding at the mouth.

Tilley, proprietor of the Dakota Hide and Fur company at Aberdeen, has been arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Byron McVeigh on a charge of using the mails to defraud, and upon examination before William Wallace, United States commissioner, he was held to await the action of the federal court.

Tilley is accused of advertising in a number of farm papers in South Dakota and Montana that he would pay the highest market prices for furs and hides and that he would tan them into robes and harness leather, but the government claims he never manufactured the goods received from the advertisements, but instead converted them to his own use without paying the persons who shipped them to him.

Ending a legal contest of forty-five years' standing over the payment of $1,500,000 in bonds for a railroad which was never constructed, State Auditor Gordon registered and validated $750,000 bonds for Macon county, Missouri.

These securities represent a settlement between the county and Arthur Hudekoper of Pennsylvania, who held bonds issued in the 60s to build the railroad which proved a paantom. Judgment after judgment was obtained against the county, which, however, contrived never to have available revenue to be seized. The case finally reached the United States court of appeals, where the issue now is pending.

Premier Caillaux discussed at Paris with the minister of commerce and the minister of agriculture, M. Pams, measures which are to make lower prices of food possible in France. According to King's story, the stranger, who visited him at his farm in Nebraska, traded him fifty-five acres of land near Linn Creek, Mo.
