PROMINENT FAMILY WILL LEAVE ALLIANCE

S. K. Warrick will Remove to Scottsbluff on Account of Interests in North Platte Valley

WILL BE MISSED IN ALLIANCE

We regret to announce this week that Alliance will soon lose one of its prominent and most highly respected families. S. K. Warrick's banking and farming interests in the North Platte valley have grown to such proportions that they demand a large part of his time. He has decided that he can perform his work as cashier of the First National Bank at Alliance and attend to his valley interests to better advantage from Scottsbluff than from Alliance, consequently he will remove to that city in the near future. There are not many readers of The Herald who are not well aware of the prominent position held by Mr. Warrick in business and philan-

Sunday school of western Nebraska in membership, and without doubt stands in the front rank of all Nebraska Sunday schools in point of effectiveness.

This little writeup would be far from complete if we failed to mention the active part his estimable wife has taken in the affairs that have engaged the attention of the best women of the city. Not less industriously, and with scarcely less diversity, Mrs. Warrick has engaged in work for the betterment of the community and the good of humanity. First of all, her attention and best efforts have been directed to her own family; and how well she succeeds in her home life is attested by the good behavior of their children. But Mrs. Warrick finds time to be helpful outside of the family circle. In religious work she has, besides assisting in the various departments of the local church work, done excellent service for more than a year past as secretary of the Box Butte County Sunday School Association. She has rendered valuable assistance to the Alliance Public Library and has been one of the foremost in the good services of the Alliance Woman's Club. In private benevolences and in many other ways Mrs. Warrick has endeared herself to the people of Alliance. In order to answer many inquiries, Mr. Warrick hands us the following notice with the request that it be published in The Herald:

TO THE PUBLIC:

My banking and farming interests in the North Platte valley in and near Scottsbluff and Minatare are constantly increasing and demand more of my time and attention.

We have therefore decided to remove to Scottsbluff in the near future.

I shall continue as Cashier and Director of the First National Bank of this city and assist the other officers in caring for your business.

Thanking you for the many courtesies extended to me during the past eight years, I remain, Sincerely yours,

S. K. WARRICK.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Instructions Given Delegates to the State Convention

The Alliance W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting Thursday, September 12, at the home of Mrs. L. S. Campbell. There was no program but many different plans of work were discussed. It is expected to make the coming year the very best in the history of the Alliance Union.

The delegates were instructed concerning action to be taken at the state convention upon subjects coming up for discussion. The state convention will be held at Central City, Sept. 24-27. Box Butte county will have seven representatives at that meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Union will be omitted. All members make note of the meeting to be held the second Thursday in October. MRS. J. J. VANCE, Press Supt.

ARTISTIC SHOW WINDOW

The show window of Harper's Ladies' Toggery always presents a neat appearance but has been particularly attractive for a week or more past. A large plate glass mirror is in the center of a hand painted background with palms on each side. The effect is especially appropriate for this season.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Progressive Statesmen Who Stand for Rights of the People

GOOD PROSPECT OF VICTORY

CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT

Leaving out the name of W. J. Bryan, who was not an avowed candidate before the Baltimore convention, Woodrow Wilson was our first choice for the democratic presidential nomination; also fearing that a reactionary candidate would carry the preferential vote of the state, by a plurality, and believing that Champ Clark would receive a larger vote in Nebraska than Wilson, we advised readers of The Herald to vote for Clark in the primary in order to not divide the progressive vote of the party so nearly even as to permit the reactionaries to win. We love Wilson for the enemies he has made. We prefer him because he has the courage of his convictions. He has ability and integrity. The lisp for office has not caused him to stultify himself by compromising principles in order to keep down opposition and gain votes. Plainly he would rather be right than president. He has opposed corruption in his own party when his opposition to it seemed to mean his own defeat. His worst enemies are in the democratic ranks, as is shown by the fight which is being made against him in his home state. If he shall be defeated, which does not now seem probable, his defeat will come thru the treachery of men calling themselves democrats. Thousands of progressive republicans and independents will vote for him, as they did for Bryan four years ago; the only possible way he can be defeated will be thru betrayal by reactionary democrats on election day, as Bryan was defeated four years ago. We wish to warn progressive voters against over confidence, and urge them to go to the polls on election day and vote for Woodrow Wilson for president of the United States.

VICE PRESIDENT

Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana is a man well qualified for the office of vice president. In his home state he is immensely popular and is considered of presidential calibre. His sympathies are with the common people, and with them he is popular. His candidacy adds strength to the ticket in his part of the United States. There is little doubt that he will be elected vice president with Governor Wilson as president.

UNITED STATES SENATOR

There have been a number of governors of this state who by their friends were called "Nebraska's best governor". With due respect to others who have occupied the office with credit to themselves and to the good of the commonwealth, we incur no danger of contradiction by saying at least that Ashton C. Shallenberger was one of the best of Nebraska's best governors. If ever a governor was entitled to a re-nomination by his party, he was entitled to it. Because he dared stand for the right, the enemies of good government backed the candidacy of a man whose desire for notoriety outweighed his sense of fairness, if he had any, and by taking advantage of the "open primary" which was in vogue two years ago, defeated Governor Shallenberger for re-nomination. Although it was brought about by republican votes, the reproach for his defeat in the primaries fell unjustly upon the democrats of the state, a large majority of whom voted for his re-nomination. It was during this campaign that he made use of the statement which at once met with popular approval, "Decency and democracy have joined hands in Nebraska." While disappointed because of not having an opportunity to help elect him to the governorship again, we are pleased for the opportunity to say something thru The Herald in favor of his candidacy for the United States senate, to which he will without doubt be elected. He is not as profuse in his professions of loyalty to the people's cause as are some other progressives, but his record as congressman and governor shows that at those times when his official actions count he can be depended upon to stand for decency and democracy.

