Events in the Social Realm

The students' recital held on Thursday evening last proved a very popular meeting place for those interested both in the ones taking part and in that kind of entertainment. The program consisted of many pleasing numbers, among which was a reading by Madeline Zediker; piano solo, Vera Lowry; piano solo, Lena Panivitz; vocal solos, Miss Mabel Sward; violin solo, George Vandervoort; piano solo, Dorothy Hurst; piano solo, Dorothy Hampton; reading, Ruth Stanton; piano solo, Cecil Weidenhamer; reading, Tressa Vandervoort; piano solo, Katherine Schill; vocal solos, Mrs. Fraker, Paul Thomas very effectively accompanying on the violin for the last number; reading, Mrs. Reynolds; piano solo, Grace Spacht. The entire evening was one of enjoyment and interest, and even standing room was at a premium, proving to the directors of the event and the people of the city in general that these entertainments are becoming very widely enjoyed. Miss Burnett, teacher of voice; Miss Gifford, teacher of expression; Mrs. Zediker, teacher of piano; and Mr. Unlacke, teacher of violin; are feeling very satisfied over their efforts and those of the ones taking part, which afforded so much pleasure on this occasion, and they certainly deserve the intelligent co-operation of everyone in Alliance to make such events more appreciated than ever.

On Friday evening, October 29, at the Methodist parsonage, occurred the marriage of Clarence E. Moore of Lakeside and Miss Erma S. Pyle of Pawlett, the Rev. J. B. Carns officiating. Soon after the ceremony, the happy couple departed on their honeymoon trip, which they expected to spend in Denver and other western points. We understand that the groom owns a ranch at Lakeside, but that the newly weds intended to go to Texas and perhaps look into a proposition which would result in them remaining there permanently. Wherever they decide to make their home, the Herald joins with the friends in wishing them a happy journey thru life.

The members of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. C. Pearson, on Monday evening of this week. The occasion was among the last of the Halloween festivities but none the less enjoyed. The company heartily entered into the games suggested for entertainment, and an Edison furnished music for the event. "Ghosts" greeted the party as they entered the house after arrival, and the rooms were prettily decorated with the colors suggesting the season of the year. Near the close of the happily spent evening hours, a lunch was served and everyone pronounced it the "finest ever". It is hoped that there will be many more such enjoyable evenings for the young people of this society.

Mrs. James Hunter will be hostess for the Woman's Club at her home Friday afternoon of this week, and a very interesting program has been planned for the occasion. After the roll call responded to with current events, there will be put before the members a very important subject, and undoubtedly the anticipations will be realized during the discussion. This subject will be handled in the form of a debate and the matter under consideration will be "Resolved, that life is what you make it." The affirmative will be conducted by Mesdames Lunn, Hunter and Laing, while the negative side, including Mesdames Rowan, Mote and Pate, promise a lively discussion of their assumed point of view. Miss Beatrice Pate has consented to render an instrumental solo, and viewing the meeting from every angle, we are sure that it will be one full of interest, and during the closing of the afternoon hours an informal time will be had and refreshments served will add to the pleasantness of the event.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spencer, 1004 Cheyenne avenue, on Saturday evening last, was the scene of merry festivities suggesting Halloween and the autumn season. The Misses Alice Campbell and Flora Spencer entertained a number of their little friends and each one wore masquerade costumes which kept all in attendance guessing as to who each one was. The rooms had been tastefully decorated for the occasion and the refreshments served in the form of a two-course luncheon were satisfying to the little guests, and each one heartily enjoyed the games. The list of guests included Helen Newberry, Ruth Hawes, Helen Young, Ruth Stanton, Dorothy Hampton, Dorothy Hurst, Lois Wildy, Ruth Wildy, Margaret Zehrunz, Lurea Lunn, Mildred Pate, Elizabeth Wilson, Josephine Wilson, Inna Ellis, Evelyn Ellis, Alice Schill, Verna Dow, Aeneath Schill, Kathryn Baker, Ruby Campbell, Pearl Campbell, Francis Schott, Ruth Donovan, Marjorie Grebe. When the little folks departed for their homes they surely felt that their hostesses had proved themselves delightful entertainers.

