Sheriff Bruce of Sheridan County was an Alliance visitor Tuesday evening and Wednesday. He had been at Ellsworth on official business and came on to this city for a short visit with his many friends here.

The Railway Clerks held their regular meeting last evening at the Reddish hall. Mr. J. B. Davis, secretary and treasurer, who had just returned from Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was in attendance at the national convention, was present and made a very interesting report.

On account of the extended period of cool, wet weather, pneumonia is reaping a big harvest of young pigs. The University Extension Service says better care is the only remedy. The pigs should be kept thrifty, plenty of clean, dry bedding, and plenty of clean, dry bedding, and good feed provided them. Quite often pneumonia appears as a mixed infection with cholera.

Chief of Police Oscar Reed has decreed that all dogs not tagged according to the city ordinances must die. Already several of the specie have been killed and unless the owners take warning and provide the necessary tags others will follow to the happy hunting grounds for canines.

The A. H. Jones Company this week received a car load shipment of Reo cars. Mr. I. L. Keith, the local manager says that yet the factory is unable to manufacture cars fast enough to supply the demand, but that there is promise of relief for the situation in the coming few weeks.

A well known Alliance citizen who is well along in years and who is supposed to have reached the age of discretion, has been accused by some of his friends of burning the midnight oil in reading love stories. He doesn't cry it.

W. J. Hamilton, of the Alliance Brokerage Company, transacted business in Omaha a couple of days this week. Mr. Hamilton, while away, made arrangements for the handling of all kinds of insurance and building and loan and says that he is now ready to do business on a large scale.

The rapid growth of the purebred stock business has greatly increased the interest in community cooperative sales. Several communities have written The University Extension Service for information on how sales are conducted, and for pavilion plans. The Extension Service has made a study of successful community sales organizations, and it will furnish this information, together with plans for sales barns or pavilions, to any one interested.

H. J. Ellis and family, Alliance citizens, arrived Monday night from a four months' tour of the west. They report having had a wonderful time and to having traveled some 12,000 miles while away.

Nebraska has its share of edible greens, according to the women's section of the University Extension Service. In addition to the standard greens, the following uncultivated ones are good to eat: Wild dandelion, wild lettuce, sour dock, lamb's quarter or pig weed, wild mustard, pepper cress, smartweed sprouts, pusley, marsh marigold, tender sprouts and young leaves of milkweed, young thistle. The following cultivated plants make good greens: Radish tops, turnip tops, beet tops, Swiss chard, kale, Chinese cabbage leaves, upland cress, French endive, cabbage sprouts, asparagus, New Zealand spinach, cultivated dandelions, native mustard, horse radish, Russian mustard, collards, rape, tender tips of alfalfa, lettuce.

The Hoosier schoolteacher still remains in some parts of Indiana. One of these "last leaves" recently declared that she wished a new position. She went to one of the younger generation of teachers and told of her plans. "I'm writing a letter to the trustee of the town in which I wish to teach," she said, "and I wish to tell about my work here. I've taught ever since Mr. J. became superintendent here. Now shall I say I've worked for twenty-five years under his administration or his incumbency?"

Lice and mites are havoc raisers with chickens. A few pinches of sodium fluoride dust over a hen's body will help keep the lice away. A solution of five parts kerosene and one part coal tar disinfectant, such as zenoletum, cresote, cresolin, etc., thoroughly sprayed into the cracks and crevices of the poultry house will help eliminate the mite problem.

High School Notes

The Senior class play, "It Pays to Advertise" will be given Thursday and Friday of this week, at the High School. Everybody is urged to come. Tickets 50c.

Miss Keith gave an interesting account of the State Debating Contest in assembly, Monday morning. Omaha, represented by Mr. Vose, a returned Lieutenant, took first place, Fairbury second, and Beatrice third. Alliance was ably represented by William Cautant, however, and considering that he is now a Sophomore, we may expect a first place sometime in the next two years.

Monday night, a picnic dinner was given by the returning teachers to those who will not return next year. The dinner was given on the lawn of the Emerson school. All report a good time.

