"THE FAMOUS"

ALLIANCE'S FOREMOST CLOTHING HOUSE

GRIM REAPER TAKES TOLL FROM ALLIANCE
death wraps and chills us at this moment, memories, sweet and precious, come crowding in.

Gertrude Lockwood

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lockwood at 708 Toluca Avenue was visited by the grim reaper on Wednesday night, January first, when Gertrude, their two-year-old baby daughter died from pneumonia which followed an attack of influenza.

Little Gertrude was twenty-three months of age. She is survived by her parents and brothers and sisters. The funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from Holy Rosary church Father Manning officiating. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

"When death strikes down the innocent and young, for every fragile form from which he lets the panting spirit free, a hundred virtues rise, in shapes of mercy, charity, and love, to walk the world and bless it. Of every tear that sorrowing mortals shed on such green graves, some good is born some gentler nature comes."

Mrs. Elliott O. Strand

The death of Mrs. Elliott O. Strand came at noon Saturday, January 4th, from pneumonia which followed influenza. Her mother, Mrs. Jennie Williams, is seriously ill with influenza, as is a younger brother, James, who recently came home on a furlough from the army. Myles, elder brother, is a member of the A. E. F. in Siberia.

Mrs. Strand was formerly Miss Elvira Williams and grew to womanhood in Alliance. She was educated in the Alliance schools, graduating from the high school a few years ago. After teaching school for a year at Arvada, Wyoming, she was married to Mr. Strand and they made their home there, moving afterwards to Buffalo, Wyoming, and then to Alliance this summer.

The deceased is survived by her husband and infant baby boy; her mother and her uncle, Thomas James and her three brothers—Myles, James and William. She was born June 25, 1894. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

To her the struggle and burden bearing of earth are ended, and we confidently trust that like one who awakes from a troubled dream she has awakened to see life's endless morning break and knows herself at home with all the vast throng of loved ones, missed from earth, safe about her. Her home instincts were strong here in this fevered world of disappointment. Her affection for friends and kindred was tender and abiding.

MRS. D. S. McNUTT

Mrs. Oscar Braman, of this city, Wednesday received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. D. S. McNutt, at Lincoln, on Tuesday, January 4th.

Mrs. McNutt, who with her family resided at Minatare, was taken to Lincoln a short time ago and placed in a hospital for treatment, and while all that was possible to save her life was done it was to no avail. She leaves to mourn her loss: the husband, five children, father, sister and three brothers. The remains will be brought to Alliance Saturday, but as yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral because of the waiting for word from distant relatives. The bereaved family has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

MRS. C. S. SHELTER

Mrs. C. S. Shelter, who with her family resided in Alliance a number of years ago and who is the mother of Mrs. Fred Harris of this city, passed away at her home at Cologne, Iowa, yesterday after an illness extending over several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Shelter left Alliance about twelve years ago and will be well remembered by many of the people of the county. Mr. Shelter having been engaged in the retail business here for several years.

The deceased was at the time of her death about eighty years of age and leaves besides the life companion, two sons and five daughters, among these being Mrs. Fred Harris of this city and Mrs. J. T. Whitehead of Mitchell. Mrs. Harris left Wednesday night for Cologne to attend the funeral services. It is with deep sorrow indeed that the news of the death of Mrs. Shelter will be received by Box Butte county friends.

Pig Iron From Iron Sands.

Experiments in New Zealand have demonstrated the practicability of producing pig iron from iron sands. The development of the industry has reached the stage where iron is actually produced at the rate of 15 tons per day. Plans are now being made for greatly enlarging the plant.

ROOSEVELT'S DEATH BRINGS GRIEF TO CITIZENS

followers loved him as the French loved Henry of Navarre, and to them he was the matchless leader and the Plumed Knight, virile and unafraid."

W. R. Harper of Alliance, member of Republican state central committee, "I had the pleasure of talking with Colonel Roosevelt last fall when he visited Alliance in the interest of the Liberty Loan drive. I considered him one of the biggest men and one of the best and keenest thinkers of America. As I boarded the train at Anticich and shook his hand he said 'I certainly feel at heart in the short grass country' and amongst the best people of America. He was very interested in the development of this part of the state, especially of the slash industry."

"What appealed to me most was his common manner and magnetic personality. He traveled in the same Pullman car with the rest of the passengers. Not even the humblest passenger on the train felt any distinction of rank when in the presence of the man who had associated with Kings and emperors."

Rev. H. E. Wright, pastor of the Alliance Methodist church, "In the death of Theodore Roosevelt American political life has lost one of its most powerful exponents of righteousness. No man who has studied deeply into those questions which vitally concern the life of the nation for the last twenty years can fail to discern the strong, manly leadership of this fallen chieftain. True, he has often disturbed the political poise of many a party leader, as he has destroyed the equilibrium of a class of private citizens who wielded immense power in the wrong direction, and whom he tersely phrased, 'malefactors of great wealth,' but in the action the cause of righteousness has not suffered. These classes of citizens will not greatly lament the passing of this man 'with a big stick'; but the larger, nobler class of citizens who represent the real makers of a Nation—the 'workers of the world' who claim the constitutional right of a 'square deal' will deplore at this time of world reconstruction the passing of this exponent of the 'strenuous life.'

"It is doubtful if Roosevelt's staunchest friend would endorse every act and word of the great Col. but in the face of succeeding events all fairminded citizens must recognize the high qualities of his leadership. No man since Lincoln has possessed the disposition to champion the righteous cause of the 'common people,' nor manifested a greater to level down the two leading factors of American civilization—labor and capital than Theodore Roosevelt."

"An incident which happened in Denver when crafty politicians were trying to exploit child labor, and thwart the efforts of Ben Lindsay by crushing him, and electing a scion of political misrule in Denver shows the quality of manhood which throbbed in Roosevelt's bosom."

"Roosevelt was scheduled" for an address in the Auditorium. Mayor Speer headed the Committee which had charge of the day's program. Judge Lindsay, Denver's First citizen, had been entirely ignored, and was not even invited to sit on the platform. But desiring to say "How-do" to his long time friend and admirer, he stationed himself at the side entrance leading to the platform. Stepping from the auto he saw Judge Lindsay, and greeted him with a familiar, "Hello, there Ben; where have you been keeping yourself. Come on in." "But I have not been invited," replied Judge Lindsay, as he shook the Colonel's hand. At once fire flashed in the President's eyes, and turning to a committeeman he said, "Gentlemen, haven't you made arrangements for Judge Lindsay to sit on the platform with us?" One of the party spoke in answer, "No, Mr. Roosevelt, we did not make arrangements for the Judge to be with us. 'Well' snapped the Colonel "he is going to be one of the party just the same come along Ben!" And suiting the action to the word he laid hold of the distinguished, but hated Judge of the Juvenile Court, and fairly dragged him to the platform placing him in a front seat close to the speaker's stand. After the committee had gasped their astonishment a few times the incident closed with Justice once more triumphing.

"His death is a personal loss to me as a private citizen who loves justice to the humblest individual. And as the years sweep on and the true greatness of Roosevelt is better appreciated his birthday Oct. 27, 1858, will hold a large place in our calendar, and perhaps take a place along with Feb. 12 and Feb. 22, for he too was a real Liberator of Christian Conscience."
