What Happened in Lander

The town of Lander, Wyoming, has written a new chapter in automobile history, and incidentally has gone far to strengthen our contention, which is that

Nearly Everybody Who Wants a Motor Car Wants a Buick

A short time ago a garage in Lander caught fire. Thirty-four cars of almost as many makes were destroyed. The next day twenty-two of the owners who lost cars placed their orders for new cars, and

Out of the Twenty-Two Cars Ordered, Nineteen Were 1916 Buick Six Cylinder Cars!

Without a doubt there is no way to keep motor car buyers from buying a BUICK when they acquire a REAL KNOWLEDGE of motor cars. Overwhelming advertising campaigns, slashing prices (long allowances on used cars), dollar-down-and-dollar-a-week tactics and other selling schemes bid strong for business, but gradually the motoring public is acquiring an understanding of the great BUICK VALVE-IN-THE-HEAD principle, and this knowledge is back of the tremendous and ever-growing popularity of the BUICK car.

AGAIN WORKS FOR CITY

Frank Reed is Turned in by Bondsman and is Working Out Fine on City Streets

Frank Reed is again in the employ of the city, doing compulsory street service under the observation of the officials. Frank served one day recently in the same capacity but was discharged when Everett Cook furnished bond to appeal the case, in which he had been convicted of vagrancy, to the district court. Reed enjoyed several days of liberty and passed up four opportunities to engage in some legitimate work, and his bondsman decided the officials had not been so badly mistaken in their idea of the proper procedure. It is reported that Reed was making preparations to "skip out" and leave the bondsman to hold the sack.

LAD GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE

Harvey L. Line Convicted of Being a Delinquent, is Paroled to Father

Harvey L. Line, a fourteen year old lad, was convicted last week in county court of being a "delinquent", and was paroled to his father by County Judge L. A. Berry, with instructions to report every Saturday to Probation Officer J. W. Miller. Numerous petty offenses including the theft of small articles were charged against the boy but the officials were lenient and are giving him another chance. Any breach of his parole or any complaint made against him will cause him to be brought back into court and sentenced.

This is one of the first steps of a campaign the officials are undertaking with the view of eliminating trouble in various quarters caused by unruly boys and also with a view of correcting the bad habits of some of the youngsters and getting them started on the right track.

OPERETTA IS SUCCESS

Crowded House Is Well Pleased with Play Put on by Pupils of the Central School

That patrons of the local schools and the tax payers are interested in the work being done is evidenced by the fact that a full house greeted the pupils of the Central school Friday night when they put on the operetta "The Golden Sickle," at the Phelan opera house. The total receipts for the evening's entertainment were $107.25.

The play itself was excellent and the specialties between acts were also fine. The whole program reflected much credit on the teachers of the school who labored so diligently and faithfully for several weeks training the young people for this event. Miss Della Abbott was in charge of the affair, and she was ably assisted by Misses Mary Anderson, Esther Terry, Pauline Scott and other teachers of the school.

The only unpleasant thing about the evening's program was the showing made by one of the lads who played an important part, and in justice to this lad we want to explain that, in the face of circumstances which could not be avoided, he stayed with his part and did the best he could after having contracted a severe cold at the last minute, when it was too late for anyone else to take the part. His willingness to go ahead in the face of the conditions is very much to his credit.

Following the program Miss Abbott entertained the teachers of the school, the principal, G. M. Burns, and wife, and her sister and brother-in-law, from Crawford, at the Alliance Cafe.

TO RE-OPEN CANNERY

Kearney Plant Closed for Year Will Resume Work Coming Season

Kearney, Nebr., March 14—It was announced here definitely today that the Kearney canning factory would resume operations this season, after having been shut down for the past year. The factory was built here four years ago and operated for one year as a local stock company plant. The second year it was turned over to a private company and last year its operation was suspended. While the demand and all orders could not be filled, the trouble seemed to lie in the fact that not sufficient crops of corn and tomatoes were raised in this vicinity. The plant was not a money making venture and has still outstanding against it $9,000 in unpaid stock. The old stockholders have again taken hold of the plant and hope to develop it into a paying proposition this year.

KEARNEY GOES DRY

After Many Years Saloons Voted Out by Big Majority

Kearney, Nebr., March 14 — As soon as the present licenses have expired this spring, saloons in Kearney will be no more. At the annual spring election here today the dries won their fight by a majority of 322. The contest had attracted a lot of attention not only in Kearney but in other cities, as this was the first time the saloon question had been submitted in Nebraska this year, and some thought it might furnish an indication as to how the state would vote in the fall. Kearney has been wet for years.

HEMINGFORD MAN PAYS DOUBLE FOR THIS STEER

Owner Recovers Stolen Steer in Replevin Suit Brought in Box Butte County Court

Some weeks ago George Young, of Hemingford, bought a steer and paid $40 for it. Last week in county court judgment was rendered against him for $54.80, costs in a replevin suit brought by Jos. Smith of Bayard and Smith was awarded the steer. To date Young is out $40 in cash, has a judgment standing against him for $54.80, and hasn't anything to show for it.

This was one of the steers stolen from Smith and for which Eli Holt is awaiting trial in the district court of Morrill county.

The steer was bought at a sale at Hemingford by Cal Wildy, who in turn sold it to Mr. Young. Judge Berry held that the steer was wrongfully in the possession of Young, hence he is liable for costs.

The plaintiff, Mr. Smith, was represented in court by Attorney Eugene Burton and the defendant was represented by B. F. Gilman.
