Political Echoes

The alarm failed to go off in time Saturday night for Spooky Ben to get to the Democratic Jollification. He was invited.

Now that election is over there will probably be an increased passenger traffic. Defeated candidates and members of their immediate families will be taking that much-planned vacation.

He who laughs last laughs best.

There were some men at the Democratic Jollification Saturday night—invited to see the fun if you please—who did not enjoy this program near as well as the Republican affair staged at the same place Tuesday night.

Spooky Ben came out with a nice big black head that imparted the following information: "Wilson is President." The ghost for once was cautious. He didn't want to throw any greater scare into his republican echoes than possible and so he informed his readers that the president is president. So is a newspaper a newspaper except when it is mostly fiction. Gosh, but it must have hurt to even admit that Wilson is president. Then the ghost walked.

One republican gentleman of no mean size is suffering this week because of broken expectations. This gentleman, who is closely related to the republican county central committee, was heard to remark at the Opera House Tuesday night—when the returns seemed to indicate the election of Hughes—that "this ought to put me in line for something pretty good."

One democrat this week remarked—"The democrats in Box Butte county this year won out in spite of themselves." Wonder what he means.

Friend Hawper was at the Jollification. He had a good time admiring his picture. It pleased him so much when he saw it in the Jubilee Parade that he doubled up with laughter. He followed the picture of the millionaire merchant to the opera house and watched it steadily until after the doings when he hooked it. Hawper said, "This is as good as a page in the Herald." Thanks.

Squire Bushnell was so tickled Tuesday night while reading the election returns to that audience of democrats that in his squirming he tore his shirt. He didn't mind it at the time for he figured he had more than that coming the next day. Well—what about it—nuf sed.

There were no crutches thrown into the fire at the Jollification Saturday night, but it is stated on good authority that if affairs had continued as they started out Tuesday night there would have been a couple of them discarded.

Yes, Yes, Pauline. It must be hard to "fess up after the daylight has come and we can read the truth.

Uncle Josh says: "I found this scrap of paper across from that thar Times office yesterday. It says, says it—'Dear Peepul: You are most ungrateful to me. Here I have been fitting your bottles for you all. Here I have been bleeding and dying twice a week of late that the great common people may be taken out of bondage, that the fetters held tight by Cox and to be held by Uhrig might be unloosed. And you turned me down cold. Oh, deer people it is awful. But that is not all. Think of it—just think of it—there is a democrat on the board of commissioners, and I am a republican, a poor wee bit of a republican, and I'm hungry and cold and I need a coat and there is wood to cut. Oh, me! oh my!"

Three for you," signaled the leading snoozer to the millionaire candidate as the editor, general manager and publisher of the Thursday Snoozer walked down the street on election day. Sure, Mike, page ads must be paid for in some way.

"It sure is expensive to keep it a goin' even tho' only a little paper at that," said one of the "keepers" as he dug down into his jeans last week for another slice off his easy money salary and glanced into the mirror to see if his (?) hair was turning gray.

The hardest work some people have done for a long time was to bear the anxiety of watching election returns to see whether political jobs would continue for another term. Even though the days and nights were cold and crisp it would have made you think of a Texas balmy summer breeze off the gulf to be in the vicinity of some of the sweating ones.

"Trading votes" used to be a practice in some localities which brought forth good results. Sad (?) to say this election brought forth some surprises and burnt fingers to the "traders" and showed them in a surprising way that the common people really have something to say about elections, after all.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.
