B. L. Gaither of Lincoln arrived in Alliance last Friday for a day's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Charlott. Mr. Charlott, who works in the C. B. & Q. boiler shop, is a nephew of Mr. Gaither. Mr. Gaither is now in mercantile business in Lincoln, but for many years was an itinerant Methodist preacher in southwestern Nebraska.

Eastern Nebraska has been thoroughly soaked with beneficial rain; the banks have an abnormal supply of money on hand and the demand for horses of our sort is very keen. These things, coupled with the wide and favorable acquaintance of the Wilson-Lewis-Wright Company, promise a horse sale on the 27th and 28th of June of unqualified success. 28-11-1323

Feed and Sale Barn

Have opened to the public my barn for feed and sale, and invite all my friends to call when in Alliance. 28-11-1333 SIMON SPRY.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

IN MEMORIAM

Tribute of an Old Time Friend to the Memory of Mrs. Fannie G. Parker Strupper

The many friends of Mrs. R. T. Watson will be pleased to note the following beautiful tribute to a life long friend, written from Denver, Colo., and published in the Vinton Eagle, Vinton, Iowa:

Sante Fe Drive, Denver, Colorado, May 15, 1912.—Dear Murphy:—I am assuming the sad duty to chronicle the demise of another good former Benton county pioneer, mother and social favorite.

At 4 p. m., May 14, 1912, the Riverside crematory, in this city, consumed the mortal remains of Mrs. Fannie G. Parker Strupper, of Alliance, Nebraska.

For twelve long weeks she had suffered from inflammatory rheumatism and although the skill of physicians and the best care obtainable had conquered the disease there was not sufficient strength left to enable her to rally and "inanition" was given as the immediate cause of death. Long acquaintance with the deceased, dating as far back as the '50's when she became the wife of Mr. M. W. Parker in her native state of Massachusetts, I am able, with many others yet living, to recall the many good qualities and social ties which bound Mrs. Parker's noble character to a large circle of friends. It was ever a pleasant treat to many, always the best, to visit her and her happy family at their welcome country home near social old Vinton.

Almost constantly her three loving daughters ministered to her every want, and her graceful appreciation was a great solace to them during the last hours of loving mother. Tears are excusable in parting with such noble characters whose acquaintance had bound so many together in social love and esteem during the trial and the pleasantries incident to the history of Vinton and vicinity, and often we are sadly reminded: "Oh, how fast the friends are falling," and also be mindful that nature has decreed that we must all, sooner or later, drop before the Reaper in the grand harvest.

Mrs. Parker was the last of her family to go and is survived in her 81st year by four children, viz: Fanny Phares, Bridgeport, Nebr.; Jennie P. Watson, Spade, Nebr.; May P. Watson, Alliance, Nebr.; George M. Parker, Puyallup, Wash. And thus the book closes bearing the history of a noble character in whose heart the low and groveling never entered and the pure in heart are swallowed in death and are at rest.

Respectfully,
 H. N. PALMER.

Beginning June 22d, we shall give Gold Bond Trading Stamps with Every Purchase

This is a highly important announcement. Read carefully through the following and you will appreciate what it means to you.

On June 22d we shall start to give Gold Bond Trading Stamps with every purchase made of us. We studied the situation thoroughly before deciding upon this step, and we came to the following conclusions:

- (1) The patrons of a store who pay cash for their purchases deserve a discount on the money they spend. The merchant receives a slight discount from the wholesalers when HE pays cash, and it is only just that his patrons should in turn receive the same favor.
- (2) It is essentially wrong to give the stamps furnished by a trading stamp company—no matter how highly capitalized it may be. The stamp companies each year absorb enormous profits which should have gone to the consumer. We have obviated this feature of stamps by having engraved OUR OWN TRADING STAMPS which we ourselves will redeem either for merchandise or for handsome premiums.

So, beginning on June 22d, we shall issue our own trading stamps—one with each 10c purchase. These stamps cost you absolutely nothing but the time spent in pasting them in your stamp book. We give them freely, gladly, with every cash purchase because we believe the cash purchaser is entitled to a discount on his payment; and we could not devise a better or more uniform discounting method than is provided by our trading stamps.

Make all your purchases at the HORACE BOGUE STORE, and save Gold Bond trading stamps. We ourselves stand back of every stamp we issue, guaranteeing its redemption when properly presented. Filled books may be redeemed for any merchandise in our entire store. ASK ABOUT THEM

Start Saturday collecting Gold Bond Trading Stamps. Make ALL your purchases at the Horace Bogue Store. Our prices are always the very lowest obtainable in Alliance, and they will remain the lowest despite the added savings you'll make in the form of Gold Bond Trading Stamps.

Saturday, June 22d Opening Day for Gold Bond Trading Stamps

To give everyone a good start we will give Double Stamps all day Saturday and Monday. That is, two 10c stamps with every 10c purchase.
