Little Change in Sheep and Lambs. Supply Large Enough to Make a Market—Trade a Little Slow All Morning.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, July 3.—Only a few head of cattle arrived today, about 600 head. There was a firm tone to beef, selling a shade stronger than Tuesday. Cows and heifers were also a little stronger than Tuesday. Veal calves were quotably steady, but there was a weak tone to the market for bulls, stags, etc. There was a better outlet at firmer prices for the few stock cattle that were offered.

About 14,000 head of hogs arrived today and the market was a little lower. The bulk sold at $7.15@7.25, with right good butcher weights as high as $7.30, identically with Tuesday.

W. W. Holbrook of Omaha, an old time acquaintance of the editor, was in Alliance last week doing work as a colporteur for the American Bible society. He informed us that the total number of bibles put out annually by the A. B. S. runs into the millions of copies, four millions in round numbers, which if we remember correctly is about one-third of the total number printed in the English language by all publishing houses.

Speaking about live stock transactions, your Uncle Jim Feagins has been making some extensive deals lately, which is no new thing for him. Recently he had 1,700 head of two year old steers here from the farm of Mrs. Kutz, the cattle queen, Kingsville, Texas. He was taking them to Moorcroft, Wyo. He also bought a bunch of Utah cattle within the last few weeks, besides other deals. We should have mentioned this business sooner, but did not have as much information as we wished in regard to the details.
