THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1913

Governor Morehead has named May 17th as a state-wide, clean-up day, but Alliance beat him to it. Acting under the proclamation of retiring Mayor Barnes, this city has already had several clean up days, and a good job of it has been done, too.

Every voter in Nebraska should post himself on the merits of the proposition to remove the State University from its present location in the city of Lincoln to the state farm, lying east of the city, as the question of removal is to be settled by direct vote of the people. Also, every newspaper in the state should give a fair presentation of the matter to its readers before the next state election. The columns of The Herald are open to contributed articles on the subject, and later we expect to discuss the matter editorially.

The statement of Mayor Rodgers at the first meeting of the new city council that both Alliance papers wanted the city printing was correct but in justice to this paper needs a little explanation. Before the new administration had taken charge of city affairs, the publishers of The Herald proposed to the publishers of the Times that the two papers put in joint bids on the city printing and the county delinquent tax list, both papers to receive the same pay. This proposition was declined by the publishers of the Times.

The quarantine in Alliance has given the "yellow" newspapers an opportunity to try to raise an excitement where no excitement is needed. The Herald does not like to be personal in this matter, but in justice to the newspapers outside of this city that have helped to raise an unnecessary alarm, we must say we don't blame them much, so long as they got their cue from a paper published in this city. Newspapers that resort to exaggerated reports to revive flagging interest may reap a temporary reward, but it is simple justice to this city and all parties concerned to publish the plain, unvarnished truth in regard to sanitary conditions here. And that is what The Herald is trying to do. Except for the injury to business and the annoyance of being quarantined there is nothing serious about the situation, and this paper would not only be disloyal to the city to not make this statement but would be untrue to the people of the surrounding country. The scarlet fever is practically stamped out, and that is the disease that was most to be feared. There was more danger in one case of scarlet fever than in a dozen or even a hundred cases of the so-called smallpox that has been prevalent here. The average case of this smallpox has not been as bad as measles ordinarily are; and who ever heard of calling on the state board of health to quarantine a city because of the prevalence of measles?

If certain parties will exercise a little more common sense and have a little more regard for common truth in speaking and publishing things about the "epidemic" in Alliance it will be more to their credit and better for all parties directly concerned, who do not wish to profit by the misfortunes of others.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES OF THE STANDARD OIL

Secretary McAdoo has been shaking up things very energetically since he became Secretary of the Treasury, and he recently discovered that an employe of one of the Standard Oil banks had a desk in the Treasury Department where he was supposedly an employe of the Treasury Department but in reality a paid clerk of the bank for which he was furnishing exclusive information from the Treasury Department to the Standard Oil interests and banks. If the republicans had continued in power much longer, probably in a few years the Secretary of the Treasury would have merely occupied desk room in the office of the Standard Oil Co. where he would be told directly by his master just what he must do and what he must not do. Woodrow Wilson and his able advisers were badly needed for cleaning up and straightening out the "irregularities" but what a plain blunt man would call absolute "crookedness" that had been growing up in the departments in Washington, under republican rule.

A LESSON FOR NEBR. FARMERS

How the Danes Manage Dairy Farms
Denmark is about one-fifth the size of Nebraska, but has twice as many milk cattle as this state; the rapidly increasing prosperity of the Danes has attracted the attention of agriculturists all over the world. The following brief account of their methods will be of interest to the farmers of Nebraska:

"There are 1,250,000 milking cows in Denmark. In 20 years they have increased their exports of butter 169 per cent, nearly all of which is attributed to improvement of the individual cow. The extra care of the single cow is very important. It may be more profitable to have 10 cows and give them proper individual care than to have 25 and not do so.

Revenue from Cows
"The yearly revenue from the cows of Denmark on small farms is $120. Seventy thousand persons farm less than 11 acres. There is no dairy commission; the Danish government does not employ any expert to help the people. The experts are employed by the farmers' organizations known as Agricultural Associations. The chief one has 800 members who pay $5 per year each. There are 116 Farmers' Associations with 85,000 members. They study the farming conditions of each locality, and if a man discovers a better way of killing weeds or cultivating roots he informs the association.

