BIG STREET PARADE

Sixteen Alliance Firms Participate in Spectacular Parade Last Night

Best Convention Ever Held

The biggest crowd ever seen on the streets of Alliance turned out last evening to witness the big street parade, which was participated in by sixteen Alliance firms. The streets were brilliantly lighted and last evening was one round of enjoyment from start to finish. Yesterday afternoon the fair grounds were packed to the limit. Over 150 autos were parked in the grounds and ticket takers and ticket sellers were overworked. In the parade last evening the military band led. Chief of Police Jeffers led, seated on his horse followed by a number of horsemen and also horsewomen. Next came E. W. Ray's flower cart, which won first prize. It was beautifully decorated with flowers and in it were seated two little girls. Next came Vaughan & Son's float, representing a cool scene, led by four horses. On each side was fastened a block of artificial ice. The next was Darling's float, beautifully decorated and showing two of the new Edison disc phonographs which were advertised in yesterday's Herald. Following came the Birknell Grocery Company's float, in which was a clown playing one of the contest pianos. Next was the big oil wagon, decorated with Polarine oil signs. Following came Newberry's float, on which was a tiny gasoline engine, running a washing machine. The Zediker Daily Delivery System followed, with one of its quick delivery wagons decorated. The Alliance Grocery had an attractive float, decorated with Chase & Sanborn's coffee pennants, in each opening standing a small boy. The most original float, in our opinion, was that gotten up by Roy Beckwith, proprietor of "The Right" clothing store. Snyder's auto drag had been decorated. On it stood a dozen handsome young men, of all shapes and sizes, all dressed faultlessly in clothing of different kinds. Some had evening dress suits, and at the rear stood two who were dressed in overalls, each holding a small lamb, guaranteed to be "all wool." Following this came the Alliance Cleaning Works float, tastily decorated and carrying a number of handsome young ladies. Harper's Toggery float, which followed, showed great care and was beautiful. It won second prize in the float contest. In it, dressed in white, were Miss Blanche McDonald, who drove the auto, and Mrs. Harper. Following came the members of the Alliance post of the Travelers' Protective Association, Post M, fifty strong. And last, but not least, was W. S. Kewer, proprietor of the Bee Hive, dressed as an Italian, with hand organ and monkey, that made the small boys shriek with laughter and the older folks roar. On the front of the hand organ was painted, "Do not let a DA-GO by without shopping at The Bee Hive." The Shetland ponies in a string, with heads tied to tails, created amusement.

WILL SECURE RETURN OF JACK JOHNSON

U. S. Government takes steps to secure return of negro pugilist who escaped to Canada

IS HELD AT MONTREAL

(By the United Press) CHICAGO, June 27.—Attorney General McReynolds will probably be asked today to take steps to cause to stop Jack Johnson in his flight to Europe, to escape being sent to the penitentiary for violation of the Mann white slave law. It is believed that superintendent of the department of justice, De Moody, will ask McReynolds to return the negro as an "undesirable citizen."

Johnson's getaway was no surprise to his friends and cronies to whom he has boasted that he would elude the government authorities, while out on heavy bond, before being sent to the penitentiary. Johnson first went fishing at a Wisconsin resort, masquerading as a member of the American Giants negro base ball team of Detroit. From there he went to Montreal.

Washington, June 27.—Every effort will be made by the department of justice to bring back Jack Johnson to the United States for punishment for his crime under the white slave law. Although the offense is not extraditable, it is believed that some means can be secured to bring him to this country.

Montreal, June 27.—At the request of Secretary of State Bryan, the Canadian government today ordered the arrest of Jack Johnson, pending his deportation as an undesirable immigrant, if he attempts to remain in the dominion. He wore false whiskers when crossing the border and otherwise disguising himself.

Did Not Get Subscription

L. C. Turman, a subscription solicitor for the Des Moines Homestead, and W. M. Morris, of Alliance, became involved in an argument this morning which called in the services of Deputy Donovan and which finally resulted in Turman's going to an attorney for the purpose of bringing action against officer Donovan. Turman claimed to the Herald reporter that he had taken Mr. Morris' subscription and given him a pair of glasses as a premium, that Morris had only 35 cents with him and said he would go after the balance, that he did not know Morris and told him to leave the glasses with a third party, that Morris refused to do so and began calling him names and that officer Donovan then stepped in and struck him with a cane. Different versions of the story were given but the matter was finally settled by Turman refunding the 35

405 HEAD HORSES SOLD

Successful sale of Alliance Horse & Mule Company Friday and Saturday

WILL HAVE MORE SALES

At the horse and mule sale Friday and Saturday a total of $36,000 worth were sold by the Alliance Horse & Mule Company, who conducted the sale. 405 head of horses changed hands on these two days, making it the largest sale of its kind ever conducted here. The promoters of this sale are well pleased with its success and expect to have others.

