HARPER'S LADIES' TOGGERY

GEO. W. DUNCAN & SON

The senior member of this firm was here before the town was started. He came about the last of March, 1886, and in April he filed pre-emption papers for the southeast one-fourth of Sec. 25-25-48, on which Duncan's Addition to the city of Alliance is located. The junior member of the firm was born here soon after Alliance was started and has resided in this county, except about four years at Fort Morgan, Colo., and one year in California. It is needless to say that both members of the firm are well acquainted in Alliance and Box Butte county.

For eleven years Geo. W. Duncan tried farming in this country, during the dry years that discouraged others with less determination to make a success of it.

In 1904 he moved with his family to Fort Morgan, Colo., where he afterwards went into business. In March, 1908, his wife died, the remains being brought back to Alliance for interment. In May of that year he and his family moved back to this city. For about a year he assisted as salesman in some of the grocery stores, when he bought out W. A. Springer's grocery, 119 West Third St. Bert, the junior member of the firm, has had an extensive experience as a grocery salesman. Together they have built up a large business, which all who know them will admit is well merited.

J. P. HAZARD

John Pock Hazard, the surveyor, began his career on this mundane sphere in Boone county, Indiana, in the year 1850. The years of his youth were spent in Missouri and owing to casualties incident to the Civil War and the poverty of his parents, his education was very limited. But after reaching the age of personal responsibility, he made amends to some extent, qualifying himself for school teaching, which vocation he followed for many years, then taking up civil engineering as his main work, while he is also admitted to practice as an attorney before the U. S. Land Department. Mr. Hazard arrived in what is now Box Butte county on August 15, 1884, made permanent settlement therein April 15, 1885, has been a citizen thereof ever since, and has no intention of changing his residence.

MOSES WRIGHT

Moses Wright located in Box Butte county the same time as Mr. Rowan, at Snake Creek. He lived on his ranch until 1899, when he came to Alliance and went into the livery business, which he engaged in for three years, selling out and going east as far as Wood River, where he was for three years. He then returned to Alliance and went into the feed business with Mr. Gregg, under the firm name of Gregg & Wright. He sold out to Mr. Gregg after a couple of years. In 1911 he went into the coal business with Mr. Rowan. Mr. Wright and Mr. Rowan are probably the "oldest timers" of any firm engaged in business in Alliance.

What You Have Been Looking For

Meritol White Liniment is a preparation that gives universal satisfaction in every instance where a pain killer and healer is needed. We do not believe you could get a better liniment at any price. F. J. Brennan exclusive agent. Ad.-1892-Mar 6-27

One of the markets available for Alaska coal, were the coal fields of the Territory developed, would be to supply coke to the smelters and foundries on Puget Sound and at Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and other cities on the Pacific coast. Most of the coke now consumed on the coast, according to the United States Geological Survey, is imported from Germany or England or is brought from the eastern states.

THE PAGEANT OF THE NATIONS

Interesting Poem by Brother of Alliance Man Will Prove of Interest to Herald Readers

The following interesting poem was written by Celwyn E. Hampton, a retired army officer, now living at San Antonio, Texas, and published in the San Antonio Light, January 25, 1913. We publish it because it is timely and interesting.

"All Germany is in an uproar over the repeated assertions that the defeat of the Turkish army was due to the inferiority of its German training and armament. Germans contend that, on the contrary, it was owing to the Turks' failure to put that training into practice, and to their utter unpreparedness for war.

"The kaiser is enraged at his diplomats since he has discovered that the czar was long ago fully informed of the Balkan confederates' intentions, while he himself has remained in ignorance."—Daily Press.

"The Bulgarian method has all the cheapness and simplicity of the whole tribe moving out to battle, with the women folk along to do the cooking."—Letter from the seat of war.

The nations from their forums loudly bawl

That God has found His chosen sons at last.

About the seven seas resounds the call,

Each voice a little ruder trumpet blast.

So Ninevah exulted, in her pride,

Till Babylon awoke, a stately queen;

Then Media, from her barren mountain-side,

And Persia, came and swept the cities clean.

Came Hellas from the cloudy, sterile west,

To crush the mighty kings of Orient;

But Hellas paused awhile in glory's quest,

And sank beneath the legions Rome had sent.

Rome's empire passed to Teuton and to Turk,

Who sat upon her thrice-exalted thrones,

Replaced her temples with the mosque and kirk,

And reared their walls of ravished temple stones.

But Othman is outworn in this, our day;

We blithely hail the coming, con- qu'ring Slav.

We smile to hear the Turkman's snarl, at bay;

No rights can such decaying laggards have.

Make haste, ye peoples, to amass your wealth!

Haste, also, to the spending, while you may,

In public revel, what was got by stealth;

The universe may topple any day!

You Jovian editors behind the desks

Whence you dispense your verbal chloroform;

You statesmen in your serio-comic masks,

Who point with pride, or view with quick alarm.

What do you make of all that's gone before?

"That each of these contained the germ of death,

Concealed within her very being's core,

But we—are gifted with immortal breath!"

Of death! Yes, each abandoned truth

And simple living, honor and the sword

That stood her well throughout her days of youth.

Then crumbled, with her all-corrupting hoard.

"But we are Teutons—chosen, fair-haired men,

The Anglo-Saxon, German, and the Swede,

And Yankee—gods returned to earth again!

We shame the weaklings of a lesser breed."

Ho! Teuton, mark the coming of the Slav,

That new-old savage, from his howling wild!

Tails fragrant, well-stocked larder that you have

Is treasure-trove to you barbaric child.

But Ivan, if we die saluting you,

Our fate should warn you Neutons is sure;

When you are rich and senile-feebler too,

You'll fall before some Nogi—who is poor.

Found a Cure for Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since."