A very much satisfied audience listened to the lecture Monday evening at the Methodist church, under the auspices of the Epworth League, when David V. Bush greeted them and entertained for a short time. It has been said of him that he had his hearers from the very first sentence, and every succeeding one was full of humor, instruction and interest.

There was a very social gathering at the parish house of St. Matthews church Monday evening when the members and friends of that church met to spend the evening. The ones in attendance seemed to improve the opportunity of showing their sociability and the evening passed off very profitably and with the anticipation of similar gatherings in the future.

If one had not been informed as to whether the Elks and their friends enjoyed themselves at the "hard-time" dance and party on last Friday evening at the Elks club rooms, they had but to gaze on the faces of some of the people who had the pleasure of attending and the story was soon told. The event proved up to the anticipation of those participating, and those not included in the list of guests surely missed a good time. The costumes were amusing and a great deal of laughter was created. The very delicious repast planned and served by some of the ladies connected with members of the club was fully appreciated and pronounced unexcelled.

W. R. Harper very delightfully entertained a company of his gentlemen friends Tuesday evening, and it is rumored that the occasion was one full of pleasure. The hours were spent in a very informal way, and refreshments added to the sociability of the evening. Mr. Harper proved himself a hospitable host.

The Rebekahs entertained at their rooms last Friday evening, and the time was very much enjoyed. The early evening hours were devoted to cards and a social spirit prevailed. After a bounteous Halloween lunch, the guests entered into the playing of other games and the time was heartily enjoyed.

The Y. M. B. C.'s will hold their regular meeting at the M. E. church this evening, and the young men interested will no doubt enjoy the time. At the last meeting it was decided to loan the piano and other furniture belonging to the club to the City Mission, this organization in return furnishing a room where the young men can hold their meetings and have a general meeting place. This is one more step toward the much desired goal, and surely there should be renewed and persistent effort to advance, so that it may not be so very far in the dim future before larger and better quarters are provided in which the deserving young men of the locality may find a home and a congenial place to spend leisure hours.

The O. E. S. met in their chapter room Tuesday evening and a good attendance was present. Regular business was attended to and a social time enjoyed.

Through the courtesy of Horace Bogue, the children are to be entertained from 4 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the public library. A So-nora concert, which all the children will appreciate, and at the same time be beneficial, has been arranged for, and we are sure that everyone of the young folks will be on hand early to listen to the very first number. The records furnished promise to amuse and interest, and all will want to be present for the whole time.

Mrs. William Davidson will entertain the Eastern Star ladies at her home on Saturday afternoon next. The ladies will meet for Kensington and a very informal time is expected.

Mrs. H. P. Toohy was the gracious hostess at a 1:30 luncheon at her home, 324 1/2 Box Butte, on last Saturday afternoon. The rooms were prettily decorated in the autumnal colors and Halloween place cards and score cards were presented to each guest. After the elaborate and delicious luncheon, the afternoon hours were spent with bridge and Kensington, and a delightful time enjoyed.

Miss Sophia Urbanovsky and Henry Halbur, both of Hemingford, were married at the Catholic church in their home town, Father Keiser officiating at the happy nuptial. The groom is an industrious farmer of that locality and is able in every way to make a pleasant home for the bride, who in her place will arrange the new home to meet every need. Congratulations to these two happy people, and may they spend many years of prosperity and joy.

A very happy ceremony was performed at the M. E. parsonage Wednesday morning, November 3, at 10:30 o'clock, when Rev. J. B. Carns united in holy wedlock Miss Polly Hancock and Jesse Chilson. The couple were attended by Miss Dolly Trenkle, a close friend of the bride, who came here for the event from her home at Ellsworth, this state, and Ed Borst, a friend of the groom. The newly weds are well and favorably known in the locality near Alliance, and many friends wish them great happiness. They departed soon for the new home there to immediately take up the duties and pleasures awaiting them and best wishes of all go with them as they enter the new walk of life.