INTENSE HEAT KILLS MANY

(By the United Press) Chicago, June 27, 3 p. m.—Four deaths from the intense heat were reported during the morning. The thermometer registered ninety-three at noon. Cox, of the government weather bureau, predicted that the mercury may reach one hundred here tonight and that for the next two days the city will undoubtedly suffer terrific heat. Milwaukee, June 27, 2 p. m.—The intense heat here continued today. Two died and twelve were prostrated by the heat yesterday.

President Very Tired

(By the United Press) LONDON, June 27.—A very tired French President donned evening dress this morning at the conclusion of his first state visit to a foreign country, and the London detective force heaved a huge sigh of relief when they saw his train out of the station. There were no newspaper men in the President's saloon but it is credibly reported that Poincaré worked off a big sigh too.

A round of farewell visits with many exchanges of compliments, "remercements," etc., preceded the departure in state from Victoria station. Once more the Brigade of Guards was stuck for lining the route from Poincaré's quarters to the train, and several hundred big Life Guardsmen cursed over having to once more polish up breast plates and helmets that they might literally shine on escort duty. The King and President, with the Prince of Wales, drove in a six-horse state carriage to the station and there were inspections of the guard of honor and official leave-takings to be got through before President Poincaré was permitted to climb into the special saloon car in which he traveled to Dover. The farewell handshake was particularly hearty, and it was agreed on all sides that the visit has still further cemented the "entente cordiale." To the strains of the "Marseillaise," the president's special steamer left out of the station. He was accompanied to Dover by the Duke of Connaught and a brilliant staff, who saw him safely off British soil. The trip across the Channel was made in a special steamer escorted by a squadron of French and English battleships and a destroyer flotilla. It is expected that the King will return the President's visit this fall or next spring, the latter period being the more probable as the Kaiser will want to return the King's wedding visit to Berlin before he becomes too great an admirer of the French. Numerous foreign anarchists who temporarily disappeared from their usual haunts just before the French president got here, were today informed that King George could not entertain them any longer, and they were released from custody. No charges were formulated against them but Scotland Yard likes to keep such persons where they can put their fingers on them on such occasions.

Regular Feature of The Alliance Herald, Official Organ

Edited by "Uncle J. W."

A synopsis of business transacted at the meeting of the executive committee and the annual convention. The secretary's minutes are not yet in form to be used as copy for the printer. The matter that brought out the most discussion was the report of the committee on resolutions, being adopted by sections. The section relating to the tariff brought out quite a discussion, but was adopted by an almost unanimous vote. The part that a few objected to was the following: "We favor a general downward revision of the tariff on all imported articles including live stock and other food products, and are willing to stand our pro rata in reduction." The balance of the section was unanimously approved, as were all of the other sections.

The address of Mr. Tomlinson, the secretary of the National Live Stock Association, was of particular interest to the stockmen. His remarks on the subject of the tariff were well received. While he favors a tariff is not much alarmed at the prospect of tariff reduction. Another subject which he mentioned, probably of more direct interest to members of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association than the tariff, was the matter of feeders and stock raisers of Nebraska who are not members of the N. S. G. A.

Report of Committee on Resolutions

Be it resolved by the members of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association, in annual convention assembled, at Alliance, Nebraska, June 26, 1913, that we favor a general downward revision of the tariff on all imported articles including live stock and other food products, and are willing to stand our pro rata in reduction, but we vigorously protest against the placing of our products on the free list. We assert that it is unfair and discriminatory to the great agricultural and live stock industries to put their products on the free list while maintaining substantial duties on many other commodities and manufactured articles. We contend that the stock raisers of the West are not now receiving more than a fair return on their labor and investment and we view with alarm any proposition that will tend to reduce same and curtail production. We therefore urge our Nebraska Senators and Congressmen to oppose the placing of our products on a free trade basis. We also respectfully petition congress to provide for thorough inspection of all imported live stock and meats so as to prevent the entry and spread of his country of the contagious diseases now prevalent among the herds of other countries. We further demand that where other nations impose an import duty on our live stock and meats, a similar countervailing duty be levied by the United States.

