LOOK AT YOUR DATE

Again The Herald wishes to remind subscribers to look at the dates stamped on their papers, or the wrappers, in connection with their names. The date on each paper or wrapper indicates the time to which the subscription has been paid. The date is indicated by giving the number of the month, the day of the month, and the last two figures of the year. For instance, 12-13-11, means that the subscription has been paid to December 13, 1911, and that months in arrears on his subscription. 4-10-13 would mean that the subscriber is paid ahead to April 10, 1913. 8-8-12 would mean August 8, 1912, and shows that the time for which paid expires today.

Several years ago. or, in other words, when silo building was in its infancy, a good many square silos were constructed, but they were soon abandoned for several reasons. mainly because it was impossible to prevent leaking at the sides, and second, the silage spoiled in the corners. The next step of advancement was to board up the corners, which made the silo more of a round structure, and the latest development has been the round silo, which is considered far superior to the square type of con-will note that there is a plan for a silo. Alliance Herald. This is a concrete silo, which is simflar to many that are being built in various sections of the corn belt. GO When properly constructed, the concrete silo is more permanent than the wooden silos, and preserves the silage equally as well as the other types. The first cost may be a little bit more. but the permanency offsets this objection. There is another type of silo which is being built very extensively throughout Iowa, which is known as the Iowa silo, and is built of hollow tile or hollow building blocks.
