When a man among us is always criticizing his neighbors, it is only a matter of time when he is likely to be called upon to explain wherein he could do better, and nothing lowers such a man in public esteem so effectually as to fall down in his explanation. Such is the position of the once grand old republican party at present. It has "chewed the rag" right along ever since it learned to know Woodrow Wilson. The president has had a difficult task to steer the ship of state safely, with breakers on every side. Now, the time approaches when the people must choose a commander for another four years. Will they change commanders just to please a mere whim, or will they trust the one who has guided them safely so far, or will they trust themselves to the guidance of a new captain, who says he can steer a better course, but doesn't tell us how he is going to do it—Bridgeport Herald.

In his letter to the Progressive National Committee, largely devoted to a discussion of the support given by the German-American Alliance to Mr. Hughes and the reasons for his own defeat, Colonel Roosevelt included the following characteristic statement:

It is folly to pay heed to any of the promises in the platform on which he (President Wilson) now stands, in view of the fact that almost every important promise on which he stood four years ago has since been broken. It is a maxim of the courts that when a witness is false in one statement he may be regarded as false in all.

The Democratic party, in its platform of 1912, promised tariff reform, and tariff reform is now a fact. It promised additional and more constructive laws for the regulation of corporations and the Clayton anti-trust law is the result.

The platform commented upon the passage by Congress of an amendment to the Constitution to permit the enactment of an income tax law and another amendment providing for the direct election of Senators—the resolutions for the two amendments having been put through by the Democratic party—and both laws are now written upon the statute books.

There was a plank for banking and currency reform and the promise has had its fulfillment in the best banking system ever given to the people of the United States and is generally approved by the financial world.

A rural credits system was promised to the farmers of the country who had been promised such reform by the Republican party for twenty years without fulfillment. As a result of the ascendancy of the Democratic party to power, as a result of President Wilson's leadership, both branches of Congress have now passed a rural credits measure which eventually will enable tenant farmers to own their own land without encumbrance. The Democratic measure was passed almost unanimously in both branches, the Republicans being obliged to give it their approval.

Another of the important planks in the Democratic platform was one advocating agricultural co-operation with the states. Such co-operation, with a new and modern marketing system, federal aid in road building and other aids to the farmer, is now a reality.

Justice to labor and the conservation of the rights of labor were promised in the platform of 1912 and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has said that more was done for the laboring people under the leadership of President Wilson and under the Democratic party than under any previous administration.

Conservation of the natural resources of the country was promised and there has been progressive conservation, accompanied by sane development. No administration has ever had a more efficient operation of the Interior Department.

The spirit of the platform as well as its letter have been upheld. The Democratic party has gone even further. Giving the answer to his own characteristic statement, with his well known agility, Colonel Roosevelt in the same letter to the Progressive National Convention, says:

The Progressive movement has been given an incalculable impetus by what the Progressive party has done. Our strongest party antagonists have accepted and enacted into law, or embodied in their party platforms, VERY MANY OF OUR MOST IMPORTANT PRINCIPLES. Much has been accomplished in awakening the public to a better understanding of the problems of social and industrial welfare.

No party in the history of the nation has ever written upon the statute books a greater body of progressive and constructive laws. Labor has given its approval of the laws written by the Democratic party to conserve the interests of labor. No greater advance has ever been made in the interest of the farmer since the republic was founded, and the farmers themselves, more prosperous and more enlightened than ever before, have given their endorsement to what has been done in their behalf.

Real reforms have been accomplished in the interest of all the people. There has never been a time when the reserves of the national banks of the country, representing the prosperity of the people, have been larger.

What has been done by President Wilson for the greater liberty, freedom and prosperity of the American people constitutes the finest record of any American statesman.

In times like these, when the whole world has been rent by war, when the United States itself has been imperiled, President Wilson, compelled as he has been to give the major part of his attention to the critical problems involving the peace and honor of the nation, might well have been excused if he had not been able to complete his record of internal reforms. But he has been as successful in his domestic accomplishments as he has been in his handling of foreign affairs and in upholding the honor and dignity of the nation.

So complete has been the president's success in handling domestic problems that no domestic issue has been raised against him. In the absence of domestic issues, his opponents have tried to find an issue in the still delicate situation involving the peace and honor of the nation which the president, with a statesmanship in harmony with the best traditions of the United States, has been upholding.

Forcing the respect of the world and compelling the recognition of American rights, twice compelled to raise the mailed fist, the president has left no doubt that America, more powerful but with the same spirit that prevailed in '76, stands ready to defend with lives and treasure its new-found freedom and its old-time honor.

The president and the Democratic party enter the present campaign, challenging comparison of its promises and performances with the promises and performances of the Republican party in the days when it was the dominant party.

It challenges comparison of the military, naval, industrial, economic and spiritual preparations of the past three years with the weak structures that were left to President Wilson as a heritage from his immediate predecessors. It challenges comparison of its deeds with the vague promises of those who have fumbled in their efforts to find an issue.

We Ask the Attention of Every Reader of This Paper Today

Ninety-six per cent of all the people in the United States earn less than $2,000 a year.

Therefore it behooves every one of you to learn to read this paper day by day with two purposes. One, that you may post yourself upon the general news. The other, that you may post yourself upon the advertising news.

