BACK TO ASYLUM
FOR HARRY THAW;
TO BE DEPORTEDMove of Jerome May Place Fugitive in Mattewan Before Midnight---Greeley
Potato Crop Reported Failure

(By the United Press)

COATCOOK, QUE., Sept. 4—By midnight tonight it is believed Harry K. Thaw will be back in Mattewan asylum from which he escaped Sunday, August 17th. Taken from Sherbrooke jail yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus, Thaw was at liberty for three minutes and was again arrested. This morning a special board of inquiry met and decided that Thaw was an undesirable alien. It is believed he will be deported late this afternoon.

If sent across the border to New York territory he will be at once arrested and taken to Mattewan. It all looks like a coup planned by William Travers Jerome.

Residents of sewer district No. 19 are particularly anxious to have the work in that district completed. A reminder has been sent to the city council.

ALLIANCE HORSE TO ENTER FAIR CIRCUIT

Dan Brown, Owned by W. N. Hill and Trained by Dr. Lester, to Make First Race at Chadron
on September 10th

Alliance will be represented on the track at Chadron Sept. 10 by Dan Brown, 2:16 1-4 pacer, property of W. N. Hill and trained by Dr. C. L. Lester. This Alliance horse has been entered in the 2:15 pace and in the free-for-all. Lester will handle the pony on the track leaving the latter part of the week for Chadron in his Overland car.

It is expected that the horse will be taken to several other fairs this month and will probably be brought back to Box Butte for the fair here. The mark of 2:16 1-4 was made by Dan Brown about two years ago.

DUCK SHOOTING GOOD
IN SOUTHEAST HILLS

Alliance Party Reports Butterballs,
Mallard and Teal on Sandhill
Lakes Near Ellsworth—
Get Many Chickens

None need go duck hungry this fall is the word given out by Frank Hedges, Jim Hansen, deputy state game warden; John Lucas, Elbert Roberts and Sam Powell, who passed Monday and Tuesday in the sandhill region about 15 miles southeast of Alliance. They report plenty of butterballs, mallards and teal on the lakes in the hills, although they devoted their time mostly to prairie chickens bringing in about 100.

The best hunting place at present is near the Peterson ranch to the southeast. Hedges and the others found the grouse shooting good on the Roberts place northeast of Ellsworth.

GIVING SONS A CHANCE
NEBRASKA LAND COAL

"I think I made one great mistake about 22 years ago, when I did not then decide to 'grow up' with western Nebraska," remarked W. H. Hutchinson of Iowa at the Herald office this morning.

Hutchinson is the guest of Ellsworth Ash at Lakeside, Nebr., and is spending a few days in Alliance, this being his first visit in 22 years. He has come to Nebraska to take advantage, on behalf of himself and three sons, of the reserve land opening to take place sometime after October 1. He says he has decided there is no better country in which to locate and expressed himself as wonderfully surprised at the changes that have taken place in Alliance and Box Butte county since his first visit.

"Why," he said "when I first saw Alliance it was hardly more than a group of shacks and here it is well on its way to becoming a real metropolis in western Nebraska. It seems to me there is great opportunity here for young men and I am going to give my sons the advantages that I myself neglected in those days.

"I expect to settle two or three of the homestead claims with my sons and if there is a possibility of obtaining water at reasonable depths, I want to try out the pumping irrigation system. It seems to me it ought to prove a success with the recent developments in modern machinery."

Hutchinson ordered The Weekly Herald for one year, saying he believed he could obtain the most accurate and reliable information concerning land settlement from its pages. He took advantage of the yearly subscription offer which will bring him the supplement and map containing all information necessary concerning the new territory. He expects to depend absolutely on The Herald to aid him in making a selection of the land opening arrives.

Feed Shortage
Now Worries
Local Stockmen

With oats selling at $1.60 from the wagon and the probability that hay will go to $10, $12 or even $15 per ton, horse owners of western Nebraska already are beginning to acquire thoughtful wrinkles in anticipation of a shortage of feed during the winter. A member of the firm of the Alliance Horse and Mule company predicts that for many horse owners it will be a bad winter, for he believes that hay prices will go far above those of last year. Conditions are said to be worse in the extreme western portion of the state, and it is believed that Box Butte county will be in better shape for feeding and the majority of other Nebraska counties.

WIFE AND BABE MURDERED BY
A MAD MANMother Makes Desperate Fight to Save
Child; Bloodhounds and 200 Men
Trail Husband Slayer Near Tremont,
Nebraska---Negro Suspect Is Arrested

(By the United Press)

FREMONT, NEBR., Sept. 4—Bloodhounds today are trailing Rasmus Peterson, a laborer, who last night choked his wife to death and brained his two-year-old son with an axe. Neighbors, alarmed at the non-appearance of Mrs. Peterson this morning, broke into the house and discovered the bodies. Mrs. Peterson had left her husband several weeks ago and at that time he threatened to kill her.

