

PLAY GROUND IN- STRUCTOR EMPLOYED

Park Board Have Arranged With Department of Physical Education for an Instructress This Summer

The park board for the city of Alliance has decided to make use of the city park for a playground this summer and have employed Miss Helen Hewitt, of the state university, to have charge of the recreation work for Alliance children, during the months of June, July and August.

The play grounds will open the first of June. The hours from 8 to 11 in the morning and 3:30 to 6 in the afternoon, have been chosen as the hours to be used by Miss Hewitt to take charge of the children.

The system to be installed this summer is in keeping with the most advanced ideas for the healthful physical development of the children. All parents in Alliance should encourage and assist that their children attend the playground at the regular hours. It gives them clean, healthful play with a competent woman to care for them. Miss Hewitt will encourage them in their own games, teach them new ones, organize baseball teams, coach tennis, and if possible, arrange for a tennis tournament.

The plan being put through by the park board will make the park a real recreational center for the children. If followed out each year it will be productive of real and lasting benefit.

CHERRY COUNTY GOOSE

Cherry county is noted for the catle it produces but is just now acquiring fame for the high price paid for a goose at a public sale recently held by a ranchman. After the rest of the stuff had been mostly sold Mr. Voss put up the goose, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross. It was sold and resold until the sum of $100 was realized.

LOYALTY RINGS AT LEAGUE'S SESSION

Nonpartisans Loudly Cheer Each Reference to Nation's Leaders in War.

Patriotism was the keynote of the three-day conference held at St. Paul last week between the organized farmers of the National Nonpartisan league and the union workers of the city.

At every mention of President Wilson's name, the delegates rose to their feet with wild cheers and they left no doubt through all their expressions that they are squarely behind the government in their support of the war.

Early in the convention a stirring message assuring President Wilson of the loyalty of the Northwestern farmers was read to the convention, acclaimed by tumultuous applause, and then wired to Washington, D. C. Later a message from Herbert Hoover to the farmers was read to the convention and loudly applauded.

Herbert Hoover's telegram and the presence of William Kent, now member of the Federal Tariff commission and formerly congressman from California, showed that the United States government has no doubt about the frenzied attempt of Minnesota politicians to brand the league's leaders as disloyal.

Kent Represented Government. William Kent was sent to the convention by George Creel, head of the Bureau of Public Information, when Francis J. Heney, in charge of the packers' investigation, was unable to come. Mr. Kent told the farmers and workers that he represented the President and that he would return with the assurance that the Nonpartisan league was loyal.

Other speakers brought cheering praise from men high in the councils of the national administration. A letter was read from George Creel which stated that "Despite attacks, I believe intensely in the loyalty of the Nonpartisan league. I have done all in my power to protect it from unfair assault," and Mrs. Hulda Harold Bain, wife of Capt. Robert Thurston Bain, navigation officer in the United States navy, brought the audience to its feet with cheers when she announced that she had come to the conference with the approval of her husband's commander-in-chief.

Another speaker, Rev. S. R. Maxwell of Denver, said he had a letter from President Wilson which was so personal that he could not read it, but which declared that the Nonpartisan league "is absolutely, divinely and majestically American."

Sneers of Papers Silenced. Even the subsidized Twin City dailies, which day after day tried to distort and misrepresent the doings of the convention, were silent in the face of this evidence. These papers sneeringly said it was "only camouflage" when the farmers and workers opened their sessions with the singing of "The Stars and Stripes" and "America," but they did not dare to jeer when the word was brought from Washington that the national administration considers the Nonpartisan league loyal.

The whole convention was a convincing demonstration of the patriotism of Nonpartisan league members and officials. Not by words alone, but by deeds the farmers displayed their loyalty, for their resolutions again cheerfully agreed in the price of wheat set by the President for the 1918 crop, only asking in return that all other commodities be treated upon the same basis and calling upon Congress to enact legislation that will enable President Wilson to extend his price-fixing policy and prevent profiteering in other industries.

Profiteers Greatly Alarmed. Incidentally, this action in regard to price-fixing legislation explains why the Nonpartisan league is so bitterly assailed by the Special Interests and their subsidized newspapers. The profiteers fear that the league's recommendations will be carried out and if this is done they foresee a drastic reduction in their present swollen dividends. This explains their frantic charges of disloyalty. They are trying to discredit the league and to divert attention from their own misdeeds.

Like Shakespearean Character. When Shakespeare wrote about the man "dressed with a little brief authority" who "cut such fantastic tricks before high heaven as make the angels weep," he undoubtedly had in mind a prototype of Albert R. Allen, a backwoods attorney of a backwoods Minnesota county, who has caused the arrest of Mr. Townley for alleged sedition. So long as the constitution is suspended in our sister state one can expect to hear of almost any fantastic proceeding. The action of Mr. Allen demonstrates again that at this time Minnesota is not "safe for democracy."—Michigan, (N. D.) Arena.

An Old Truth, Still Good. "No men can act with effect who do not act in concert; no men can act in concert who do not act with confidence; no men can act with confidence who are not bound together by common opinions, common affections, and common interests."—Burke.

Catarrh of Throat

Miss Amalle Ruzicka, 1449 South 16th St., Omaha, Nebraska, writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the throat. I caught cold and it settled in my throat, and I coughed badly and was very weak. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I had two doctors, and had taken so many different medicines and found no help. I thought I will have to give up; but at last my mother read about Peruna, so I thought of trying that great medicine Peruna. I got a bottle of it and in about four days I almost stopped coughing, and after a while I surely found relief, and from that time we are not without Peruna in our home."

Could Not Sleep No Appetite Now Well. We Always Have PERUNA in the Home.

Those who object to liquid medicines can procure Peruna Tablets.
