GENUINE SOUTH AMERICAN PANAMAS

Panamas from the West Coast of South America are the only hats that are Really Genuine Panamas And They Wear for Years

THEY ARE MADE OF THE VERY STRONG, TOUGH FIBRE THAT GROWS ONLY IN THAT SECTION OF THE WORLD—THEY DON'T COST ANY MORE THAN IMITATIONS THAT OFTEN DO NOT LAST A SINGLE SEASON.

The shipping depot is located fifteen days' journey back from the coast, in the interior mountainous country where the Panamas are woven by the Indians and brought in to trade at the depot where the hats are prepared and packed for shipment. There are no railroads in this entire district. The journey to the coast is made by mule-back for eight days, and thence by river to coast port, where the steamer calls, taking the hats to Panama to be transferred by railroad to Colon, and thence by steamer to this country, the entire journey taking about two months' time.

Reasonably Priced $4, $5, $6, $7 and $8

GENUINE BALIUAG BUNTAL HATS

THE NEWEST THING IN HATS

HAND WOVEN BY NATIVES IN BULACAN, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS Baliuag Buntal Hats are very scarce, and bring very high prices on account of the beautiful weaving, extreme lightness, and great durability. They are very strong and will wear for years and years with reasonable care. Made only by the natives of Bulacan, Luzon, P. I., from the fibre of the Buri Palm. The best and lightest hat in existence.

WEAVING A SINGLE HAT TAKES FROM 3 WEEKS TO 3 MONTHS

One Price, $15.00

We have a big assortment of sizes—and we want you to come in and inspect these lines critically—give them any kind of a test. A Panama is always a paying investment because they wear for years. They are cool, comfortable, and always fit the head. We want you to understand that these are not "imitations"—and that the Laing guarantee goes with every one sold. Now is the time to buy.
