Death of Bartlett Richards

Untimely Demise of Well Known and Popular Capitalist and Stockman

SYMPATHY FOR THE BEREAVED

A gloom of sadness was thrown over northwestern Nebraska the first of this week by the news that Bartlett Richards had died at Hastings on Monday morning. He was one of the best known financiers and businessmen in the state of Nebraska.

On June 29th he underwent a surgical operation for gallstones and other complications at the Mayo Bros. hospital in Rochester, Minn. He returned to Hastings August 11th, much improved in health, and it was thought that he would soon fully recover. Last Friday morning he complained of feeling worse and finally his condition was such that a physician, Dr. Boghtrol, was called. Before Saturday evening he was taken to the Nebraska Sanitarium at Hastings, and another operation was performed with hopes of saving his life, but all to no avail.

The Herald voices the sentiment of northwestern Nebraska in saying that Mr. Richards was one of the most highly honored men who ever engaged in business in this country. Most of our readers knew something of his difficulties in connection with government land. He and three other prominent cattlemen were technically convicted of violating the federal law, although they were acting within their rights according to some of the best legal talent of the nation. That the case against them was strained is indicated by the fact that the circuit court of appeals were divided in their opinion in this case, the dissenting opinion indicating how nearly they came to being cleared of the charges that were brought against them. Under this conviction he and the other three men were sentenced to serve time in jail at Hastings, Nebraska, which place he entered last October, and would have completed his time there on the 29th of this month had he lived.

After an appeal to the supreme court had failed to secure a reversal of the verdict of the lower court, an effort was made to secure a pardon from the president of the United States. In the opinion of this paper the pardon for Mr. Richards and the other three men ought to have been granted and we believe that with the overwhelming demand there was for such action from this part of the west, it would have been granted had not political exigencies at that particular time made it seem impolitic to grant the pardon. Newspapers of the yellow journal variety found in their conviction material for sensational stories. Also papers knowing little or nothing about the particulars in the matter made capital of their conviction in such a way that to have granted them executive clemency might possibly have been a political detriment to the one exercising his authority in their behalf.

Notwithstanding all this, The Herald wishes to reiterate what we have said in one or more previous papers that these men deserved a better fate than what they received. We do not know of an equal number of men who have done more for the development of northwestern Nebraska. Warm hearted and true to their friends, liberal, straightforward and just in their dealings with all, including the homesteaders whom they frequently befriended and assisted, although large cattlemen were supposed to not usually be friendly to homesteaders, they were universally honored by those who were acquainted with them.

Bartlett Richards was a brother of Ex-Governor Richards of Wyoming and an uncle of J. DeForrest Richards, vice president of the Omaha National bank. His wife who was in California was telegraphed when his condition became serious, and immediately started for Nebraska, but too late to reach Mr. Richards before he died. A telegram intercepted her on the way, and overwhelmed with grief she returned to Coronado, Cal., to await the arrival of the remains sent there for interment. On the same train with the honored dead were Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Richards of Denver, he a brother of the deceased; Mrs. W. G. Comstock; J. DeForrest Richards of Omaha and Mrs. Stocks Millar of Denver, brother and sister.

To the bereaved widow, the ten-year-old daughter, the twelve and fourteen year old sons, and to all other sorrowing relatives, The Herald wishes to carry a message of sincere condolence, not only for itself, but in behalf of all the people of this country. Their loved one who has departed was universally honored and respected wherever known. He will be greatly missed, not only by his business associates, but by all with whom he was acquainted, who will always remember him with greatest honor and respect.

BOY SCOUTS OUTING

The Boy Scouts returned last Thursday evening after a most enjoyable outing on the Niobrara. The outdoor life developed prodigious appetites in all the campers. The following list will prove this. This is what was consumed on that 4 days' trip:

- 9 loaves of bread.
- 1 batch of biscuit.
- About one-half bushel of potatoes.
- 1 peck of apples.
- 3 dozen cookies.
- 5 dozen eggs.
- 5 cans condensed milk.
- 2 pounds butter.
- 1 pound sugar.
- 1/2 pound coffee.
- 6 quarts sweet milk.
- Preserves, etc.

And still the Scouts were hungry. I asked one boy if he had gotten enough to eat yet. He said that he ate so much that he couldn't try on a new suit of clothes that his parents had purchased for him. Everyone had a good time. We are looking forward to a longer trip next summer.

George Darling has purchased the F. W. Harris residence, 611 Laramie Ave., where he and Mrs. Darling will begin housekeeping soon. This is a very pretty place and conveniently located, and will make them a comfortable home.