Resolved further, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the Senators and Congressmen from Nebraska.

Whereas, We believe it would be of vast benefit to all parties interested in the production and maturing of live stock in the state of Nebraska to unite in one great state live stock association; and Whereas, While the Nebraska Stock Growers

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETS

The annual meetings of the school districts of Nebraska will be held on Monday, June 30, 1913. In Box Butte county this applies to all school districts except Alliance, here members of the board of education are elected at the time of the city election in April. The hour of holding the school meeting in each district will be designated by the director who issues the call for the meeting.

Hugh B. Eller, traveling agent for the Chicago & North Western Railway, with headquarters at Fremont, is in the city during the convention.

Larry Melady, head cattle salesman of the Melady Commission Company, of South Omaha, was a caller at The Herald office Thursday.

HURRAH FOR POST M

Alliance Traveling Men are Making Today Best of the Convention Attractions

Morning Parade Big Feature

"Ak-Sar-Ben parades never beat it," said one South Omaha stockman this morning, standing open mouthed, gazing at the T. P. A. parade which extended for nearly a mile up Box Butte avenue, with fifty members of Post M, of Alliance, following his big military band. Every member of Post M deserved unlimited praise and credit for the work done by them and the firms they represent, in helping make today the most interesting and best day of the convention.

First came the A. B. C. brand float, followed by Acheson's International delivery wagon, drawing a manure spreader. Then Harpham Brothers float, on which the most prominent thing was one of their saddles, advertised in today's Herald. Then the Nebraska Merchandise Company's float, advertising Red Cross goods. Then followed Granger Brothers', Swift's soap, and The Herald auto, in which were seated, with others, "Uncle J. W.", "Doc" Copeland, and other members of the force, all wearing the latest style of Stetson hats, borrowed from Norton's for the occasion. The Burlington Hotel horse, on which was seated a clown, caused a great deal of laughter. The Alliance Creamery float, on which were a number of little girls, and a barrel churn going full speed, came next. Then the M. E. Smith & Company, auto, followed by the French Auto Oil float, followed by Trip-Artic Auto float, after which came the M. E. Smith & Company float, a fine one. Followed the Polarine oil wagon. Then came a monster Rumley Oil-Pull tractor engine, nearly filling the street. A comic float, showing five boys in bed, with broken water pitcher, demolished dinner, etc., with a sign reading, "Bridgport Hotel, five in a room for $1.00." Then came a long procession of men and women on horseback, followed by the Mogul Pure Food Products float, after which was Vaughan & Son's "Ice wagon", with a huge block of ice on the side. Following came the heaviest load ever hauled down the streets of Alliance, a Davenport Steel Roller Bearing Wagon, manufactured by the John Deere Plow Company, carrying a monster load of lumber from the Forest Lumber Company yards, weighing a total of 19,945 pounds, or nearly ten tons.

ROY C. STRONG President Post M.

It is impossible to get everything that happens today in this short article, for we haven't the time or the room to get it all in, so we are just giving a brief report. At the fair grounds this afternoon the T. P. A. men are doing things up brown, and the crowd is having a great time. "Doc" Copeland is reporting the races and program results from the grounds over The Herald's private phone. These are given in his column.

SPORTING AFFAIRS

Edited by "DOC" BATES COPELAND

Tom Pool, of Marsland, has the reputation of a teetotal abstainer, but the sporting editor thinks differently since the races last evening. Coming down main street Tom was seated on top of a top buggy and wanted "Doc" to crank his machine for him. It takes squirrel booze to make a man climb like that.

An error was made in reporting the water fight Wednesday evening. It was reported that the fight was called a draw, but the judges instead gave it to Hall and Schaefer. Score, 6 to 1.

In the bucking event, the last on the program yesterday afternoon, Herin made a good ride but had a poor horse. Stephmy had a good mount and will undoubtedly be drawn for the finals. Also Purden, on Sorreltop, which I think was the best of the bunch of horses. Our old friend "Honey" was greeted with rounds of applause as he made his appearance. He made his usual good ride, smoking a cigarette throughout, although he was handicapped by having drawn a poor horse.
