

Hemingford

Little Miss Jeanette Davison came in from the ranch and spent a few days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Davison. She returned to her home the last of the week.

Hemingford and vicinity was well represented at the stockmen's convention in Alliance last week. There was a big delegation went from here all four days.

O. E. Phillips is in a very serious condition at present as the result of being caught in a tractor which he was running. In some way his clothing became entangled in the machine and he was twisted and bruised very badly. At first his condition was considered very serious, but at this writing he is improving nicely.

Another fine rain visited this part of the country Saturday night. These late rains are making crops and gardens look fine.

Misses Nellie and Grace Carter were incoming passengers on No. 43 Tuesday afternoon.

F. B. Davison spent a couple of days with his parents during the week.

John Anderson had quite an experience Tuesday while charging the soda fountain at the drug store. It blew up, knocking Mr. Anderson over and soaking him with water. No other damage was done.

Mrs. Luke Phillips came home from Blair, Nebr., Sunday, having been called home on account of the condition of her son, Ora. Mrs. Phillips was called to Denver a couple of weeks ago to see her sister, who was very ill. The sister passed away Thursday at her home in Denver and the remains were taken to Blair for burial. We extend to Mrs. Phillips our sincere sympathies.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mable Berry Rosenberger was held from the M. E. church at this place Sunday afternoon. When the news of the death of this estimable young woman reached here a cloud of gloom seemed to settle over the entire community. Mrs. Rosenberger had been in a hospital at Boulder, Colo., for the past two or three months. At times her condition was considered serious, then she would rally and seem to be improving, until a few days before her death, when conditions became alarming her husband and parents were sent for and hastened to her bedside. All that skill, that kind care and loving hands could do was done, but to no purpose and she passed away Friday, June 14. In November of 1915, she was united in marriage to C. O. Rosenberger, of this place, and they have made this place their home ever since. Mrs. Rosenberger was 22 years old at the time of her death. By her kind and womanly way she made friends of all who knew her and she will be greatly missed by all. To the sorrowing husband and relatives, we, together with the whole community extend our sympathies.

F. W. Bowman, of Shenandoah, Iowa, was visiting W. F. Walker and family a couple of days last week. Mr. Bowman is an old friend of Mr. Walker's and they had not seen each other for a good many years.

Work on the G. M. Jenkins' house in the west part of town is being pushed right along. When completed it will be a modern home.

A. P. Haynes received the new truck for the oil company last week. This will enable him to make more deliveries in much shorter time and make the work easier to handle.

F. Raska came up from Antioch the first of the week for a visit with his family.

George Carroll returned Monday from Edgemont, South Dakota, where he has been taking treatment for rheumatism.

Mrs. Nora Clark and children went to Scottsbluff the latter part of the week to visit her mother, Mrs. Belle Brown.

Charles Sharp was in Alliance on business Tuesday between trains.

Mrs. L. P. Walker of Sioux county, left here Saturday night on No. 42 for Sioux City, Iowa, to bid good-bye to her three brothers who are leaving for military service this week.

Jerry Butler autoed to Alliance Monday on business.

Mrs. Elder, who has been here visiting her sons, William and Bert, left for her home at Anselmo, the latter part of the week.

FARM LABOR BUREAU

The farm bureau is co-operating with the state and United States department of labor in an effort to secure the necessary help for Box Butte farmers.

Any farmer needing help should notify the county agent, and while help can not be guaranteed, yet in most instances it can be supplied.

Farmers should put in their applications for help as far in advance as possible and every effort will be made to supply their needs.

Broken Stove Lining.

If any one contemplates mending a broken stove lining with a cement made of salt and ashes mixed with water, don't do it. The salt will rust the stove, ruining it beyond repair. Instead, get a quart or so of cement and some sand from the street, and mix with water. Fill all the holes and cracks and your lining will be as good as a new one and your stove not injured.

The Missus in Charge.

The editor of the Jefferson Review recently took his first vacation in a large number of years, and in his latest issue remarks: "That wife of ours has a queer way of running business. She banks all the money she takes in, but doesn't pay any bills. Works all right one way, but has kept us busy since we got home."—Oregonian.

Osage Orange Toughest of Woods.

One of the toughest of woods is that of the so-called Osage orange, which, however, is not an orange at all, but belongs to the nettle family. Some idea of its strength may be had from a report made not long ago by the forest service, which shows that a block 30 inches long and 2 inches by 2 inches in cross section, when bent, breaks under a stress of 13,696 pounds.

The Jaywalker.

What of the jaywalker? He crosses the street diagonally. The motorist leans and shouts. The cop flourishes his club. His whistle shrills. The autos toot. Unknown to the jaywalker the crossing calls to him. In the hospital nurses prepare bandages; and at home a dog howls for his master.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Soldiers' Superstition.

Cavalrymen have a superstition of their own. A mounted man firmly believes that he will come through the deadliest charge unscathed if he carries on his person the tooth of a war horse, the only condition being that the horse itself has, at some time, been through a charge unhurt.

Does Chief Yeoman Service for Her Uncle Sam. Chautauqua Program Afternoon of the Last Day

The Rees Concert company consists of Mae and Gertrude Rees, daughters of the talented musician, John Rees, of Nebraska, and Beatrice Langevin, four years a student of New York's famous teachers, who has a beautiful mezzo soprano voice, and Willa Given, cellist. Chautauqua audiences are demanding the best. This demand of the public is responsible for a new musical ideal that calls for the music of the masters, presented with the color, which makes it sing into the hearts of the people. The popular audience resents music given for the purpose of demonstrating technical ability. It welcomes the real, vibrating music of the great composers, when it is given so that it may be understood. This is what the Rees Concert Company will do. Their programs are for the people.

J. Coates Lockhart, who toured the world with the Kilties Band as their soloist, has been persuaded by the Standard Chautauqua System to go on our circuit with his own company. His program will consist of vocal and instrumental music. Mr. Lockhart, featuring many of the old Scottish songs will also respond with some lively Scotch songs with the true ring. Afternoon of fourth day of Chautauqua.