Invitations have been received by the high school teachers to a banquet given Thursday night by the ninth grade of the Domestic Science department. This will be given in the D. S. rooms at Central school, and there is a rumor afloat that the evening's festivity will be worth seeing. All please bring cameras.

The Freshmen enjoyed a party Friday night about six miles out of town. Games were played, and appetizing refreshments were served. All enjoyed a jolly time.

Monday and Tuesday, the Normal Training department, escorted by Miss Clayton, visited country schools. The weather man was especially kind to them.

Wednesday night a shower was given by the Misses Clayton, Peters and Reynish, at the home of Mrs. Walters, in honor of Miss Wilma Bruce. Beautiful presents of cut glass were given the bride-to-be. The most striking feature of the entertainment was a colored wedding, in which Miss Pauline Clementina Piccally Jones, was united in marriage with Mr. Rastus George Washington Johnson. In congratulating the bride, the colored folk all became confused and heartily saluted Miss Bruce, instead. Everyone enjoyed many hearty laughs during the evening.

The Seniors celebrated their annual "sneak day" Thursday of last week, and went by auto to Pine Ridge, where they enjoyed a picnic. Tired smiles and sunburned noses bore mute testimony of a good time, Friday.

The concert by the Chadron orchestra, last Wednesday was a real treat. In the afternoon the orchestra gave the highschool a very interesting sample of the evening program.

PRODUCE MERCHANT GAINS 30 POUNDS

Is Also Relieved of Rheumatism Through Taking Course of Tanlac.

"I not only gained thirty pounds on a few bottles of Tanlac but can do more work than I have been able to do at any time in the last ten years," said C. B. Gwin, a well-known produce merchant of Amory, Miss.

"For a long time my system was debilitated," he continued, "and my digestion out of order so I could hardly eat a thing. I suffered from awful headaches, my nerves were on a strain and my muscles felt like they were tied into knots with rheumatism; I lost weight and got weaker every day.

"I was induced to try Tanlac by a friend and it is making a new man of me. I now eat and sleep better than I have in years, my rheumatism is all gone and I feel stronger and better than I have in a long time.

"The logic of the child is always amusing and oftentimes embarrassing," remarked a well-known educator. "They tell a story of little Bess who had been complaining that her stomach felt bad, and her mother said: 'Perhaps it's because it's empty, dear. It might feel better if you had something in it.' Shortly afterward the minister called. In reply to a question as to his health he said that he was well, but that his head felt rather bad that day. 'Perhaps it's 'cause it's empty,' spoke up Bessie. 'It might feel better if you had something in it.'"

The State anti-hog cholera serum plant at the University Farm, Lincoln, is now distributing serum at practically the cost of manufacture. The present price is one and one-half cents a cubic centimeter, with the same price for virus when sold with serum, or 2 cents for virus when sold without serum. The serum is carefully tested when made and again after bottling. Money should accompany orders, or the serum will be sent c. o. d.

Senator Curtis, Republican "whip" in the Senate, is quoted as disclaiming any intention on the part of his Republican colleagues to make a partisan issue of the league of nations. That will be news to Senator Jodge and the thirty-nine "robins" who dragged the question into politics three months ago.

The amendments to the league of nations covenant have stripped the Republican "round robin" of its tail feathers.

The visitor handed his card to Jane, fresh from the country, and the domestic read it with awe. "This way, your nobleness," she murmured, and showed the Duke of Dillington into the cold and cheerless drawing room, where, of course, she had omitted to make a fire. Then, breathless and flustered, she dashed up to her mistress. "The Duke o' Dillington to see you, marm," she gasped. "At least, that's what 'e ses 'e is. Shall I go down and fight the liar?" Her mistress stared. "Jane," she said, sternly, "what do you mean? The duke is a very old friend of mine." "Beg pardon, marm," said the excited servant. "I mean, shall I go down and light the fire?"

"National reform and national progress began with the school room," declared William Jennings Bryan. He was speaking for prohibition. Continuing, he said: "I hope the day may come when all our children will be like little Henry. 'Henry,' said the teacher to a pupil in the juvenile class 'what is synax?' 'I guess it must be the tax on whisky,' replied Henry."
