Warning Against Asphyxiation
During the filling of the silo, there is danger of death from asphyxiation by carbon dioxide, says the department of chemistry of the College of Agriculture, Lincoln. Large amounts of the gas are produced in the silo from the green crop, and may collect in dangerous quantities if conditions become favorable. To avoid accumulations of the gas, doors should be left open as long as possible. Men should not stay in the silo when the blower is not running, and especially they should not lie on the fresh silage. If the work has been interrupted for any length of time, men should not again enter the silo until the blower has been running for a few minutes. This removes the dangerous gases. In the case of a pit silo, men should never remain in the silo when the blower is not running, and the blower should always be started before anyone enters the silo.

FAVOR THE HOSPITAL

Alliance Citizens Continue to Express Approval of Movement to Enlarge the Building

The Herald last week published a number of interviews with leading Alliance citizens regarding the campaign for funds to erect the new building for St. Joseph's hospital. Below will be found additional interviews on the subject.

W. J. Mahaffy, dentist: "We need an enlarged hospital. We need it at once and badly. I am glad to know that the sisters have undertaken this and think that everyone will be glad to render some support. The man who will not endorse the necessity here of such a hospital would be very little in his vision."

R. M. Hampton, vice president of First National Bank: "I have watched with interest the growth and work of St. Joseph's hospital and for a long time I have felt the necessity of an enlarged hospital. It was with great pleasure that I learned that the sisters as an act of faithfulness had decided upon erecting a building that would not only adequately meet their own needs but also the growing claim to be the center. On the ground of humanity it will certainly appeal to all our citizens and I feel confident that all who can will regard it so and give it their most generous support."

Harry F. Thiele, druggist: "Do I endorse the hospital? I certainly do. It is a most needed institution and a necessary organization for the community. We all join in giving it our support."

E. G. Laing, proprietor Modern Clothes for Men: "I have seen the building in the course of erection and recognize it to be a very beautiful one. This institution is much needed in this community and will reflect great credit upon the city of Alliance."

Eugene Hall, of the firm of Hall & Graham: "While I am not entirely familiar with a hospital I recognize the great need of one in our community and this one is all right."

Charles Tully, well known stockman: "Everybody knows the need of a hospital and we all feel that it is not large enough to accommodate the needs of this growing community."

George W. Duncan, county commissioner: "It is a good thing. We need an enlarged hospital and we ought to give the sisters our undivided support."

Fred E. Holsten, druggist and vice president of Alliance National Bank: "We ought to have a hospital adequate for all the needs of this and adjacent community. We are all interested, I think, in giving the praise and devotion of the sisters in charge our encouragement. I feel that these sisters are the only ones who could succeed in an institution of this character here in the west. It is their life-work and they are consecrated to it without any financial support."

W. J. Root, cashier of First State Bank: "We need an enlarged hospital badly. The sisters at the head of this institution deserve great credit for going ahead and erecting such a splendid building for the purpose for which it is designed."

Ed Henry of Lowry & Henry: "Any endorsement that I may give the hospital will be sincere on my part, for I recognize the necessity of it in our community. It is one of the best institutions that Alliance can possibly possess."

W. O. Barnes, well known business man: "While I have never had any special need for a hospital, still I have always regarded it as one of the greatest things for humanity in the world and we are especially favored in having such an institution in our midst. It certainly deserves and will receive the generous support of all the people residing in this portion of Nebraska."

Harry E. Gantz, attorney, associate of Wm. Mitchell: "There can be no doubt as to the need of an enlarged hospital. That part of western Nebraska that lies adjacent to Alliance has so grown in recent years that it makes the enlargement of the hospital imperative, and as such, it deserves the generous support of every member of this constituency."

W. R. Harper, proprietor of W. R. Harper Department Store: "For some time it has been generally known that the sisters of St. Joseph's hospital have been hampered by lack of room and more facilities than they at present have at their command. When we observe the wonderful work that has been accomplished in this community under past difficulties any public spirited citizen is inspired by the thought of the service that might be rendered by this praiseworthy institution if the sisters could have accommodations and facilities to care for a larger number of applicants for admission to the hospital. The citizens of Alliance and vicinity should aid this movement liberally in financing and maintaining a strictly up-to-date, modern institution."

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea
"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.
