

12 Round Championship Go 12

(By Abe Pollock)

In my opinion the Alliance fans and visitors to the Stockgrowers' Convention at Alliance, will see one of the greatest bantam weight battles on the night of June 19th, when Earl Puryear and Harry (Kiscus) Lub meet for twelve rounds, that was ever staged in the West and as the bantam weight title for the state of Colorado is at stake, that alone will be a great incentive for the boys to deliver the goods.

There never were two boys in any more deadly earnest, and in case one is returned a winner, he will be on his way to the big title now held by Kid Williams of Baltimore. They have fought two furious draws in Denver, one at the Colorado Athletic Club of eight rounds, which saved the show, as the main event between Dick Gilbert and Mike Shubert only lasted two rounds, and everybody went home well satisfied with Puryear and Lub's performance, which was the whole show. Again, at the Stockyard Stadium Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world and Benny Chavez wound up their business in the second round and these two whirlwinds actually stood the spectators on their seats howling like Indians every second in eight rounds of the fastest, slambang glove work ever seen in Denver. This bout saved the main event, which was too short, and gave everyone a good run for his money. There isn't a boy in the bantam weight class who has got anything on either one outside of the champion, Johnny Williams, and he would have his hands full unless the battle was a long distance affair, as the boys have never gone over the longer route. This match really looks better as a drawing card than the Williams and Coulon affair that recently took place at Los Angeles, where the prices ranged from $2.00 to $7.50.

From the Denver News, June 15:

Ever since winning the amateur title of the D. A. C., Puryear one year and Lub the next, it has been an even break every time they have met in the ring, and there are two draws to fight off.

The Alliance battle will be the saw-off and the boys are getting in the best possible shape for what is going to be the hottest season ever seen in that part of the country, and the bout will be classy enough to stage any place, Vernon or Milwaukee not barred.

At the C. A. C., they fought a furious eight-round draw and made the biggest hit of the season, and again at Kilbane-Chavez contest they put up another slam-bang battle of six rounds that had the fans standing on their seats.

There isn't much difference between them and both have fought and licked the same men, so each is the stumbling block of the other on their way to the big-game circuit, and the state title is the main incentive for them to pull the best they have in their bag of tricks, as the Alliance bout is the jumping off place.

This time the fans of the Nebraska town will have a chance to see them in a real battle over the longer route, which will show up their staying qualities, as it has been a hard matter to get a correct line on this part of their makeup in short bouts.

There has been much interest aroused among the Denver fans over the coming bout and there will be a few from Denver at the ringside when the gong starts the boys on their long grind.

The weight of 118 pounds at 3 o'clock will bring them into the ring strong and ready to put in their hardest raps and I look for a great battle.

Meet at Burlington Hotel
Traveling men who will take part in the parade Saturday morning are requested to meet at the Burlington Hotel at 9:30 o'clock. The uniforms have arrived and the boys promise that they will make the other organizations hustle for the first prize in the parade.

Appointed as Deputies
Six traveling men, members of Post M. T. P. A., have been sworn in as special police during the convention. They are Messrs. Hawes, Looney, Ludington, Baker, Ewing and Hull.

J. G. Porter, of Bridgeport, who is postmaster there, stopped over in Alliance last Thursday on his way home from the state postmaster's convention at Lincoln.

Back from Omaha
Mr. and Mrs. George Stanton, who went to Omaha several days ago, returned Wednesday morning to Alliance. Mr. Stanton is afflicted with serious liver trouble and they went to consult a specialist. He is no better at this time.

The Premium List
The premium list for the 1914 Nebraska state fair has been sent out. This booklet sets forth a number of new features for the fair. The educational departments of the state exposition have been greatly expanded, owing to the completion of Agricultural-Horticultural Hall. As one of the star features for entertainment the management has contracted with Lincoln Beachey for three exhibitions each day and he will loop-the-loop and fly upside down in his improved, modern aeroplane.

NOTICE
Sealed bids will be received by the city of Alliance, Nebraska, until 8 p. m., July 21, 1914, for 1 Motor Combination: Chemical and hose wagon with one forty (40) gallon Chemical tank on same, with hose body of twelve hundred (1200) feet capacity, with divisional body fully equipped.

Parties submitting proposals are to furnish their own specifications. The city reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Payments will be made as cash $1,000, balance on short terms.

JUNIOR NORMAL PROGRESSING

Some New Students Enrolled Since Last Report and Good Work Being Done as Usual

The pleasant June weather which the people of northwestern Nebraska are permitted to enjoy this year, as usual, is very much appreciated by the faculty and students of the Alliance State Junior Normal, that has been in session since Monday of last week. Good work is being done in all classes and a helpful, optimistic atmosphere prevails.

Governor Morehead will visit the Junior Normal on Friday forenoon and give a short talk during chapel period. Evening lectures and other functions of the session will be announced later.

The Commercial Club has provided a rest room for ladies. The Odd Fellows hall will be used for that purpose and will be open during the convention.

Put the Boy and Girl In the Children's Chautauqua

It will be the brightest, happiest week of their lives. It will expand their knowledge. It will start them thinking in the right direction.

The Children's Chautauqua has two big aims: To develop the habit of healthful recreation in boys and girls; to teach them how to play to the best advantage---to do away with all the elements of roughness on the playground.

And its second big aim is to interest boys and girls in birds.

Birds! What are they?

Every one knows what birds are. But does every one know that the business of raising corn and wheat and all agricultural crops is dependent upon the birds? That the damage to the agricultural interests of the country last year from insects amounted to more money than was spent for public education? Birds get the insects.

We are going to show boys and girls how to care for birds. How to protect them and feed and shelter them. We want every boy and girl to know their value. In short, to know all about birds.

It will be lots of fun. Games, story telling and many things of that sort will be a feature of the Children's Chautauqua

A trained director and an athletic man will look after the boys and girls. Can't you see enough in that for your boy or girl these dull, hot days? If so, get a Chautauqua season ticket and give them these advantages that cost so little and are worth so much.
