Mr. Cory took 44 for Alliance the same day. The funeral was held Tuesday forenoon. The entire community extend sympathies to the sorrowing family.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

McKELVIE'S STATEMENT REGARDING THE "DRY" AMENDMENT

In order that all voters may be apprised of the attitude of S. R. McKelvie, candidate for the nomination of governor on the Republican ticket, regarding the "dry" amendment, we publish herewith his statement which was a part of his formal announcement made last November.

The Prohibition Amendment
"In this my position is not a matter of policy—it is my conscientious belief that the prohibition amendment should prevail. On this question my record is clear. In the legislature of 1911, of which I was a member, I voted and worked for all measures intended to restrict the liquor traffic. So in keeping with my views I shall feel obliged to make a clear statement of my position upon this important question. Further than this I shall not go, except to say that it will be my purpose to enforce the law regardless of whether the prohibition amendment prevails or not.

While no doubt should be left in the minds of the voters regarding the present attitude of the candidate on the prohibitory amendment, I think McKelvie's candidacy should not be so restricted by a suggestion of his position as to lose sight of equally important issues over which the chief executive will have much greater influence and responsibility in the enactment.

"I was one of about a dozen Republican members of the house in the year 1911 who added a majority of the members of the party, then in control, to pass the initiative and referendum. Without our aid the bill could not have been passed. We did this so that the liquor question with all its pernicious connections might be removed from politics. Through that law, the question is now in the hands of the people to decide, and candidates should be relieved of the odious effects of a rough and tumble fight on the excise question.

"I shall deem it my duty to vote for the prohibition amendment, and to aid in the passage of laws which will make it operative if through the votes of the people it should prevail, but to announce my candidacy upon that issue alone I should consider an evidence of my incapacity for the office."
