OBSERVING CHRISTMAS.

How One Family Made the Holiday Pleasant and Profitable.

IN many childless homes in this country no preparations are being made to observe Christmas with its old fashioned customs and traditions. But in Germany, the historic home of the Christmas tree and the source of many current Christmas customs and devices, in no home, from palace to hovel, however old or poor, are the members without their Christmas tree at Yuletide. Where there are no children it is a beautiful sight to see gray haired old men and women, with perhaps their married sons and daughters and grandchildren, standing around, greeting with undisguised delight their well laden fir tree.
It is an essential part of their Christmas and would not be Christmas without it.

In a refined American home in a small city a few years ago much enjoyment was derived from a Christmas celebrated in childish style by a family of adults. During the preceding year a son-in-law and a daughter-in-law had been added to the family group, and the other members were a father, a mother, a dear old maiden nunt, the two married children, two unmarried grownup sons and their one sister. A real Christmas tree was purchased, and the women folk trimmed it with popcorn, tinsel, candles and all the rest of the paraphernalia required for a genuine old fashioned Christmas tree.

On Christmas morning the household assembled, and, catching the infection of the occasion, all sat on the floor around the tree to receive their presents from a bona fide Santa Claus.
Among the first packages distributed were some made to recall funny happenings of the year just passed, which had been selected in order to create merriment. Screams of laughter greeted the opening of a package labeled with the bride's name, which was found to contain a large leather medal inscribed with the following: "For patience in making apple jelly." As a novice in the culinary department she had struggled time and again with the task of making this delectable dish.
To her husband went a small slide trombone, because in his boyhood days he had aspirations toward learning to play that instrument, practicing on a large one of the car spitting type.

To the maiden nunt, an enthusiastic admirer of Shakespeare and a member of several clubs devoted to "readings," a plaster of Paris bust of Wille was awarded. One of the boys had taken a pleasure trip south a few months before, accompanied by a valuable camera. He had left it on the steamboat dock when he embarked and never recovered it. To him was given a photograph of a beautiful camera cut from an advertisement page of a popular magazine. To the father, a minister of the gospel and high up in ecclesiastical circles, a toy watch—just a gentle reminder of the length of his sermons. The mother's early days had been spent on a farm. Occasionally she had been known to grow homesick for a familiar sight of something resembling farm life, and she had recently purchased a few chickens, which she housed in the extreme end of the back yard, much to the disgust of the daughter of the house. To her was given a toy rooster with a real "crow." The son-in-law received a dime bank, to indicate that his responsibilities and increased, and the other and younger brother rose colored glasses, to remind him of his visionary ideas. To the single sister who had been "out" several seasons a ring with a solitaire stone of real glass was given. After these had been distributed the handsome and real gifts of the day were exchanged, and it was a jolly, happy crowd which filed into the dining room to enjoy the feast which had been in course of preparation.

During the following year the father departed this life, followed within a short space of time by the married son. The surviving members have the memory of that delightful Christmas when they were all together.

On Christmas Morn,
They faced across the lonely plains,
They dared the desert way, Above them moved the starry trains That rest not night or day, One star from out the splendor shone,
A rift of heaven's own light, In fearless faith they followed on,
Their eager faces bright.

Three kings were they of great renown,
And from the east afar Until it stood o'er Bethlehem town They journeyed by the star It stood above a cattle shed,
And there its light grew dim, To heaven's own Child the star had led Its glory paled for him.

Immanuel! A little Child That very day newborn,
They knelt before the undefiled That earliest Christmas morn, Each head was bent to give him praise, Their incense, gold and myrrh They offered him in glad amaze Each humble worshiper.

What gifts have we for Christ today?
We, too, have seen the star,
And we have found the happy way To Bethlehem afar,
Our gold, our myrrh, our incense sweet, Shall we not hither bring?
Ah, let us haste to kiss his feet,
The little Christ, our King!
—Margaret E. Sangster.

Salutation,
O night, O star, O land afar, In sweet surprise of glory Let shepherd train and angel strain Sing new your Christmas story!

O dawn, O gift, O heaven arift, O Mary, mystic mother Of newborn Christ, keep ye my trust With every human brother!

O door flung wide, O full floodtide Of light and kindness meeting, Unto my friend this day outsend A joyous Christmas greeting!
