

BEANS FOR SEED AT COST

The Nebraska College of Agriculture has purchased a carload of each the common Navy and the Mexican Pinto beans which they will furnish to the farmers of Nebraska at cost. The need for a greater supply of beans in this country and at this time is revealed by the high prices that prevail on this commodity. Beans have always been a good crop to grow in Box Butte county even when planted upon freshly broken sod land. They should be planted at the rate of 10 to 15 pounds per acre and from two to three inches and in moist ground. Full directions for growing beans on a commercial scale are given in a recent emergency bulletin published by the college of agriculture and for free distribution at the office of the County Agent. The price of the beans will not exceed 22 cents f. o. b. Lincoln for the Navy beans and not more than 18 cents per pound f. o. b. Sidney or Denver. The pinto beans are early maturing and are draught resistant and a good yielder, the price of this bean is about the same as the common Navy bean as there is a good commercial demand at all times for this variety.

Orders will be filled in order and if unable to supply the beans when the money which must accompany the order arrives it will be promptly returned. Orders in this county should be taken up by the County Agent.

Rheumatism

If you are troubled with chronic or muscular rheumatism give Chamberlain's Liniment a trial. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv. may

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills for constipation.—Adv.—may

THE AGE OF SANITATION

This is the age of perfect sanitation, especially in the manufacture of foods.

And no one is more particular about sanitation and cleanliness than careful Mrs. Housewife.

She is daily growing more cautious about the foodstuffs she buys, and she makes it her important duty to learn, if possible, the various methods of manufacture practiced in the factories of everything she buys.

The food article that cannot convince her that its methods of production are absolutely above reproach can find no place in her home. Its manufacturer has lost forever the careful woman as a customer.

She has read so much about sanitation and the pure food regulations that she has at last awakened to its full importance.

She cannot be too cautious in her investigations of such food products as canned goods, Baking Powder, etc.

There is one Baking Powder manufacturer, for instance, whose factory doors are always wide open to the careful housewife.

If you could visit this plant, the largest and most sanitary in the world, where Calumet Baking Powder is made, you would be amazed at the wonderful cleanliness of everything and every employee.

In this, the world's most modern Baking Powder plant, every movement in Calumet's manufacture is done by spotless machinery. No human hand ever touches the Baking Powder and it reaches you absolutely pure.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

"IF THE SHOE FITS YOU— THEN WEAR IT"

—By—
ADAM LIAR
I need a pair of shoes, a new string hat, and a few other items that will be useful in doling up. I am writing this to inform the merchants that after the paper is out this week I will be around to each of them to get their bids on a bill of goods and the merchant who, in my opinion, can save me a nickle or so in going to sell me the shoes, hat, etc. This is not the usual way, I admit, but it is the way some people buy printing. That which is good for the goose ought to be good for the lander.

All these rumors about spies and all that in this country brings to my mind an incident that happened in Iowa some little time after the big war broke out. The night editor of the paper I was on went to church one evening for the first time in years. The minister was in the heart of his sermon. The editor listened for a while and then made a hurried exit and rushed down the street and into the office. He shouted:

"What are you fellows doing? How about the news from the seat of war?"

"What news?"
"Why, all this about the Egyptian army being drowned in the Red Sea. The minister up at the church knows all about it, and you have not a word in the bulldog edition. Bustle round and get out an extra special."

My friends are certainly coming to the rescue. Several have brought in some mighty good stuff for this column. Sure, I'm going to print it, and I'll print yours also if it will pass the censor. Just bring it in or mail to Adam Liar, care Alliance Herald. That's all.

Solemn Socrates, saloons sleeping, scarcely sober, scenting scene, stealthily seeks slumber seat. Such scandal!

Sheds sandals; seeks staircase. Stops suspiciously; spouse snores serenely. Starts staggeringly, stumbles second step. Slam! Strikes sculptured Sappho surmounting stairpost. Suffering saints! Shatters statue; smashes skull, sees stars, swears something scandalous.

Spouse stirs. Shriill soprano shriek—"Socrates!" Sphinxlike silence. Second shriek—"Socrates!" Socrates still speechless. Spouse's sole strikes staircase.

"Speak, sir! Sober?" Soc scared stiff. Seeks salvation somewhere. Suddenly spies sneakthief stealing silver.

"Stop!" shouts Soc.
"Scot!" says sneakthief, showing six-shooter.

Spouse spies sneakthief. Screams superhumanly. "Sha'n't shoot Socrates! Shoot!" She shakes skirts, shielding Socrates. "Sweet Soccy!" Sneakthief stops snickering snar.

Soc donically. Spouse swoons. Soc soothes spouse; seeks slumber. She still says sneakthief smashed statue. Soc saved. Selah!

"C. E. A." hands in the following, entitled "More on Mary":

Mary had a motor car,
A cunning little Flivver,
And every time she drove it far
It jarred poor Mary's liver.

She coaxed the thing to school one day;
It made the children snicker,
But when she went to drive away
It wouldn't even flicker.

Mary lingered in the street,
And pulled each shining lever,
The things she said I won't repeat,
They're best forgot, forever.

The squirrels came from tree-tops tall
As squirrels sometimes do,
For to their lot they hoped might fall

Perhaps a nut or two.

The gasoline reserve seemed full,
And yet it would not work,
Till Mary gave a sudden pull—
Then started with a jerk.

To Mary, as her speed increased
Thus said the jeering horde,
"We thank you for the merry feast
Which we can thus afford."

Many a good woman at some time in her life stands hesitating on the brink of temptation, and it is through no missionary effort of man that so few of them take the final plunge.—S. O. S. You got the dope, old boy.

I have not met this one lately, but it was handed in, so here goes:

Mrs. Murphy had two fine boys—twins they were—and as like one another as two peas.

"How d'ye tell the wan from the other?" inquired Mrs. Flanigan of the proud mother.

"Faith, that's easy," replied Mrs. Murphy. "I puts my finger in Dinis' mouth, an' if he bites it's Moike."

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to tune up his guitar and sing under his sweetheart's window when he wanted to make love to her some spring night? His son now buys a new record and puts it on her talking machine and lets it do the work.

I see by the papers that the price of limburger cheese is going up. You ought not to cause much inconvenience, for it seems to me there are plenty of substitutes just as good which can be had without much expense.

Did you ever stop to consider the fact that when a man goes into the bank every day, it is no indication that he is getting checks cashed?

"Keep off the Grass." If there is ever a season when this more or less familiar injunction is justifiable, it is now. When tender shoots are thrusting their way through the brown remains of the last year's verdure, and when the roots which have lain through a winter's sleep are awakening into life, then it is time for the careful and heavy foot to be kept from the soft, smooth green carpet is to be laid for the summer.

The average person doesn't, as a rule, care for the "keep off" sign. But under the present conditions they constitute the safest way of preventing the destruction of the season's greenness through thoughtlessness and lack of appreciation of nature's beauty.