The day is past when anyone can afford to overlook this second feature. It is the road to economy in every home. There isn't a day passes when money cannot be saved or when better goods cannot be bought for the same money simply by following carefully the advertising news that is published here.

The reason for this is very simple: advertising is the cheapest, quickest and best method of salesmanship that has yet been found.

Therefore the most progressive merchants advertise.

And naturally, when you want the cheapest or the best article of any kind, it is fair to assume that the most progressive men will have it for sale.

Every shrewd merchant advertises in this paper because there are thousands of you readers eager to see his advertising when it appears.

He knows that you are looking for whatever good merchandise news he has to offer. And if any merchant so far discounts your value to him as not to advertise in the paper you read, you can equally well afford to discount his value to you.

If any merchant is so careless as to overlook the great combined purchasing value of thousands of you readers every day, the chances are he is overlooking many a good merchandise value when it comes his turn to go into the markets and buy.

So learn, not only to read the advertising news in this paper every day, but learn also to rely upon it for everything you need.

There isn't one family that cannot reduce its cost of living at any time simply by carefully reading and buying entirely through the advertising pages of this paper day by day.

The Originators of Low Prices in Alliance

University Historical Survey

Addison E. Sheldon, director of the Nebraska Legislative Bureau, was in Alliance today. Mr. Sheldon and his son Philip, who is now a senior at the State University, are conducting a University Historical Survey. They left Lincoln on the 17th of June and have been as far west as Fort Laramie. They have been getting a series of motion picture films for the university of old historical sites. They have taken pictures at old Fort Kearney, Plum Creek Station on the Oregon Trail, Fort McPherson, Ash Hollow, the battle field near Blue Creek, and a number of interesting places along the Oregon Trail like Mitchell Pass. They spent a week at Fort Laramie getting scenes of the old fort. They are now going to Chadron, Fort Robinson and Pine Ridge where they plan to make films of the most interesting historical scenes. These films will be used at state fairs, at the university and by state associations.

Lose Pigs—Insurance Company Pays
O'Bannon Bros. of Alliance were on the Omaha market Wednesday with a car of 300-pound hogs, ten of them were found smothered in the car on its arrival here, due to smoke resulting from the flames of a hot box. Fortunately the owner of this shipment had them protected with a Hartford Live Stock Indemnity policy and the hogs were paid for in full at the market price. Shippers who are not carrying this insurance should take out a policy immediately. It protects against all losses resulting from any cause.—Daily Drivers Journal, Omaha.

School Gardening Demonstration
Mrs. Emma F. Ort, of the University Extension Service, will give a series of canning demonstrations to the members of the Alliance School Gardening Club. The first demonstration will be on Monday of next week at 1:15 p. m., and a second meeting Tuesday at 9 a. m. These meetings will be held in the Domestic Science laboratory at the Central school building. Anyone interested in this work is cordially invited to attend. Miss Ort's plan is to have the children do the canning themselves, and since this is the case, each member should bring to class a good glass jar and enough vegetables to fill the jar. Beets and beans or peas will be the vegetables canned at the first meeting.

To Raise Hospital Building Funds
A meeting of interested Alliance citizens is to be held at the Commercial Club office this evening for the purpose of discussing means and laying plans for the raising of funds for the new St. Joseph hospital building. The officers of the St. Joseph Hospital Building Association are R. M. Hampton, president; H. A. Copney, treasurer; J. W. Guthrie, secretary; who with C. E. Slagle and C. A. Newberry compose the executive committee.

Methodist Church Announcement
On Sunday, July 23, Dr. Wickersham will address the Sunday school at 10 a. m. There will be no preaching at the church at 11, as the congregation will go to the chautauqua tent to listen to the morning sermon. There will be a special Epworth League exercise on the Grassman lawn, and no evening services at the church on account of services at the chautauqua grounds.

Sixteen cars of Oil Derailed at Casper
On July 14, at 6:25 a. m., extra 3165 was derailed three miles east of Sodium on the Burlington railroad. No one was injured. There were sixteen cars of oil on the train and one ignited when it was derailed but the fire was extinguished before it had made much headway. Conductor R. E. Stein and Engineer Beckley were in charge. The main line was blocked for a short time and passenger trains No. 29 and 30 were detoured between Casper and Powder River.

One day last week, while at the Burlington depot at noon, Marshal Wheeler was accosted by a Box Butte county resident who insisted that the marshal arrest his father, who was leaving on the noon train for the east. The marshal inquired the reason and was informed that the father, a veteran of the Civil War, was deserting his wife and going to Lincoln. The marshal had no right to arrest the veteran, who continued on his journey.

Notice to Non-Resident Defendant
You will take notice that L. H. Highland on the 14th day of July, 1916, commenced an action before T. D. Roberts, a Justice of the peace in and for Box Butte County, Nebraska, against Mrs. Anna Zehrunz, the object and prayer of which are to obtain a judgment, in attachment against defendant in the amount of $31.04 and interest upon one certain promissory note executed by defendant to plaintiff, and costs of this action.

You are required to answer the bill of particulars filed in said action before the 15th day of August, 1916, or judgment will be rendered against you by default.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.
