

"I Want to See Every Wage Worker Own His Own Home."

—W. B. WILSON, SECRETARY OF LABOR

This is a direct plea from the Secretary of Labor to every WORKING MAN AND WOMAN IN THE UNITED STATES. The Secretary of Labor knows, from his own early experiences, that it is possible for every working man to own his own home. He knows, further, that homes are not created by chance, but by hard and persistent effort. Homes bring self respect; homes inculcate the habit of thrift; and homes are the very foundation for your future usefulness AS AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

THE HARDEST THING IN GETTING A HOME IS IN WORKING YOUR DETERMINATION TO THE STARTING POINT. After making the start the rest is easy. LET US HELP YOU WITH THE STARTING POINT.

INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO OBTAIN $60 BONUS

Adjutant at Fort Logan, Colo., Gives Instructions How Discharged Men May Secure Bonus

Discharged soldiers will be interested in the complete instructions concerning the payment of the $60 bonus to discharged men by the United States government, which have been made public by Capt. A. J. Hasenfelt, adjutant at Fort Logan. According to the instructions received at the fort from the war department, all persons who have served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the present war and have been discharged or relieved from service under honorable conditions since April 6, 1917, are entitled to the bonus. Also anyone who may retire or be discharged from the military or naval service within one year after the termination of the war is entitled to the bonus. Women nurses are included under this provision.

Draft men include all who, although inducted into military or naval service, did not report for duty before Nov. 11, 1918, or to any person who has already received a month's pay under the provision of the act of May 18, 1917, or to any person who is entitled to retired pay. Heirs or legal representatives of any person who has died in the service are not entitled to the payment.

All persons separated from active military service from April 6, 1917, who are entitled to the bonus should forward their claims direct to the zone finance officer, Lemon building, Washington, D. C. The applications must contain the original discharge certificate or order for discharge or relief, a statement of all military service since April 6, 1917, showing place and date of reporting at first military station and the address to which check should be sent. When the settlement is made all personal papers will be returned to the applicant.

Adj. A. C. Hasenfelt of Fort Logan desires to add to this that only originals of discharge certificates or other papers should be sent, but advises that it would be well as a precaution before sending away the certificates or other papers to have copies made to be retained by the person concerned as a protection in case of loss of the originals.

The discharge certificate is the paper given the person upon separation from the service, which shows when and where the person was inducted, enlisted or accepted into service and where and when he or she served and where or when he or she was discharged or otherwise relieved from service.

If no discharge paper was given, then another paper which shows the above data, given the man at the time of separation from the army, should be sent. The essential thing is that the zone finance officer must have the person's military history.

The form letter, as issued by the war department for the facilitation of the work of paying the bonus, is made out thus:

From (Your name here.)

To Zone Finance Officer, Lemon Building, Washington, D. C.

Subject Bonus $60 for persons discharged from army or navy.

"1. I request that a check for $60 be sent me under the provisions of section 1506, revenue act, approved Feb. 24, 1919.

"2. Herewith inclosed, find my discharge certificate and order for discharge or relief from the military (naval) service.

"3. My service from April 6, 1917, to date of separation therefrom is as follows:

"Address my check as follows: Name

PASSENGERS CARRIED TO OIL FIELDS BY AEROPLANE

(By International News Service) Wichita, Kans., March 12.—Flying to the Texas oil fields with passengers is the latest "stunt," according to Elmer Corn, formerly of this city, who is now a broker in Fort Worth. Writing to a friend here he said:

"Some ex-soldiers are putting a proposition over for $150,000 and have five machines and fly with passengers from Fort Worth to the Ranger and Burkburnette fields. This is the first time air service has been used to carry passengers."

CEMETERY LOTS USED TO BURY THE "SPIRITS"

(By International News Service) Rochester, N. Y., March 12.—Is the cemetery to become the vault—the place of safe concealment for John Barleycorn when the days of privileged "booze" are past? According to cemetery officials here there are indications that the future will see an increased demand for burial lots. This official has been advised that in arid and liquorless sections of the country there has been a boom in choice burial lots. In rough boxes "remains" are said to have been and are being buried. Frequent visits to the "remains" by the nearest of kin have been observed. A cleverly contrived siphon pump connected with the "remains"—but why explain.

Lumber Yard for Berea

The Forest Lumber Company will in the near future open for business a lumber yard at Berea, this county. Just as soon as the weather will permit work on the new buildings to be erected will be begun and pushed through to completion as rapidly as possible. Mr. George Stockfleth, for the past couple of years bookkeeper at the Alliance yard office, will have charge of the Berea yard and will as soon as the new home is erected by the company for him at that place, move to the new location. The company plans to carry an extensive line of lumber and building materials and will without a doubt enjoy a liberal patronage.

What the Public Should Know About the Packing Industry

THE business of collecting, preparing and distributing foods so relates to the daily life of all that it has close, personal interest for everybody. Sensation seekers have long realized this and capitalized on it. An attack on the packers could always be relied upon either to draw notice to its instigator or divert too close investigation of some other question.

Possibly we are partially to blame for the lack of understanding which exists in regard to our business. In the past, knowing that attacks upon us have been based on tissues of half-truths, adroitly handled innuendo and misinformation, we may have forgotten that the public were not in full possession of the true facts.

Armour and Company have always courted proper inquiry into methods and operations. And, in the past few years, because of so many ex-parte hearings, we have voluntarily put our case before the public. Through publication advertising, we have met the misleading headlines through which people get impressions, headlines frequently controverted by the text matter under them.

Confident that fair-minded people will respond to complete knowledge, we seek better understanding with them. Through newspapers, booklets, moving pictures of our processes and other similar methods, we are explaining the place

Armour and Company occupy in the world of human needs and the manner in which they fulfill their function.

We are putting our case squarely up to all parties who are interested—to producer, merchant, consumer and labor—and that each may realize how our obligations to him must combine with our responsibilities to the other involved, we let all know the entire story as we tell it to the rest. We tell consumers what we say to the producers—producers what we say to consumers.

When all is said, however, the size of any business dealing competitively in staples must remain the best evidence of its economic soundness. If our methods were not sound, Armour and Company could not have attained size in proportion to national needs.

Bearing this thought in mind, you will readily appreciate that your own self-interest and your right to fullest value for your money both urge that you always ask your dealer for Armour Products.
