THEN AND NOW

Increase in Cost of Raising Cattle in Twenty Years

With the increase in the price of beef cattle in recent years, some might think that the profit in cattle raising had increased accordingly, but that is not correct. There has been a greater per cent of increase in the cost of production than in the selling price of cattle. A prominent ranchman informs The Herald that twenty years ago he could keep a thousand cattle a year for a dollar a head, whereas it now takes ten dollars per head to run the same number a year.

The increase in the price of western Nebraska cattle has not been due altogether to the rise in the market, but should be credited largely to improved breeding and better care of stock. Cattle from western Nebraska ranches top the feeder market or go direct to the packing houses off the grass at good prices, so that ranchmen are still on the money making side of the proposition notwithstanding increase in expenses.

Senator Vardaman, the long haired statesman from Mississippi, has bloomed out in a white suit, and it behooves Senator Lewis of Illinois to beatir himself and those lustrous auburn whiskers to retain his sartorial pre-eminence.

Guide to Crater Lake National Park

Methods of reaching the Crater Lake National Park are given in detail in a circular on that reservation just issued by direction of Secretary Lane. This park, which is located on the summit of the Cascade range, in southern Oregon, may be reached from Klamath Falls, Chiloquin, Medford, and Ashland, Oregon. It has an area of 159,360 acres and is situated in the midst of a beautiful mountain country, the principal attraction being Crater Lake, a body of water having an area of 20 1/4 square miles (water surface) which is situated in the caldera of an extinct volcano. The lake is surrounded by unbroken cliffs which range from 500 to nearly 2,000 feet in height. The coloring of the water and of the surrounding cliffs presents some of the most striking pictures seen in the western mountain country. Not the least of the attractions at Crater Lake is the splendid fishing. Originally there were no fish in the lake, and as only one species of fish have been planted (rainbow trout), the fishermen know beforehand what they are going to get. They are best caught by fly casting from the vantage points along the shores of the mainland or Wizard Island. Many fish are caught by trolling spoon from a rowboat. The fly fishing is well worth while, as the fish are very gamey and run from 2 to 10 pounds in weight. In addition to the rules and regulations this circular contains lists of books and magazine articles for the benefit of those who desire more detailed information regarding this unique body of water.
