CHANGE IS NEEDED FOR CITY MANAGER

LIGISLATION NEEDED WILL NO DOUBT BE PASSED AT NEXT SESSION LEGISLATURE

MUST BE STATE CENSUS

Attorney General is of Opinion That Legislature Must Change Law to Help Alliance

Alliance will be unable to secure a city manager until a change is made in the state law, in the opinion of deputy attorney general Roe. This is because of the fact that the census taken in 1914 showing Alliance to have a population of over 5,000 was a city census and not a state or national. The legislature which convenes in January can make this necessary

The Lincoln State-Journal in its is, sue of Friday gives the following regarding the statement of Mr. Roe:

The city of Alliance may be compelled to wait upon the action of the legislature before it can join the list of Nebraska cities that have the commission form of government. County Attorney Lee Basye of Box Butte county has written the attorney general to inquire if Alliance can don the clothes of a city commission form of government. It is now a city of 5,-000 population and has complied with the laws governing cities of the first class having 5,000 or more popu. lation. While section 5288 of the state law providides that cities having 5,000 or more population may adopt a commission form of government, this section has a string to it. The section defines how the population must be determined. It must be by a federal or state census. Another section of the law, section 4804, provides that cities may get into the 5,-000 class by a city census, but strictly speaking it cannot adopt a commission form of government because of section 5288 which says only such cities as have been tetermia d by a state or federal census to have 5,000 pulation can adopt a commission form of government. Deputy Attorney General C. S. Roe is inclined to the belief that Alliance had better not at. tempt to adopt a commission form of government if there is any question about to right to do 30. He suggests that the legislature will meet next month and section 5288 can be amended so as to permit cities to get into the commission form of government under a city census as well as by means of a state or federal census

PHILLIP THOMAS IS NOW COMPANY COOK

Got Tired of Easy Life as Soldier on Manilla Bay Rock and is Now Preparing the "Eats"

Phillip Thomas, next to the youngest of the six Thomas boys, is now company cook on the island fortress, where he is stationed in Manilla bay, P. I. He sent his photo and the fullowing letter on November 6th. The letter reached Alliance yesterday:

"Dear Folks: It is very hard to find anything to write about, but I must answer your letter. I am stationed on a little island about the size of the fair grounds at Alliance and haven't been off of it for four months so you can imagine how hard it is to find anything to write about.

"I started cooking in this company the first. Am on shift one day and off two. It isn't hard work but gets pretty hot sometimes. My pay now amounts to $44.10 a month, which is $14.10 more than when I enlisted.

"It will feel funny to spend Thanks giving and Christmas in such a warm climate. I'll sure be glad when I get back to the states as this is not white man's country. The natives here are very dirty and ignorant. They eat anything from dried grasshoppers to chicken on the half shell.

"Am enclosing a photo which does, n't look much like me but will do. Hope you are all well. I'm feeling fine. Write.

Your friend, Phil." Adress: Phillip M. Thomas, 10th Co. C. A. D., Fort Mills, P. I.

America's Christmas Spirit

Never Before Has It Been So Far Reaching

By ALSON SECOR

B ACK in a niche of time when a quarrelsome world was momentarily at peace world was momentarily at peace, there was born one whom the world delights to call the Prince of Peace, because he taught the brotherhood of man. For nearly two thousand years that day has been celebrated by unselfish giving thruout all Christendom, in honor and memory of Him who gave his life for the good of mankind, and who taught that "greater love hath no man than this. that he lay down his life for his friends." By the parable of the good Samaritan He also taught us to go out of our way to be neighbor to and help the needy, take in and care for them who have been robbed by the wayside.

His life and His teachings all influenced His followers to be unselfish, helpful, generous, kind, and truthful. And He warned against the wolf in sheep's clothing.

A counterfeit emphasizes the fact that the genuine has great value, be it a counterfeit coin, product, or character. None of the Christian virtues are any the less valuable because a nation has deliberately and with malicious intent, clothed a most degraded and brutalizing national thought in a cloak of Christian phraseology.

Nor is the Christmas spirit obliterated by the horors of war when that war was fought to bring peace on earth, good will to men; fought that truth may have a chance to triumph over error and deceit; fought that right may conquer might; fought that the selfish, greedy, brutal, bigoted and deceitful believers in the divine right of kings may be disarmed and punished for this world catastrophy.

America exemplifies the Christmas spirit by giving with no thought of gain. Each soldier and sailor who has joined the colors is willing to give his all, not alone for his friends, but for those whom he does not know, whose language he does not understand, knowing that they cannot give him any thing in return but gratitude.

It is the same spirit that has prompted every mother and father, every wife and sweet, heart to give their beloved to a cause which will make it possible for the Christmas bells to ring out the glad tidings of great joy.

The sacrifices of America's mothers that the mothers and children of devasted France and ravished Belgium may again be free are but the full fruits of that love which prompts the young mother to fill the Christmas tree with the trinkets that little children enjoy, knowing that they cannot repay except in the happiness they show.

All America has learned the great thuth—it is more blessed to give to give than to receive. Selfishness and thoughtless ness have been largely washed out of our national life by the blood of our crusaders. It is another case of each one suffering or dying for many. Never has the Christmas spirit so permeated our national and individual a little ointment upon the wounds of robbed nations. She has helped catch the robber, and now stands willing to pay the bill, to stay on the job until just punishment is meted out to that robber, and see that restoration is guaranteed. This is going the good Samaritan one better. It is the fullness of the

Our government gives our soldiers and sailors everything they need while in the service, so it leaves little we can do for them directly, except send them each the one package allowed, and assure them by frequent letters that we are keeping the home fires burning. Indirectly we can do much for them in freely supporting the various organized efforts such as the United War Work fund, Red Cross and others. In this way we can give them some of the comforts they have left at home; some of the entertainments they so much enjoy some of the moral safeguards that they will need now more than ever since relieved from the stress of fighting.

