GOOD NEWS FOR HOMESTEADERS

Intermarriage of Homesteaders Allowed—May Be Absent Two Periods Each Year

Congress has amended the three year homestead law so as to allow a person to divide his absence into two periods, originally the law only permitted a person to be absent once each year. Counting the time from the date he first established his residence. Under an act of Congress of August 22, 1914, the homesteader may take the five months allowed at two different times. The following is the text of the bill, with the commissioner's rulings thereon:

That the entryman mentioned in section 2291, Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended by the act of June 6, 1912 (37 Stat., 123), upon filing in the local land office notice of the beginning of such absence at his option shall be entitled to a leave of absence in one or two consecutive periods not exceeding in the aggregate five months in each year after establishing residence; and upon the termination of such absence, in each period, the entryman shall file a notice of such termination in the local land office; but in case of commutation the 14 months' actual residence, as now required by the law, must be shown and the person commuting be at the time a citizen of the United States.

Under this act the five months' absence in each residence year allowed by the first proviso to section 2291 may, at the option of the homesteader, be divided into two periods, but no more. The homesteader must, at the beginning of each absence, file a notice thereof at the local office, but he need not specify the portion of the five months' privilege of which he intends to avail himself. A notice of his return to the land must be promptly filed at the termination of each absence.

If a homesteader has returned to the land after an absence of less than five months and filed notice of his return he may, without any intervening residence, again absent himself—pursuant to new notice—for the remaining part of the period within the residence year. Two absences in different residence years, however—reckoned from the date when residence was established—must be separated by a substantial period if they together make up more than five months.

The following is the act of Congress which provides that homesteaders after residing upon their claims and otherwise complying with the homestead law, may marry without prejudicing their rights to make proof by residing on either of the claims they may select.

This act was passed April 6, 1914, and reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and

House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the marriage of a homestead entryman to a homestead entrywoman after each shall have fulfilled the requirements of the homestead law for one year next preceding such marriage shall not impair the right of either to a patent, but the husband shall elect, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior, of which of the two entries the home shall thereafter be made, and residence thereon by the husband and wife shall constitute a compliance with the residence requirements upon each entry: Provided, That the provisions thereof shall apply to existing entries.

The act applies to claims initiated before or after its date, and to become entitled to its benefits it is required that each of the parties shall have complied with the requirements of the homestead laws for not less than one year next preceding their marriage. Where the parties, or either of them, are entitled to credit for such compliance prior to entry, that time may be counted in making up the period of one year and it follows that neither of the entries need be one year old at the time of marriage.

The law confers upon the husband the privilege of electing on which of the two entries the family shall reside. His election must be supported by the affidavits of both the parties, describing their entries and showing the facts as to the residence, cultivation, and improvements already had in connection therewith. Only in cases where the tracts involved are situated in different districts will it be necessary that the election and affidavits be executed in duplicate, the copies of all papers must be filed in each office.

Feeding Alfalfa to Horses

Alfalfa is a splendid horse feed, but must be fed with judgment and care.

Because of its palatability, mature horses are likely to eat too much alfalfa, if permitted to have free access to it.

The average farm horse at hard work is allowed to eat much more alfalfa and other roughage than he really needs to maintain his weight.

One pound of alfalfa or other hay and about 1 1/4 pounds of grain per day for each 100 pounds of the horse's weight make a good ration for the working horse.

Horses like alfalfa stems. Refuse from the cattle racks is very acceptable to horses.

Feed mature horses first and second cutting alfalfa which is free from mold and dust.

Never feed wet alfalfa hay to horses.

A sudden change of feed deranges the horse's digestive system.

Horses accustomed to alfalfa as a regular part of their ration are seldom troubled from its use.—Extension Bulletin 28, Nebraska Experiment Station.

What Milk is Worth

When you buy a quart of milk, did you ever stop to think what it is worth? As a matter of fact, it is worth as much as 44 cents worth of dried beef, 35 cents worth of oranges, or 23 cents worth of beef, and it is equal in food value and cheaper than the following amounts of food at the given market value.

	Lbs.	Cost
Wienerwurst	0.47	$0.97
Mutton	.77	.154
Catfish	.76	.152
Dried beef	.89	.445
Beef chuck	.85	.17
Pork loin	.55	.121
Beef sirloin	.79	.237
Eggs	1.00	.19
Oranges	4.11	.35
Potatoes	2.25	.034
Tomatoes	6.65	.116

On the other hand, milk costs more than rice, dates, corn meal, cheese, prunes, and wheat bread. The above data prepared by the dairy department are being shown in the county fair exhibit of the Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Are Your Cows Like These?

Two cows were in the Nebraska University Farm herd a short time ago which looked very much alike. Most people, perhaps, would have judged one to be a little better than the other. The average feed of one for two years cost $64.15. The average feed for the other was 35 cents a year more. The one that it cost $64.15 to feed produced about $10 a year more than she cost. The one that it cost 35 cents a year more to feed returned five times the income of the other above cost of feed. Not even the dairy experts could have guessed that. The way they found out was to weigh and test the milk, the same as they do with all of the cows of the state dairy herd. As a small milk tester and scales cost but a few dollars, this practice can be carried on by any farmer.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. At less meat, drink lots of water, get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
