This with better winter feed and care will nacly increase the value of the ducts of the "ranch country"; while cattle and hogs will never tease to be raised in abundance in those parts of our state where corn and alfalfa are the leading agricultural products.

A Getting in Touch Movement

There should be more co-operation among the live stock interests of this state. The Herald believes this can be accomplished by a "getting in touch" movement, and is glad to take the lead in trying to bring about the desired results. This is an age in which interests succeed, not by fighting among themselves or being indifferent towards each other, but by working together for the accomplishment of a given purpose. Co-operation among those engaged in the same industry or business spells suc-

Organization is an important factor for the promotion of co-operation. It is not possible to obtain as great results without proper organ-ization as with it. For this reason we make no attempt to name them in the order of their relative importance.
