

RECK RETURNS

Central School building Contractor Lets sub contracts

WORK RAPIDLY PROGRESSING

S. C. Reek, who is erecting the new Central school building, returned from a trip to Denver yesterday morning. While there he purchased the terra cotta for the new building, from the Denver terra cotta works. He also let the sub-contract for the brick work to F. M. Ball of Denver, and is figuring with Frank Kirchoff Lumber Company for the mill work. Work is progressing very satisfactorily on the new building, the present fine weather facilitating it greatly. John Pederson, the cement contractor, has the contract for the concrete work.

F. E. Reddish is on a business trip to the North Platte Valley.

MOVED BACK TO OLD SHOP

Last Thursday Rosenkrans and Fox, the blacksmiths, moved back to their former shop at 114 West Second street. While they were out of the building it was very much improved, being enlarged and almost rebuilt. The east and north walls were put in new, being now composed of cement and bricks. The building was lengthened so that the shop now has more room than formerly. A new cement floor is part of the improvement made in the shop.

Most Children Have Worms Mothers think their children are suffering from indigestion, headache, nervousness, weakness, costiveness, when they are victims of that most common of all children's ailments—worms. Peevish, ill-tempered, fretful children, who toss and grind their teeth, with bad breath and colicky pains, have all the symptoms of having worms, and should be given Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, which expels worms, regulates the bowels, tones up the system, and makes children well and happy. ## YOUNG WOMAN FOUND HANGING

Disappearance of prominent and beautiful Alliance young lady solved by her mother

ALLIANCE PEOPLE INVOLVED

The sudden and mysterious disappearance of a prominent young lady of the town last week threw the members of the family into pandemonium of fright and alarm. Members of the family discovered that the daughter was missing at a late hour. Previous to the time her absence was noted, the family had been enjoying a pleasant evening in the parlor of their own home. About 7:30 o'clock the daughter started out of the room without any formal leave, but the father and mother did not notice anything peculiar in her conduct. At a late hour she had not returned and the waiting parents became alarmed. After calling for her several times without receiving any response, a diligent search was begun. Her whereabouts could not be learned and the marshal was notified of her sudden and mysterious disappearance. Questions as to whether the missing girl's actions had been queer or out of the ordinary of late brought out the information that she had apparently been perfectly normal in all respects up to the moment of her disappearance. After the circumstances of her disappearance had been related, a search was quietly instigated, so that, if possible, she might be located and returned without the publicity and notoriety which always attends such occurrences as this. The most peculiar feature of this unfortunate case, however, was that with all the widespread search, she was found directly at the rear of her own home, where in the intense excitement of the first realization of her disappearance no one had thought to look. It seems that after the officer had left the house to search for the young woman, her mother, in a mental anguish that can only be imagined, ran from the back door to go to a neighbor's home, and, as she crossed the back yard, she found her daughter hanging onto, with a death grip, her latest photograph, that she had just received from the Alliance Art Studio. When her mother arrived it was about to become the property of a young man. Latest Style, Tone and Finish.—Adv.

How many points should an amateur pool player be allowed, when playing fifteen ball pool in competition with an old timer. Attorney Gilman and the writer have been trying to settle this question in a few instances, but we are still undecided at least I am, for I keep asking B. F. for just a few more points handicap and he very graciously grants them, then beats me by five or ten, just to show that he can do it. But you just wait, "B. F.", "the worm will turn".

Alas, alack, alad, alabilldew. That expresses our feelings since Sunday morning, when we were dragged out of bed to a ready telephone, to be informed by our everready, that our friend Johnny Moist of the Scandalizer, had taken unto himself the ties that bind and that he would arrive ensoot on the noon train from Krawford. We put on our Sundaygo-meetin's and with our pockets full of the main article of Japanese diet, awaited his coming at the depot. In the far distance we heard the roar of a mighty whistle, that warning note of 44 that she was rapidly nearing the metropolis of western Nebraska. Waiting with us was "mighty Ben", Hepijlah King, and the linotype operator, all of the Scandalizer force. With steady nerves we tried to still the thundering of our palpitating hearts and formed in waiting reception line as the train pulled in. The bridal (I mean the Studebaker) car stood waiting, and so did we. Assisted by a willing porter, our friend Johnny and SHE alighted. We strode forward, grasped JM by the hand and began our "arefully prepared speech of congratulation but after the first three words we were thunderstruck and heartbroken to hear him say, "Begone, bgeone, not yet but soon." We warn you fairly, JM, don't disappoint us again that way.

The beautiful loving cup captured by Mighty Ben in Omaha and which he proudly brought home this morning, will do mighty well, JM, from which to quaff some of Bryan's favorite beverage at the coming festivities.

Lowry & Henry, automobile dealers, believe that a good piece of poetry, rightly placed before the unsuspecting buyer, will bring business. Witness the following poem, taken from the rear of their business card:—
Good going scout? If on our route, and you are broken down, Assistance here, and proper gear, the best within this town. Right here is where you're treated fair, and never treated mean. Arrest your pace, and rest your face, and get some gasoline, Great jobs or small, we handle all, from spark plug to tire, Escape your woes, save your clothes, we'll do what you desire.

Office boy—There are two men out there, sir, who want to see you. One of them is a poet and the other is a deaf man.
Editor—Well go out and tell the poet that the deaf man is the editor and let them fight it out between them.—Tit-Bits.
