AK-SAR-BEN 1912 FESTIVITIES TO SURPASS ALL PREVIOUS EVENTS

Omaha Prepares Ten Days of Entertainment Activity for Throongs During Fall Festival Sept. 25 to Oct. 5.

FRONTIER DAY SHOW IS SPECIAL ATTRACTION

THAT his thousands of loyal subjects, who inhabit every part of the great commonwealth of Nebraska, may enjoy to the fullest extent the mysteries of the realm of Ak-Sar-Ben, King Samson, ruler of the kingdom, has planned and arranged for a series of fall festivities which will surpass even the most gorgeous of any of the eighteen years of his successful reign.

These festivities will be held in those which characterize Ak-Sar-Ben in its every detail.

Nebraska Proud of Ak-Sar-Ben.

The people of Nebraska, and that includes the people of Omaha, are justly proud of the achievements of Ak-Sar-Ben—proud because Ak-Sar-Ben has brought undying fame to the state that its people all love so well. Is it any wonder that the good people of Nebraska congregate in Omaha for

THE SULTAN AND ATTENDANTS.

Omaha, metropolis of the great state and the seat of kingdom, beginning on Sept. 25 and ending on Oct. 5, providing ten full days of activity, featured by their uniqueness, and which will furnish entertainment for his faithful followers, who will gather from all parts of Nebraska, whence Ak-Sar-Ben gets its now famous name.

Nebraska reversed spells Ak-Sar-Ben. Seek as far as you will and that is the only thing you will find backward in connection with this great organization, conceived and carried out by the business men of Omaha for the purpose of putting the great state of Nebraska to the front that it may take its rightful place among the commonwealths of the Union.

In the comparatively short though phenomenal career of Ak-Sar-Ben and its directors, many features, known for their originality, have been offered, but none that will compare with the reign of King Samson, the Eighteenth, whose year has been capped by the largest membership in the history of the organization.

Attendance Has Been General.

In the six months of preliminary planning practically every city in the the fall festivities, paying tribute to an organization which knows but one thing—Nebraska first, last and all the time.

Many mythical stories have been written of Ak-Sar-Ben, much has been said of its colors, red, green and yellow, which symbolize the beef, alfalfa and corn, the three principal products of Nebraska, but little has been said of the wonderful spirit of co-operation which has made Ak-Sar-Ben the leader among organizations of its kind.

Tribute has been paid by the president of the United States, by senators and representatives in the United States congress, by important personages from other lands, by business men of the east, north, south and west, but Ak-Sar-Ben has never been so honored as it has been by the people of Nebraska, who love Ak-Sar-Ben as its own child.

Realizing that Ak-Sar-Ben is a Nebraska institution and that its people come first, the directors of this great organization, which includes the representative business men of the metropolis, have left nothing undone to make the fall festivities a source of pleasant entertainment as well as a source of education.

THE EXECUTIONERS.

state has been represented at its initiations. The governor of the state, the chancellor of the university, the State Editorial association, and the citizenship in general have honored Ak-Sar-Ben with their presence, contributing in every detail to its popularity and making its success possible in the only way practical—by the hearty cooperation which Ak-Sar-Ben must have to be a state institution.

The object of Ak-Sar-Ben is known to every citizen of the state—to boost first, last and all the time for Nebraska and to spread the glories of Nebraska to the four winds of the heavens—to make the people of the United States realize that here is the paradise of the world—that he who strives to succeed can find no better place than in Nebraska.

So successful has Ak-Sar-Ben been in its endeavors that this child of Omaha, born in the turbulent times of the middle twenties, has been adopted by the state and through the self support of the good citizenship of Nebraska has risen to a position of

The festivities will begin on Sept. 25. On that date the carnival gates will be thrown open to the multitudes who will flock to the center of the kingdom and for ten days there will be action every minute. The carnival grounds will be the scene of high class diversified entertainment, pleasures that will appeal to the most exacting. Myriads of highly colored electrical lights will add to the spectacular decorations when Ak-Sar-Ben breaks forth in all its glory on the evening of Sept. 25.

Frontier Day in All Its Glory.

As a special attraction, the famous Cheyenne Frontier show, which proved a popular entertainment at the State Fair, has been secured for a series of afternoon entertainments, beginning on the afternoon of Sept. 28 and closing Oct. 5. At great expense, the Omaha baseball club grounds will be remodeled to make the show possible.

Champion rough riders of the world, men who know no fear when it comes to handling the wild, unbroken horses of the plains, will appear for the first prominence among the fall festivities of the country. Go where you will—to New Orleans, to Denver, to Kansas City or to St. Louis for their fall festivities, and never will you find the unselfish support nor the successful endeavors as time this far east; cowgirls, those delightful bits of feminine humanity, who have the courage to brave the terrors of the plains, will be prominent in entertainments; a band of fifty real Sioux Indians, headed by Chief Jack Red Cloud, lord of 7,000 redskins and

Chief Chase-in-the-Morning and Henry-Makes-Enemy will vie with the cowboys and cowgirls for popular favor, displaying all the wilyness that characterized the early life of the now almost extinct people.

Wild horses of the plains, who acknowledge no master, will succumb to the master horsemanship of the daring boys from the west for the first time. In the evening the Indians will offer a thorough Indian show at the carnival grounds, while in the morning a spectacular parade will wind its way through Omaha's streets.

As special features, three parades have been scheduled, one a departure in Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. An automobile floral parade, in which more than one hundred beautiful decorated automobiles will be in line, will traverse the streets of Omaha on Tuesday, Oct. 1. Though Omaha automobiles will probably be in the majority, many machines have been entered from Nebraska cities, which will heighten the interest in the parade, as cash prizes are to be given for the best decorated machine.

Electrical Parade a Hummer.

The electrical parade, the outdoor feature, to which all endeavor is directed, will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 2. Twenty gorgeous floats, headed by the board of governors on horseback, the floats pulled by four beautiful specimens of horseflesh and requiring one hundred men, will embody the highest ideas in float construction. The theme of the floats this year is "Gems and Flowers."

On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 3, the dedication parade will be held. On this day the new $1,000,000 Woodmen of the World building will be dedicated. Eight thousand members of the organization will parade the streets, headed by the military of Fort Crook and the High School cadets.

The festivities will wind up Friday night with the annual Coronation ball, when the queen will be crowned, after a selection from the fairest of Omaha's beautiful women. After this important function, Nebraska's flower of womanhood and manhood will trip the light fantastic until the wee small hours, in the beautifully decorated ballroom, and to the strains of sweet music, which will float out over the mammoth ballroom from a hundred piece orchestra, concealed in a bower of roses. With the last strain, the Ak-Sar-Ben of 1912 will pass into history, only to give way to a more spectacular reign in 1913 if possible.

The selection of the king and queen will demonstrate in no uncertain way the absolute democracy of the organization. Class distinction finds no place in the Ak-Sar-Ben realm. Its leaders are chosen from all stations in life, ability being recognized nowhere as it is in this modern land of Colvera.

Distinctly a western institution, fostered by western spirit and developed by western progressiveness, Ak-Sar-Ben rests proudly on her achievements of eighteen years.

E. V. PARRISH.

Land of Ak-Sar-Ben—I, King Samson, the Eighteenth, hereby command everyone of my loyal subjects to appear in Omaha between Sept. 25 and Oct. 5, if it is possible, and participate in the annual festivities of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Further, I desire that the good people of Nebraska heed this command that our people of Omaha may have the privilege of knowing you better and the honor of entertaining you to the best of our ability.

Given under my hand and seal, this the tenth day of September, during the reign of King Samson, the Eighteenth.

KING SAMSON, XVIII.