"There are three kinds of these associations, county, provincial and national. They hold live stock shows, field experiments and farming competitions. There are also 723 small farmers' associations with 38,900 members. Two-thirds of the entire number of holders belong to one of these associations. They have 1,885 live stock associations. No wonder they have improved their cows, their pigs, their horses and their sheep. The farmers run their immense bacon business themselves. There are 500 associations for special purpose of keeping cow records; 21 creamery associations and 24 butter-makers' associations. There are 1,200 co-operative societies for buying seeds, manures and implements."

Nebraska has ten times as much good agricultural land as Denmark; with the rapidly increasing development of her dairy industry there is opportunity for expansion in agriculture such as no country in the world has ever seen if her farmers will heed and profit by the lesson taught by the thrifty Danes.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS

Dr. L. W. Curtis was called to Lakeside last Saturday to do some veterinary work, going down on 44.

John Pederson, well known in Alliance as a successful cement worker, has returned to this city from Omaha, after an absence of about two years. He will go into the cement contracting business here again.

Mrs. L. S. Dye was called to Central City by telegram Sunday morning. She received a message stating that her father, J. H. Gleason, who is very aged, was not expected to live. She left on the noon train.

Harry L. Thompson, factory representative for the Schmoller & Mueller Piano Co., who has been conducting their piano sale here, departed for Omaha Tuesday evening. He will probably return in a week or ten days.

Wm. King, who was operated on about two weeks ago for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital, is now recovering and on the road to health. He is permitted to sit up for a few hours each day and will probably be out again soon.

R. M. Hampton has purchased a new "30" Overland touring car from James Keeler. Although Mr. Hampton is one of the busiest men in town he still finds time for recreation and we presume that he will soon be at the helm of his fine car.

A. W. Ward, who recently came to Alliance from Eaton, Colo., to take employment at the Alliance Shoe Store as salesman, and who has had many years experience in this line, likes Alliance. Mr. Ward has been here about a month and is getting well acquainted.

Wm. Elmore of Reno was in Alliance yesterday, calling at The Herald office while in the city and adding his name to our Antioch list of subscribers. He was intimately acquainted with Elmer McFall and spoke of the high esteem in which he was held by his acquaintances.

Mike Bayer returned last Friday from Thermopolis, Wyo., where he had been for about a month taking water treatment for rheumatism. He is greatly pleased with the results of the treatment. Besides having relief from rheumatism, his general health has been much improved.

L. M. Bowen, auditor of the Forest Lumber Co., and manager of their Alliance business, left last Thursday night for Kansas City, expecting to be gone all the middle of the month or later. He will visit the company's yards at other points on an auditing trip. These trips are made three times a year.

Miss Hattie Baker, formerly stenographer for Newberry's Hardware Co., but for the past two years employed by the International Harvester Co. at Portland, Oregon, arrived for a visit here, Tuesday, with friends. She is a sister of Jack Baker. Her many friends here think her visit entirely too short, as she leaves today for Nelson, Nebr., where her parents reside.

Items About the Boys Who Do the Boosting for Their Towns and Surrounding Country

A FEW FRATERNAL MENTIONS

Vandever and Weiss, two popular members of Post M, have fitted up a suite of rooms in the McCorkle block in handsome style. They have purchased the very finest of furniture and will soon be ready for their friends to call. Although the boys are competitors in business, they are the warmest of friends personally and find that there is enough business for all.

Joe Poposhil, member of Post M, accompanied W. R. Drake and his party on their Peterson hill climb southeast of Alliance a week ago Sunday. Joe seemed to enjoy the four hour trip and can certify that the Ford auto climbed the hill, although the blazing sun caused some intense discomfort during the climb and the trip.

