SPORTING GOSSIP

Edited by "Doc" Bates Copeland.

"Gunboat" Smith wins decision. After 20 rounds of tame fighting, lacking in every detail the class that of championship caliber such as was expected in this contest, Referee Ben Selig gave the decision to Gunboat Smith. Willard weighed in at 230 pounds and Smith at 180. But what Smith lacked in weight he made up in ring experience, being in the game over four years, while Willard has had a little over one year of boxing. "Gunboat" had Willard in a bad way in the 12th round, catching him with a left swing to the chin, but being too eager for a knockout, lost his advantage by not timing his blows. By this showing neither will make Luther McCarty extend himself to any great extent.

In last Saturday's Denver-St. Joe game Johnny King relieved Barney Schirber in the fourth after Barney had been touched up for eight hits and five runs. In six innings Johnny held St. Joe to four hits and no runs, besides doing a Ty Cobb stunt with the stick, gathering in two hits and one bat out in three times up. Mgr. Hendricks states that before the season closes Johnny will be the strongest pitcher in the Western.

"Bud" Anderson knocked out Joe Mandot in the twelfth round, putting Mandot away with a right swing to the jaw, being out three minutes. Mandot took one of the worst beatings of his career. Anderson left the ring unmarked. Defeating Mandot in such decisive style means that there is only one light weight for him to consider before Richey, namely, Joe Rivera, and I look for them to be matched at an early date with very little to choose between the pair at his writing. From a financial standpoint it was a great fight for Anderson, as he bet heavily on himself. Mandot ruled 10-7 favorite.

Looks as though Alliance is going to be on the map in the base ball field this year, judging by the showing the team Mgr. Pilkington put on the field at Berea last Sunday made, with just a few days for selecting players and no time for trials or work-outs. The game proved a very interesting one, with a final score of 11 to 7 in favor of the locals. Pilkington wound up like an eight-day clock and let loose like a main spring, pitching the entire game. With Cecil Smith on the receiving end and with Pilkington at the head of the team there is no doubt that he will soon whip them into good playing condition. He is a very enthusiastic worker and with plenty of local linker we will have a strong team here.

The postponed W. O. W. athletic entertainment, which was to have been held some time ago at Hemingford, is dated for next Wednesday night, the 28th. There is to be a good program, and a good crowd from Alliance should attend.
