SILOS PRODUCE GOOD QUALITY OF BOOZE

The Herald's Efforts to Boom the Building of Silos Will Receive Big Boost

FREE BUG JUICE FROM SILAGE

For several years past The Herald has been advocating the construction of silos in northwestern Nebraska, believing their use would be a good thing for this country, especially for the dairy interests. A discovery has been made that is bound to be a great help to us in boosting the business, and incidentally may help to reduce the cost of living by bringing down the high price of booze. We learn from an Illinois exchange that a new kind of intoxicating liquor has been discovered in Missouri. It is nothing more or less than the fermented juice from corn silage.

It has been discovered that every silo in Nodaway county is a factory in full blast, producing the prime sort of liquor, paying no tax and violating no law, even in dry counties. The liquor smells very much like beer and has a taste, it is said, that makes old toppers take notice. It is found at the bottom of the silo in quantities to make a whole neighborhood drunk. The drink is produced by the fermentation of the silage which mixes with the water used to pack the cut up corn as it is put in the silo. It is very much like the ordinary corn whiskey before it is distilled. While it is not expected to become fashionable at city bars it is preferable to hair dye and lemon extract as a thirst quencher in dry communities. Getting the liquor out of the silo is an easy matter. All one has to do is to attach a rubber hose and take his turn at the end, every man acting as his own bartender and beer pump.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases; it is incurable, and with the last few years has become more so. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, introduced it into the system. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and impure surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure, send for circulars and testimonials.

GUARANTEED LIVER TREATMENT

There are just two things to be borne in mind when you use Rexall Little Liver Pills. One is that they are especially designed to relieve all liver ailments promptly and effectively, and the other is that they are positively guaranteed to do this, or your money back. We would not recommend Rexall Little Liver Pills unless we felt positive that they contained the necessary remedial agents in sufficient quantities and of sufficient strength to help relieve any ordinary liver trouble, as well as the other bodily ailments arising from a diseased condition of the liver. We could not afford to guarantee, or even to recommend, Rexall Little Liver Pills if we did not have confidence in them. LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.