A social event of unusual interest and enjoyment to those present occurred at the home of Mrs. F. E. Holsten last Friday afternoon, when she entertained a large number of her friends at 500.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Joy of Sheridan county have the sympathy of their many friends in western Nebraska in their bereavement caused by the death of their infant daughter, Zona Gale, which occurred last Sunday. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Washburn of Lakeside, interment being in Greenwood cemetery.

EYES OF NATION ARE ON NEBRASKA

State Will Get Much Favorable Notice During Fall Months.

OMAHA IS IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Metropolis Will Entertain More Than 100,000 Visitors—Conventions Will Bring Men of National Prominence to Commonwealth.

The nation's eyes will be turned toward Nebraska during the fall months and the state will come in for more favorable notice during October, November and December than ever before. For no less than four national conventions will hold their annual meetings in Omaha, the metropolis of the west.

Men of national reputation will attend these conventions, and the citizens of the state will be privileged to hear the words of wisdom which will roll from the lips of the men who direct the destinies of the United States.

Chief among the conventions is the Nebraska State Teachers' association, which will bring, according to conservative estimates, not less than 6,000 teachers into Omaha for three days on the 8th, 9th and 10th of November. Miss Edith Lathrop of Clay Center, president of the association, is arranging a program, which in itself will be of such magnitude that every teacher will want to attend the session. For the convenience and entertainment of the teachers, the Commercial club of Omaha, through its publicity bureau, is arranging for visits to the South Omaha Stock Yards and the Union Pacific shops. A bureau of reservation for rooms has also been opened by the Young Men's Christian association where teachers can secure accommodations previous to the convention.

When the teachers visit Omaha, the city will have on its best bib and tucker, for Omaha would rather make good with Nebraskans than with any other people in the world.

The Grain Dealers' National association will hold its annual meeting on Oct. 9, 10 and 11. More than six hundred grain men from all over the United States will get together. Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota will be represented to the limit. Efforts are being made to get Governor or Harmon of Ohio to deliver the annual address. The Omaha Grain exchange is arranging for a big banquet and a theater party as the entertainment features.

The American Prison association will bring more than 1,500 visitors west for their first trip as an association. They will come on the 15th of October and remain for five days. On Tuesday night, Oct. 17, George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States, will deliver an address. On Monday night, Bishop George Beecher of Kearney will speak on "Prison Reform in Nebraska," while on Sunday in F. S. Loveland of Topeka, Kan., will preach the annual sermon.

In December the National Wool Growers' association will hold its annual meeting. In connection with the convention it is proposed to hold a sheep show, which will bring all the breeders from the east to Nebraska. More than 2,000 sheepmen will participate in the meeting.

All told, more than 100,000 people will visit Omaha in the next three months. The land show, the Ak-Sar-Ben and the conventions are the magnets which are turning all people to Nebraska and Omaha.

George Thomas went to Alliance Sunday, returning Monday.

Charley Bell returned from Alliance Sunday.

J. T. Neuton shipped a car of cattle to L. E. Roberts Saturday night.

John Cameron shipped two loads of sheep one day last week and reported a good market.

A. B. Stucky and hay crew returned to the home valley. About ten days' work here will end their hay season. They have put up the hay in the Thwart valley northeast of Hyannis.

George Howell returned to Bingham looking as frisky as ever. We hope he will stay for the winter.

Felix Becker, from north of Hyannis, spent Sunday with friends at Bingham.

Merril Hughy, of Mt. Vernon, Ia., well known to the Bingham people, passed through on 43 Saturday on his way to California. He stopped off at Alliance to visit friends for a few days.

There was a friendly gathering at the home of Grandma Rentfro last Sunday. Among those present were Miss Case, Misses Ida, Lulu and Pearl Coleson, Mr. Case, John Skipper, Charley Gilbough and Al Rentfro.

The party given at the home of Wm. Welch Saturday evening was well enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Wm. Breckner will return to the ranch from Alliance on Friday. Mrs. J. Donnelly will accompany her and visit for a few days.

Joe Selley is sowing his fall wheat, the first ever tried in this locality. We hope it will be a success.

Ira Hart, the Bingham umpire, will teach the Farell school.

The Bingham ball team has been inactive throughout hay season, but will play Saturday the 9th.

Clinton Guy is in Omaha in search of work, which he reports scarce.

Wm. Breckner had a colt cut an artery last Monday, and several stitches were necessary to stop the flow of blood. His son, George did the surgical work. He has done work of this nature before.

The Co Operative wants all your produce.