The members and friends of the M. E. Ladies' Aid were entertained at the pleasant home of Mrs. Oscar O'Bannon Wednesday afternoon of this week. This meeting was not the time for the usual refreshments served once a month, but the generous hospitality of the hostess decreed that lunch must be the order of event at this occasion and such was appreciated. A short program had also been arranged for which included a duet by Mrs. Lunn and Mrs. W. W. Johnson, a reading by Miss Leone Mallory, and an instrumental solo by Mrs. Ward Norton. An Edison also furnished music and entertainment for the guests and the occasion proved to be one of unusual benefit and sociability.

A literary society has been organized consisting of Junior and Senior pupils who belong to the English classes of the high school, this society to meet every three weeks at different homes. The name which the young people have selected is "Demosthenian", and the study for this year will be on Demosthen and his works. This society will meet Monday evenings, and the meetings are open to all pupils in the high school. The officers of the society are: Mildred Campbell, president; Teressa Morrow, vice president; and Everett O'Keefe, secretary and treasurer.

Jerome Fleming was a gracious host to some of his young men and lady friends Saturday evening when he gave a very prettily appointed dinner party in compliment to Ralph McKenzie of Lincoln, who has come to Alliance to remain a short time at least. Covers were laid for twenty-one, and the decorations of the room and table were unusually well arranged, colors used being those of Halloween, and the bright pumpkins, added to the occasion. The dinner was elaborate and after a pleasant time spent at the home the party went to the dance in the opera house and enjoyed the remainder of the evening hours. Among the list of guests were Misses Helen Rice, Edith Reddish, Grace Carlson, Mabel Young, Margaret Harris, Helen Schott, Hannah Cotant, and Messrs. Hugh Davenport, Joe Williams, Morris Nelson, Noel Young, William Cotant, Ralph McKenzie, Homer Barnes, Earl Barnes, Boyd Hamilton, Marvin Dickinson, Ed Freshia, Ivan Acheson.

The members of the high school faculty and of the classes of the high school joined in merry Halloween festivities at the high school gymnasium last Friday evening. The event was a masquerade party and in the manner in which the ones in attendance kept their identity unknown was a humorous feature of the occasion. The seniors furnished the entertainment, the juniors decorated, using orange and black colors, while the sophomores in their turn arranged for the refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Cotant and Mr. and Mrs. Mollring were patrons and joined with the young folks in the spirit of the event. The "gypsy" was there to prophesy the futures of all, and games suitable for the evening were heartily enjoyed.

Mrs. M. F. Donovan was hostess to the members of the Baptist Aid Wednesday afternoon and a large number were present. This meeting took the form of a special service for thoughts and arrangements for the arrival of a pastor for the charge. Delicious refreshments were served and an informal time enjoyed.

A Choral Society under the direction of Miss Eunice Burnett has been organized and a great deal of interest is being shown in the work. Voices will be tested Tuesday and Friday of each week at the School of Music, at 8 p. m., and from now until November 15 any one will be welcome to join this company of singers.

TWO CARS BURNED

Smoker and Chair Car on No. 43 Burned to the Trucks Near Whitman Saturday

Fire of unknown cause completely destroyed the smoker and chair car on No. 43 a few miles the other side of Whitman Saturday. When it was discovered, it had gained such headway that the chemicals on board proved ineffective. The train was stopped, the passengers transferred to other cars before anyone was hurt, and it was quickly decided to run to the water tank at Whitman, if possible, and quench the flames there. But before half the distance had been completed the chair car was a mass of flames and it was feared that if the course was followed the train would catch fire. Accordingly, the chair car was left behind and an effort was made to get to the tank with the smoker, but it was soon blazing as badly as the chair car and had to be abandoned also, being set on a side track.

The wrecker was sent out of here at once to remove the trucks of the chair car so the train could proceed, and this made 43 several hours late, arriving here about 5 o'clock. The supposition is that the fire started from a hot box.

Ford Garage Moved

This week the Keeler-Coursey company moved from the McCorkle building to the fine new Keeler building on east Third. This makes them one of the finest homes of any garage in the state, and in addition to providing more working room, gives several hundred square feet more display space. The McCorkle building, which they vacated, will be occupied after this week by the Reo garage.

