Warren Lotspeich is enjoying a seige of small pox and life at the pest house for a few weeks. He declares his intention of trying to pass the examination and enlist in the services of Uncle Sam as soon as he is freed from his present bondage.

Capt. W. H. Corbin arrived Sunday morning after a year's absence from Alliance. He comes from Monticelli, Iowa, where he has been spending the last year. After attending to business affairs here and renewing acquaintances, he will return to his home at Monticelli.

Pat Stewart, Canadian army vetern, who has been visiting of the farm of Dick Kenner, near Hemingford, and who is a former Alliance railroad man, was in the city visiting friends. Although Pat is quite modest, he can tell some mighty interesting stories of the big battles in which he was engaged before receiving the wound which caused him to be retired from the service.

In the shipment from the local Red Cross for last month the surgical department sent out 800 4x4 gauge wipes and their quota for the coming month in this department is to be 1,200 8x4 compress, which are already for shipment at thepresent time. The surgical department has not been working for the past three months because of the snortage in gauze and they aer only allowed to make and send in what is ordered from headquarters. There are boxes and boxes of gauze articles there awaiting shipment and will be shipped as called for.

Rev. J. A. Leavitt, of Omaha, state superintendent of the Society for the Friendless for Nebraska, was in the city this week on business connected with the society. The movement was organized and incorporated in 1901 as the Kansas Society for the Friendless, with headquarters at Topeka, Kansas. It was re-organized and reincorporated in 1907 as the Society for the Friendless. In 1910 the national society was formed with head-quarters at Kansas City, Mo. The organization extends into thirteen states. It has twenty superintendents thirteen matrons and secretaries rai nundred voluntary helpers. It has over 10,000 supporting members and deals with over 3,000 friendless ex-prisoners each year.

Considerable trouble has been brewing in Hemingford lately because of whiskey being transported into the town mysteriously and much drunkenness prevailing. County Attorney Lee Basye went up on Friday to investigate the case and issued subpenaes for witnesses to appear against a number of people in town. One man, Joe J. Planasky, who appeared before the county attorney gave some evidence in his answers which convicted him of the offense of giving away whiskey to another party. When brought before Judge Tash he plead guilty to the charge without trial, making it unnecessary, to investigate further into the case. The Judge held that it was just as serious an offense to give away intoxcating liquor as it was to sell it and imposed a fine of $100 and costs. which Planasky gladly paid and returned to his home.

E. M. Adams, who is personnel secretary from the Y. M. C. A. headquar-# 100 f 100 ters at Omaha, was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday on recruiting service for the Y. M. C. A. He reports that there are 4,000 more men needed in France in the Y. M. C. A. work and that they are going to try to have that number there by the middle of September. All men in good health between the ages of 31 and 50 are eligible for this service. Men in this work in France wear the regulation army uniform and receive a good salary and their families are well supported at home. Much help is needed for the work of driving trucks and repairing them and will cover nearly every line of experience which is used in every day life, as well as for the actual riligious work among the soldiers. The Y. M. C. A. is one of Uncle Sam's greatest workers and those who serve in that capacity are doing a great work. Any person who wishes to secure applications for enrollment can obtain applications and information from Judge Tash at the county court

Naming of Picadilly.

Picadilly, made familiar to most Americans by "Tipperary," is believed to have got its name from pickadelles or picadillies, a variety of turnover collar. A tailor named Higgins, who had made a fortune selling these artieles of apparel, built a home in that particular part of London in 1680 and called it Picadilla hall, hence the name Acadilly.

MOTHER RITA

Predicting this world war, and sides that having predicted both the first and second Balkan wars and the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the Austrian throne, should be conclusive indication of an ability to foretell the future accurately. With her past perform Mother Rita of Monastir, the famous prophetess of the Balkans, carries additional weight. She now predicts that Vienna will fall on the day King Peter, aged monarch of Serbia, dies.

Tim Hurst, residing at the Blackstone hotel, Omaha, was a recent Alliance and Antioch visitor. He is interested in the potash business.