CONGRESSMAN, SIXTH DISTRICT

It is the duty of the editor of every progressive newspaper in the Sixth Nebraska congressional district to give particular attention to the candidacy of W. J. Taylor, democratic and people's independent nominee for congress to succeed Congressman M. P. Kinkaid. In saying what we do in regard to the candidates for congress from this district we do so without the least feeling of animosity towards Mr. Kinkaid, except the feeling of disgust which we naturally have for any man in public life, whether republican or democrat, who permits himself to become the tool of the special interests, the privileged class, who thrive at the expenses of the people as a whole. Mr. Kinkaid has favored some measures in the interests of his constituency, where those measures were not opposed by men of the class of Senator Guggenheim, Joe Cannon, J. Pierpont Morgan, Reed Smoot and Wm. Howard Taft. It is inconceivable that any congressman would not favor some things that were for the interests of his constituents, but the people of this district need a representative in congress who will work for their interests locally, without more than counteracting all his good work by doing the bidding of the predatory interests, against which there is now such popular protest that even the most pronounced reactionaries are compelled to make some pretense as progressives in order to continue their hold upon public affairs. Admitting that Congressman Kinkaid has favored some wholesome measures, he is probably the most over-rated congressman in the United States today. We hope our friends will bear with us in a frank expression of our opinion, which we know is our duty to express thru The Herald before election. There is a difference between a mere politician and a statesman in the true sense. A study of Mr. Kinkaid's record will show to an unprejudiced mind that he is a politician—shrewd as such, cunning, crafty—but lacking in the qualifications that make up the statesman. He has a great faculty for setting before the voters of his district what he has done in their interest, or rather what he has credit for doing; and in little he is favored by circumstances. In published statements sent out to home-steaders he speaks of "the law bearing my name", meaning the so-called Kinkaid homestead law; but he has not the fine sense of honor to give credit for that law where it belongs, which is not to him by any means, although he was smooth enough as a politician to get his name tacked onto it. On the other hand, W. J. Taylor is a statesman in the truest sense, a man of the Abraham Lincoln stamp. He is interested in the rights and welfare of the common people, who have confidence in him when once they become acquainted with him. This is shown by the overwhelming majorities which he receives in his home county and other localities where best known; but he is devoid of the craftiness and tricks of the professional politician, and thus is placed at a great disadvantage in running for congress in the "Big Sixth" against a man whose life business has been edging himself into office. There ought to be a change in congressman in this district. We have not the slightest doubt that if the voters of the district were acquainted with the two candidates and familiar with their records, they would elect W. J. Taylor by a big majority.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Next week we will have something to say in regard to other candidates.

POTATO PRICES

The Herald has been making inquiries to ascertain what the probable price of potatoes will be within the next few months. We learn that many localities that were short last year and had to be supplied from outside have grown a crop this year large enough for home consumption, with the exception of Wisconsin. The crop there is not nearly as heavy as last year. The condition of potatoes generally just now is such that a good many of inferior quality are being thrown on the market. Potatoes have not ripened as well as usual. As a consequence the price is down now. Our opinion is that farmers who have good, well matured potatoes to market will find that it will pay them to hold them a little while yet. Still there is no prospect that potatoes will be as high the coming winter and spring as they were last winter and spring.

U. S. ATTORNEY HERE

Prominent Wyoming Attorney Stops in Alliance Between Trains

H. S. Ridgley, United States Attorney at Cheyenne, Wyoming, stopped for a short visit with Lloyd C. Thomas at The Herald office Wednesday while enroute to Cody, Wyo. The government has been doing a large amount of construction work at and near Cody and his trip is connected with this.

A WINNING HORSE

George Mollring's racing horse, The Major, sired by the Prince of India, continues to win first money at nearly every race entered. At Fremont he won second out of seventeen recently and at West Point, first out of twelve.

NEW PHONE LINE

Manager Tom Beeson of the Nebraska Telephone Company has returned from a trip to Pine Bluffs, Wyoming. His company is running a copper metallic line from Sidney to Pine Bluffs, where connection is made with the copper metallic line of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company from Cheyenne. If present plans are carried out, it will not be long until Alliance subscribers can talk to Salt, Lake City and other western points.

Pure Home Rendered Lard

Pure lard at the Palace Meat Market. All sized packs and cans at 10 cents per pound. EVERY POUND IS GUARANTEED. Why do you pay one-third more when you can get better lard at less? We are going to introduce our lard and this is the way we do it for a short time. This price is below cost to us, but will make us money in the long run, when our lard becomes known. This favors our customers and will make us money, too.

HON. RICHARD L. METCALFE

ELOQUENT ADDRESS BY RICHARD L. METCALFE

Takes Place of Ex-Governor Shallenberger, Who Was Unable to Be in Alliance Tonight

A FAIR DISCUSSION OF ISSUES

By delaying publication of this issue of The Herald until after the meeting at the opera house this (Thursday) evening, we are able to give a brief account of the same. Owing to the inability of ex-Governor Shallenberger to be present, Hon. Richard L. Metcalfe came by his request to make the address.

Judge W. S. Ridgley, chairman of the county central committee, presided. Music was furnished by the Alliance Concert Band. Hon. H. F. Wassund, Sr., of Rushville, democratic candidate for state representative, was first introduced and made a few appropriate remarks, after which Mr. Metcalfe delighted his audience with an address that was remarkable in several respects. It is not possible to give a synopsis of this address in this issue, but will try and do so next week.