There was evidence of a desperate struggle in the room where the bodies were found. The mother had defended her babe with the back of a broken chair and it was found tightly clutched in her hands. There were marks of blood on it, which leads to the belief that the murderer had been struck before he finally succeeded in clutching the woman by the throat. One of the mother's arms was lying across the child.

Peterson was seen to enter the home late last night and it is believed the bloodhounds struck his trail towards Omaha this morning. The whole countryside is aroused and more than two hundred armed men have formed searching posses.

NEGRO SUSPECT HAS BABY'S BANK

OMAHA, Sept. 4—Caught with a baby's bank in his possession, a negro, Joe Waters, was found desperately injured near the railroad tracks in South Omaha today. Waters was arrested. The baby's bank is believed to be that taken from the Peterson home at Fremont and it is thought that Waters may have been with Peterson.

LIGHT REVENUE GAIN
MONTHLY SHOW GOOD

With the report of the water and light department for the month ending August 15, 1913, it is shown that revenues gained over expenditures $270.01, which is indeed a creditable showing for Manager C. A. Dow. Taken in detail there is rigid economy shown in the operating expenses, the report being made out in full showing where every cent of outlay is recorded.

Among the other items is $1,000 paid out on an old debt for the plant equipment.

In the disbursements for the water department it is shown that $827.51 was the amount overdrawn July 15, 1913, this having been taken up.

Totals as shown are as follows:

Public Library Plans to Assist
Schools in New Order of Books

Making the public library a valuable adjunct of the public school system, the library board at its meeting last night decided to order books which would be of especial value to the pupils of the high school. An order for $30 worth of books was decided, the majority to be of such a character as to give the school children valuable information and the remainder popular fiction.

Following this action the usual routine business was transacted. J. H. H. Hewett, president, acted as chairman; Mrs. W. W. Johnson, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Smith, Mrs. Rowan, Mrs. McCluer, Mr. Wood and Mr. Pate.

These facts were revealed

CITY PHYSICIAN ACTS
AS COUNCIL ADVISOR

Duties Are Defined in Connection with Bill for "Extras"—Care of Sick Not Included in List of Regular Activities

What are the duties of the city physician?

They were defined in connection with a bill for "extras" presented before the city council this week by Dr. H. A. Copey, the bill being for medicine and attention given an unfortunate family at the direction of the city. As defined, the duties of the city physician are much similar to those of the city attorney, merely to act as an advisor to the mayor and councilmen on the question of disease in the city. This does not include any actual work.

It was agreed by the council that the bill for "extras" should be paid.

BRAKEMAN IS SHOT
ON HUNTING JAUNT

J. F. Case of Ravenna Receives Charge in Hip and Is Rushed to This City—Will Recover
or Is Belief

While hunting prairie chickens near Halsey, J. F. Case, a brakeman for the Burlington out of Ravenna, received a charge of shot in the left hip. The accident occurred at noon yesterday, a companion being responsible. The wound while painful and serious is not necessarily fatal and after being treated at the St. Joseph's hospital here late yesterday afternoon, it is believed that Case will recover in record time.

The victim was brought to Seneca on a stock train and came into Alliance on 44. The wife and mother of the patient arrived during the evening and are at the young man's bedside. Case is about 27 years old.

LIKE DAYS OF OX-TEAM
DAKOTAS TO KANSAS

One old Alliance settler paused at Box Butte and Third yesterday evening and rubbed his eyes. He looked cautiously about and rubbed his eyes again. No. He had not been imbibing, neither had he overslept, but there passing with the slow "trek" of the earlier plains days was a pair of typical prairie schooler drawn by mules. A layer of alkalai lay over the topped canvas and a weary woman occupied the front seat of the "lead wagon."

It was so typical of the days of the 49's, that more than one of the older Alliance residents paused to remark it and several entered into conversation with the driver. The "schoolers" contained Charles McCoy and his family, a wife and several children, moving with all their worldly possessions to southern Kansas, coming from near Rodsford, in the limestone country of South Dakota.

"No," said McCoy, "I guess this kind of a trip nowadays is not like it would have been in the old days when waterholes and settlements were far between. But you can take it from me, this kind of a trip is no joke at that. The western Nebraska ranges are rather warm and there are times when one can get very thirsty.

ily would return home with a new zest in life and with perfect health.

"It may seem like a rough route for a woman to travel, but the wife has gained several pounds in weight and declares she never felt better in her life."

McCoy is an enthusiast for pumping irrigation and expects to try that method of agriculture in his new home in Kansas.

Everybody Happy!
Smiling Welcome
Given New Daily

Everybody smiled when the first edition of The Daily Herald came like a breath of optimism to the homes of Alliance yesterday afternoon. It was a gleam of new sunshine to every man, woman and child in the city. Every item was devoured with interest and the force of The Daily Herald was complimented for this first effort in the daily field of western Nebraska. At 11 o'clock last night several housewives of the city were to be seen under the reading lamp, and they read the first daily from cover to cover, then back again. Even the land notices were perused. Not a single advertisement in the first issue was overlooked.
