The Postoffice the Telephone

You expect to be able to send a letter anywhere. You can-nearly. But you can send a long distance telephone message to 12,000 more places in this country than you can send a

According to the Postmaster General's figures, there are 58,000 places that have postoffices. There are 70,000 places reached by long distance lines of the Bell Telephone System.

There are 50 per cent more telephone messages than letters sent in this country. In Europe, where the governments own and operate nearly all of the telephones, there are only about one-third as many telephone messages sent as letters.

Private enterprise in America has made telephone service so efficient and given the service at so low rates that nearly everybody uses the telephone.

The United States, which has but 6 per cent of the world's population, has 64 per cent of all the world's tele-

On January 1st last year there were 8,729,592 telephones in the United States and only 4,821,382 in all the rest of the world.

ford me great pleasure to discharge the obligations of my office in such a manner as to retain the respect, confidence and esteem shown me in the recent election.

As I observe the returns from the various counties of the state I fee like the young man who was sudden ly called upon to fill the pulpit for minister, and after he had searched in vain for a text, he finally closed the Bible and said to the congregation, "It ain't no use to look for no particular text, it's all good." And so it is with the vote throughout th state. It is no use to look for the locality showing the best vote, it is all good and I appreciate the loyalty and assistance of my many friends WILLIS E. MOTHERS' DAY GREAT FEATURI

two Hundred and Twenty-Fiv Mothers of Alliance and Vicinity Attend Service

The "Mothers' Day" observance on last Thursday was a great featur of the last week of the revival mee ings which were conducted by Evan gelist Hamilton and Prof. Gould a the Alliance M. E. church. The re quest, "Wear a white flower for mother's sake," received a generou response. White carnations on th lapels of men's coats were in ev dence on the streets and in the store during the day.

The service in the church, at 2:3 p. m., was unique, differing from any service ever before held in Alliance and was intensely interesting to a who attended, except perhaps th wee tots who were too young to pa any attention to it. There were 22 mothers present, besides many other

When the time arrived to open th service, Evangelist Hamilton re quested the audience to spend fiv minutes visiting with others nea them, after which he called for th singing of old songs. Memories the older persons were refreshed t the singing of many splendid ol time favorites. At the close of th singing, Dr. Hamilton asked the mothers to tell in what states the were born and from what states the came to Nebraska. Besides the man states of this country that wer named, other countries were men tioned, including Canada, England Wales, Germany and Switzerland Then came the giving of ages to a certain who was the oldest mothe present, ranging all the way from 6 to 85. Mrs. Lyda Corbett, 85 year of age, was the oldest. A beautifu bouquet was presented to her. Mrs. Corbett lives with her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Wright, ave miles west of A

Prof. Gould sang a sole, "Mothe Knows," following which Evangelia Hamilton gave a fine address on the subject, "Mother."

ORGANIZED FOR BIBLE STUDY

Young Men of Methodist Church Organizing for Systematic Bible Study in Sunday School

The young men's class of the Methodist Sunday School is being organized into what is known as a Bible Study Class. This is in conformity with a movement among Sunday experience of those who have tried this method that nothing compares with it for promoting Christian fel-lowship and Bible study, and encouraging work among strangers, especially among young people. This organization must not be taken for the Young Men's Bible Club, which is an inter-denominational club, but is a part, and subject to the rules, of the Methodist Sunday School. The lessons are to be handled as heretofore, but the class will be working through their committees in getting new members, keeping after delinquent members, arranging social events, and in giving the movement the publicity it de-