The first Christmas was made joyful by the bringing of people of war torn Belgium and France, if we will but ex-emplify the spirit of Him whose birthday is celebrated. To those people our partly worn clothes would be a great gift.

Above the joy that comes because our boys will no longer have to face the deadly bullets, gas, and shells, and spend the winter in the unspeakable trenches, our hearts are filled to overflowing with satisfaction because right, justice, and freedom have triumphed.

Once more it is fitting that the angles shall sing, "Glory

The good Samaritan did not stop at merely placing the wounded and robbed stranger upon his breast and taking him to a hotel. He paid the hotel bill in needed care. America was not content with pouring teachings of Him whose birthday we celebrate.

But let us not forget while we are enjoying all the comforts we ever enjoyed, hundreds of thousands of women, children, and old men, who have been driven from their homes, have nothing-no home but a heap of ruins, no clothes but a few rags, no food but a bowl of thin soup once a day. Compared with giving to them the barest necessities of life, the lavishing of useless gifts upon friends, who are not in need of them, seems empty.

NEW NEBRASKA HIGHWAY

A new highway is projected for western Iowa and Nebraska. The road is to start at Denninson, Iowa, pass through Onawa, Iowa, Noffolk, Burwell, Bartlett, Decatur, Bancroft, Elgin, Taylor, Sargent, Anselmo, Tryon, Arthur and Broadwater, Nebraska. with branches to Merna, Alliance and other towns. The projectors of this road think that, owing to the action of Hyannis and other Sand Hill towns the Potash Highway will probably never be completed and that this new route will be more feasible. It is said that western Iowa and eastern Nebraska are very much interested in the new road.—Merna Messenger. An interview with W. D. Fisher, Secretary of the Alliance Community Club and prominent in the promotion of the Potash Highway discloses the fact that great progress is being made toward the building of the highway. Already the gates between Grand Island and Dunning have been eliminated and despite the fact that the shortage of labor and other wartime conditions have to some extent slowed operations more than one half of the road has been put in good. passable shape. Twothirds of the way it is clearly marked. Grant county, though slow in getting started, is behind the project and will let nothing disturb its complete success.

Vice-President Winship Rend Letter at Luncheon from Chief of Field Section at Washington.

At the good roads luncheon held on Tuesday noon of last week in Alliance, during the convention, L. A. Winship, vice-president of the Nebraska highways transport committee, read the following letter from C. W. Reid, cheif of the field section, Highways Transport Committee, of the Council of National Defense:

'Nebraska has very wisely adopted a plan of combining the consideration of highway improvements with High. ways Transport. Surely these two subjects are so closely interwoven that it is impossible to consider the road bed without thinking about the traffic which now or will go over the road. It is equally true that the development of the economic use of the highways for commercial purposes, which is highways transport, is only possible to the development of dependable highways. It therefore gives us particular pleasure to congratulate District No. 5, Highways Transport Committee and the Sixth Congressional District Nebraska Good Roads Association on combining forces for their meeting in Alliance on December 10th.

Building dependable roads and the encouragements of their use as literal avenues of commerce is today one of the vital interests of every tax payer and therefore of prime importance to the civic bodies of your state and district. At your meeting Well-Known Alliance Store Creates on December 10th you will be engag. ed in a great and necessary constructive work which will mean more for the commercial and agricultural de. velopment of your section of Nebrascould do. ### ALLIANCE LOGICAL POINT

This City, With Excellent Railroad Connections Would be Ideal Site for Large Refinery

The Lance Creek oil field in Wyo. ming is now producing large amounts of crude oil that are hunting for a refinery. The Wyoming Oil News, published at Denver and Casper, announces that plans for building a line from the field to Omaha are under consideration. Other routes are also being discussed. One route men. tioned has been through Denver toward the Gulf coast for a connection with the Prairie Pipe Line Company's proposed line from the Ranger field to the gulf. Texas reports say that there has been a sudden and unexplained change in the Prairie Co.'s plans and that its work on the 325mile line capable of handling 60,000 barrels of crude a day, has been temporarily held up. Whether this has any connection with the plans for a line from Wyoming is not definitely Alliance, with its excellent railroad facilities and connections, north, west, south and east, is the ideal location for a refinery and may be con. aldered. The Wyoming oil fields have been rapidly working eastward and a considerable amount of drilling has been done in Nebraska north, west and south of Alliance. That this ceity will eventually be in the oil district is believed by well posted oil men. The locating of a large refinery here, employing hundreds of men, would serve to call attention of the oil district to this city and would give an impetus to the growth caused by the potash district lying to the east. It is understood that no definite decision regarding the new oil pipe line castward will be made until after several wells drilling in the Lance Creek field are completed so that the amount of production and the size of the line necessary to handle it can able, however, that the line will go east from the Lance Creek field to a connection with the Burlington railroad so as to give a more direct line to Canada and the eastern markets than would be possible if it was to be built toward Casper or to a Chicago & Northwestern connection. If the line is built westward it would be carrying the oil away from the eastern markets and would, thererecent date carried the following fore, necessitate a double baul.
