A balopticon has been recently purchased. It will be used for projecting pictures on a screen. Whatever of color there is in the picture will be reproduced on the screen. Illustrations from magazines and books may be used without tearing out the page containing them. This machine will be of especial value to the classes in English, History and Science.

As soon as the weather permits, the contestants for the track meet will start outdoor work. Vaulting poles, shot and hammer are here. Several of the boys who will take part have been in training for some time. The cross country route was laid out Thursday. The track at the Y. M. C. A. has been put into fairly good shape, and the field will soon be a scene of much activity. This is the first time that such a meet has been held in Chadron. Everybody who comes will receive a fair return for their money.

A bust of Lincoln by Backmann, the sculptor, has been purchased by the class of '14 as a gift to the school and has been placed in the assembly room. It is a little more than life size, and the pedestal on which it stands is three feet and a half in height. It adds greatly to the appearance of the room. The relief "Washington crossing the Delaware" will be placed on the wall in the middle corridor opposite the office door. It is Caproni's reproduction in plaster of the painting by Emanuel Leutz. It is over four feet in length and will make an exceedingly effective mural decoration for the corridor. Both pieces will be formally presented to the school during the commencement season. The precedent of classes giving works of art to the school was established by the class of '12 when they presented Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair".

REO THE FIFTH

Reo the fifth attained its distinction by being a better built car than most makers think necessary. Care and caution are carried to extremes. Materials are bought under specifications, determined by twenty years of experience.

The steel is all made to formula. The gears are tested in a crushing machine to stand 75,000 pounds per tooth. The springs are tested in a machine which subjects them to thousands of bendings.

Each driving part must stand the tests of 50 per cent over-capacity. The builder fixes this as a margin of safety in the cars he makes.

Reo the Fifth, 1914 model is an honest and enduring car. This honesty and endurance is most apparent in the hidden parts—in the steel, the bearing, the gears and the forging.—190 drop forgings are used in the construction of Reo the Fifth.

The accessibility of the various parts of the engine is a feature of Reo the Fifth, that is worthy of consideration. This feature is one that will save hours of time in making engine adjustments.

A centrifugal pump gives a positive circulation and insures proper cooling.

The brakes of Reo the Fifth are extra efficient for safety's sake. They are the double acting, wrapping type. Both are operated by foot pedals so there are no brake levers in the way of the driver.

Reo the Fifth is electrically lighted throughout.

The design of the body is in accord with the latest mode. It is low-hung and racy. It has the gondola back. The upholstery is deep and soft. You will not find a handsomer car than the 1914 Reo the Fifth.

Reo the Fifth, five passenger touring car, fully equipped in every particular, will be sold at $1250 f. o. b. Alliance, a reduction of $220 on last year's price.