A NEW GARAGE

George Ellis Will Open for Business in the Norton Building—Vacated by Reo Garage

Next week George Ellis will open for business in the Norton building, now being vacated by the Reo garage, with an up-to-date repair and accessory house. George was formerly with the Reo garage, but resigned to go into business for himself.

An entire new set of machinery has been ordered and will be here this week, in time for the opening. The proprietor of the new garage has had several years' experience, has a wide acquaintance among automobile owners in this part of the country, and will no doubt receive his share of the business.

How to Prevent Croup

It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Johns, Elida, Ohio, relates her experience as follows: "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that croupy cough I would give him one or two doses of it and it would break the attack. I like it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly, and it is safe and reliable." Obtainable everywhere.

WHAT THEY THINK OF MARKET WEEK

thing. I didn't expect much the first year, but by all means it should be held again next year. I think it will grow in interest with each succeeding year.

Percy Cogswell—"To my mind it was a success, and if held next year it would excite more interest and bring larger crowds to town. However, it should be timed so that it will not catch the farmers in an extremely busy season."

St Miller—"I think it was a good thing, but that it came at a time when the farmers were too busy to come to town. I don't think there was enough music, and if it is held next year there should be either a band playing every day or else a good carnival company should be secured for the week, or both, if possible."

George Mollring—"It's all right. But we would have had much more business if every farmer hadn't been busy that week. I believe it can be made a grand success in time."

Harry Mollring—"With a little more co-operation among the business men it can be made a success. The farmers were too busy last week, and again, we shouldn't expect too much for the first year. I believe next year will show decidedly different results."

L. E. Moxon—"I believe it was worth all it cost, and that it will be bigger and better next year."

Frank J. Was—"I was greatly pleased with Market Week, but was disappointed that the farmers could not get in. The amusements were good and well worth seeing, and it should be made a permanent yearly event."

E. G. Laing—"Regardless of what anyone else thinks or says, it was a big success. Possibly we didn't have the largest crowd in the world, but we got some advertising that we couldn't possibly buy."

F. E. Holsten—"I think it was all right, and that we got some good advertising out of it. I was not disappointed—it came up to my expectations for the first year, and I think it should be made an annual event. We need some kind of fall festival here, and as there is no county fair, I believe the annual Market Week will in time come to be regarded as one of the principal events in this part of the state."

W. R. Harper—"It was a good thing. We had customers during Market Week that we never had before, and they came from many miles in the country. I think this is a good beginning for a permanent annual Market Week and that it will grow each year."

Geo. D. Darling—"It was all that could be expected. Weather conditions were against us in that it was too nice for the farmers to leave their work to come to town. There was an extra lot of work for the farmers this year, anyway. I think it should be made permanent."

Horace Bogue—"I think it was all right."

I. E. Tash—"On the whole, it was good. It was of course disappointing that more farmers could not be present, but they were entirely excusable for not attending. It was a good start and should be continued, but next year a date should be set that will be more in harmony with the season and with the farmers' work."

F. W. Harris—"It was a little too early this year to obtain the best results, but it is a good beginning for a permanent annual entertainment."

L. J. Schill—"Market Week was all right, but it was almost impossible for the farmers to get away from their work so they could attend."

Al Seiffert—"It's a mighty good thing for a starter, and I think we ought to have it again next year."

W. D. Fisher—"There are several ways to look at our first Market Week. As far as a big crowd was concerned, it was not a success, but as an advertising feature—a plan to get people together—it was the biggest thing Alliance has undertaken for years. When papers and magazines not only in the state but outside of the state, will give us the space they did, Market Week certainly was worth trying. As far as bringing our people in touch, it was a success, and, after all, that is what makes a town. In my work I find that we have too many people that are apt to jeer at certain things undertaken, and in a great many cases our visitors are our biggest boosters, and this should not be the case. Of all the people that subscribed to the Market Week fund, I have yet to find three that were dissatisfied. So, after all, I would say that Market Week was a success and the very fact that several of our business men have offered to increase their subscriptions for next year shows that those who are doing the most knocking are the little bugs of the town."