It is rumored that a popular member of Post M is soon to take a trip to Alaska with the probable view of settling there. Although it only takes about one salesman to handle that territory for a firm, they have to have salesmen there just the same as in the United States. We understand that he has been offered the territory, but whether or not he will accept we cannot state at this time.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.
Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.
The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.
Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.
But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

SOLDIER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Fl. Robinson Sargent Killed by Being Thrown from Horse and Striking Pole

BODY SHIPPED TO NEW YORK

Cravford, Nebraska, May 8th.—Special to The Herald from Cravford Tribune—Wm. K. Heatley, a sergeant in troop D, aged thirty-one years, was killed Saturday while horseback riding. He was in front of the post office in Ft. Robinson when his horse stumbled over a corner stone and threw him against a telephone pole. One of the spikes which are used for climbing the poles, entered his brain, killing him instantly. The body was shipped to New York on Tuesday.

SWAN'S PICTURE MISSING

The fact that Councilman Swan's picture is not on our first page this week is not our fault but is caused by the failure of our engraver to get the cut to us in time for this issue. We will print his picture in a later edition.
Lawry & Henry, agents for the Studebaker automobile, have sold a new model 35 to Mrs. A. M. Miller, of Hemingford. A. P. Brown of Alliance has purchased a model 25.

Obituary

Willie Edgar Eldred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eldred, was born Feb. 11, 1893; died May 7, 1913. A cloud of sadness hangs over Alliance because of the untimely demise of this noble young man. He graduated from the Alliance High school in the class of 1912, and was a favorite among his schoolmates. After the close of school he worked several months on the ranch of his uncle in Garden county. Last fall he began work at Jerry Rowan's grain elevator in Alliance.
In February he had an attack of typhoid fever, which left his constitution in a weakened condition. Smallpox was the immediate cause of his death, but the members of his family are firmly of the opinion that had it not been for his previous sickness he would not have succumbed to the last disease. He was taken ill Tuesday evening, April 22nd. The next Monday he was feeling much better and had decided to go to Lakeside that day, but first went to the doctor's office to consult him. He was told that he had smallpox. He returned to his home. He was not seriously ill until last Saturday morning, when he seemed to have taken a backset.
The funeral was held this forenoon, burial being in Greenwood cemetery. Owing to the quarantine, the customary service could not be held. Elder F. A. Voten, pastor of the Christian church, offered prayer from a neighboring porch. The Alliance Fire Department of which the deceased was a member, marched in a body to within a block of the residence, drawing a hose cart decorated with crepe, and from there to the edge of the city on the way to the cemetery. Everything possible was done to show the high esteem in which the departed was held and the universal sorrow that is felt by his acquaintances.

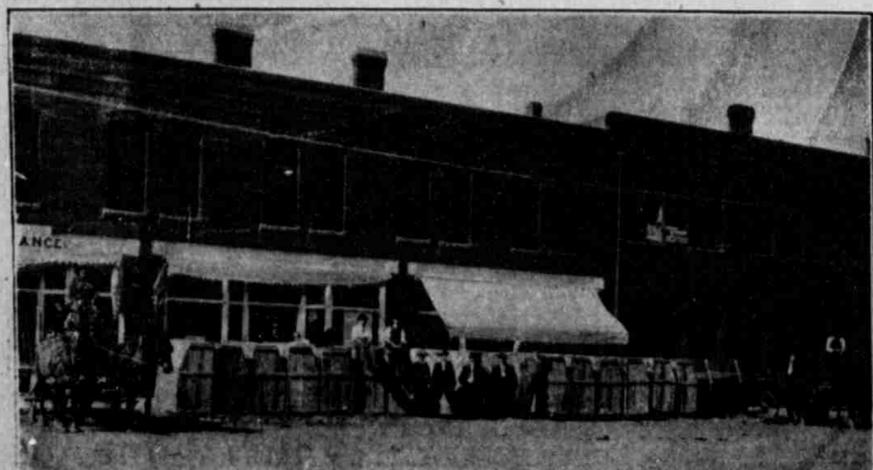

LODGE SESSION POSTPONED

On account of the quarantine the Special Session of the I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge, to have been held in Alliance on the 14th, has been postponed indefinitely.

From the sale of a $50,000 farm to the recovery of a wandering bull pup, you can put your faith in the want ads.
