Too One-Sided

Being single and his mother and sisters being well provided for by the business, a patriotic Scottish grocer decided to enlist, leaving his assistant, one Mackay, in charge. But a few months later the master was dunned to meet his late assistant attired in khaki, "somewhere in France."

"Hie, mon," he said angrily, "did I no' tell ye tae stay at hame in charge o' ma shop?"

"So I thocht at the time, maister," replied Mackay, "but I sune fun' out it wisna only the shop I was in charge o', but a yer womenfolk."

"Man, see I tae maself, gin ye've got to fecht gang an' fecht some one ye can hit!" So I jined!"—Answers.

Nailed

"Did you see that?" yelled the excited man in the Panama hat. "That robber of an umpire calls Gilligan out at third, and Rafferty never came within a foot of touchin' him."

"It looked that way to me, too," admitted the man beside him. "Still, I dare say, the umpire could see the play better from where he was than we could from up here."

"Ah, go on home!" retorted the other, savagely. "You ain't got no business goin' to a ball game. You're one of these blamed pacifists, that's what you are!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Convenient Delivery

Customer—"Send up twenty-five cents' worth of boiled ham."

Butcher—"All right, sir. Anything else?"

Customer—"Yes. If my wife isn't at home, tell the boy to put it through the keyhole!"—Life.

Lloyd's Column

Well Whitewashed

"I don't object to your marrying that young representative, Emily, but I'm afraid he doesn't stand very high in the political world."

"Oh, yes, he does, mother. He's already been investigated by five committees."—Froth.

Lloyd's Column

He Knew

"Any rags? Any old iron?" chanted the dealer, as he knocked at the suburban villa. The man of the house himself opened the door.

"No, go away," he snapt, irritably. "There's nothing for you. My wife is away."

The itinerant merchant hesitated a moment, and then inquired: "Any old bottles?"—Tit-Bits.

Lloyd's Column

Britain Lost in Suds

Rupert—"What did you do with the cuffs I left on the table last night?"

Roland—"They were so soiled I sent them to the laundry."

Rupert—"Ye gods, the entire history of England was on them!"—Widow.

How About Slippers?

Mrs. Hive—"Why are children so much worse than they used to be?"

Mrs. Bee—"I attribute it to improved ideas in building."

Mrs. Hive—"How so?"

Mrs. Bee—"Shingles are scarce, and you can't spank a boy with a tin roof."—Awwan.

Lloyd's Column

Suspicious

"What's the matter, old man? You look worried."

"Well, to be honest with you, I am. You know, I took out some life insurance last Thursday."

"Yes," replied the sympathetic friend, "but what has that to do with the wobegone expression on your face?"

"Well, the very next day after I had it written my wife bought a new cook-book. Possibly it's all right, but it certainly looks suspicious."—Kansas City Star.

Lloyd's Column

Worth the Risk

For three successive nights the new and proud father had walked the floor with the baby. On the fourth night he became desperate, and on arriving home from the office unwrapped a bottle of soothing sirup.

"Oh, James," exclaimed his wife, when she saw the label, "what did you buy that for? Don't you know it is very dangerous to give a child anything like that?"

"Don't worry," was the husband's tired reply; "I'm going to take it myself."—Tit-Bits.

Lloyd's Column

Forethought

People are learning that a little forethought often saves them a big expense. Here is an instance: E. W. Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv-june

PERU NORMAL NOTES

Summer school started June 11, with a big enrollment as usual. In spite of reports to the contrary, the full summer school program will be carried out exactly as listed in the catalog.

The commencement exercises begin with the open program of the literary societies Friday evening. Saturday was senior class day; Monday, festival of music; Tuesday, the semi-centennial celebration; and Wednesday, Commencement day, at which time approximately 190 students received diplomas and degrees.

The historic pageant was given Tuesday evening and was an enterprise of great magnitude and necessarily required a small admission fee. The net proceeds were turned over to the Red Cross and Army Y. M. C. A. Veterans of the Civil War were honor guests and were admitted without charge.

Arrangements have been made for a chautauqua to be held in Peru June 29 to July 4. The chautauqua programs will be budget events and will take the place of a summer lecture course.

A splendid recital was given last Wednesday evening by students from the departments of voice, piano and expression. The skillful manner in which the numbers were rendered testifies to the character of the work being done in these departments.

THIRD ANNUAL INDIAN CONGRESS

June 19, 20 and 21 Are the Dates of An Interesting Assemblage at Gordon, Nebr.

The Third Annual Congress of American Indians which will be held at Gordon, Nebr., on June 19, 20 and 21 this year, will be of greater interest than it has any previous years and it will be a sight never to be forgotten by those who are fortunate enough to attend.

The Indians will meet in council on the morning of the first day and this event is always interesting. A parade each morning, with the weird music and beautiful display of dress and fine horses is of ever-increasing interest.

New games—new to all but the Indian—and events will be more numerous than ever before, and many of these have never before been witnessed by only a few whites.

These in addition to the racing events will take up most of the three days and you will enjoy every minute while here.

On the 20th the vast assemblage will be addressed by the Hon. W. H. Westover, district judge of the Sixth Judicial district, on the subject, "Sheridan County's First Acquaintance with the Sioux Indian, and the Indian's Relation to the Government in the Future." That address will be answered by a prominent Indian and both addresses will be interpreted in the opposite language.

If you know Judge Westover you will know that it will be well worth your time to hear him talk and you will know the American Indian better by hearing the answer to the address of the Judge.

On the 21st the crowds will be addressed by the Hon. Opie Chambers, one of the best-known and respected men on the Rosebud Reservation. His subject has not yet been announced, but you may rest assured that it will be interesting from beginning to end. There are few men so well acquainted with the Indian as is Mr. Chambers, and we look for something worth while in his address.

And last, but not least, we wish to call to your attention an event which has never been carried out before since the Congress was organized, and that is the headwork display.

Substantial prizes are being offered for the best exhibit of this work you will see, many of the ancient heirlooms of the Sioux people which have been handed down since earlier than the Revolution as well as those of more recent years.

This feature alone will be well worth your time spent as much of this work is fast disappearing. They will be on exhibit each day of the Congress.

Fill up your car and enjoy the hospitality of Gordon folks on these days—June 19, 20, 21.

Clear Away the Waste
Bowel regularity is the secret of good health, bright eyes, clear complexions, and Dr. King's New Life Pills are a mild and gentle laxative that regulates the bowels and relieves the congested intestines by removing the accumulated wastes without griping. Take a pill before retiring and that heavy head, that dull spring fever feeling disappears. Get Dr. King's New-Life Pills at your druggist, 25c. Adv-3
