

SPECIAL LETTERS ARE WIDELY DISTRIBUTED

The Efficient Bowles Live Stock Commission Organization Issues Market Letters and "Tips".

Live stock men who are fortunate enough to receive the Bowles special market letters and "tips"; who read and study them carefully and who patronize this strong and efficient organization have been saved much worry and money.

Mr. C. A. Mallory, who has had a greater general experience in the live stock commission "game" on a larger scale than any one, is manager of the Bowles Omaha Commission. This outfit in less than two years has reached and now occupies third place in the business at Omaha which speaks louder than words and tells the whole story.

Good to choice grass fat steers selling $13.00 to $14.00. Fair to good, $11.00 to $13.00. Best grass fat cows and heifers, $10.50 to $11.50; fair to good, $8.50 to $10.50. Veal calves, $13.00 to $15.50. Stock steers, $8.00 to $10.50. Feeders, $10.50 to $12.00; stock heifers, $7.50 to $8.50; stock cows, $6.00 to $7.00; canners and cutters, $5.50 to $7.00; fat bulls, $9.00 to $11.50.

Corn fed cattle are closely marketed and very few have been put on feed this year owing to the bad break in May and June and the high price of feed.

Some portions of the drouth sections have had rains and with this advance in the market and the good prospects for corn and hay crops in this section and in the East we believe beef cattle will sell comparatively well all of the time and that other grades will meet with a good demand later, although prices will always fluctuate more or less and rule lower before September. We believe beef cattle will command better premiums than usual this year.

Don't get excited or worried; sit tight in the boat; ship stock when it is in good marketable condition or when it is not paying its board. The West will be obliged to ship more freely on account of the wide spread and serious drouth but there will be a good demand for everything during the season.

Hogs are still climbing and selling above $22.00 at Omaha. Lambs selling above $17.50 with feeders above $14.50.

We expect to see hogs sell still higher but think sheep and lambs will sell lower although we do not expect to see anything like very low prices at any time on this crop.

The Bowles advices and service are yours for the asking and as neither costs more than others it will only be natural and normal for more of our readers to keep in line with this outfit.

DEMPSEY DID NOT SEE BLOW TO VICTORY LAND

Felt Sorry for Willard, He Says, So Just Coked Right, Closed His Eyes and Let Go.

By HERBERT N. BERG, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 17.—"I had to hit him, for there, before me, stood the only person in the world between me and the heavyweight championship. So I coked my right, took one look at that battered face, closed my eyes and then let go. I couldn't bear to see that blow land."

That is how Jack Dempsey brought to a dramatic conclusion his story of the fight in which he won the heavyweight championship at Toledo, Ohio, from Jess Willard. Jack was not bragging, neither was he playing for effect. He was merely telling how he won his laurels.

To the writer, who watched the challenger prove his superiority over Willard, the foregoing remarks prove a splendid and uncolored insight to the new champion. Dempsey not only has an exceptionally winning personality, but his every word carries the full weight of conviction. He is an entertaining chap, one who actually likes to play, but when it comes to fighting—Ye Gods! what a wallop!

"I was pretty nervous when I went into the ring," admitted the Salt Lake mauler, "and it seemed to me that my nervousness increased as the time dragged before the first round. As I stepped up to Willard I had in mind his reported ability to hit and hit hard. That is why I showed so much respect for his punches at the beginning."

"You remember that I ran away from Jess's first lead, a straight left. You may also recall how I stepped back when he led the second time. And then we mixed and Jess landed on me twice. Right then and there my confidence returned and my nervousness disappeared."

"I figured to myself that if he could not hit any harder than those two blows it was up to me to wade into him and swap punches. I didn't even have to swap, for Jess seemed to lose his steam, and all of the boxing ability when I landed that first one which upset him."

"As I looked down at that big man on the canvas I quickly made up my mind that this fight was all mine and all that I had to do was to go out and win it. From then on I just plastered him until, at the end of the first round, I was sure I had done enough. In fact, I started to leave the ring. But when they called me back there was nothing for me to do but to go in and finish the job."

"It was the toughest job I ever had in my life. I never felt so sorry for anyone in my life and that is why I closed my eyes when I let go with the final wallop that brought me the championship."

THE TIME TO STOP, LOOK, LISTEN!

Nebraska About to Undertake Gravest Step in State History

MAKING A NEW CONSTITUTION

Storm Clouds On Horizon Carry Threat That New Constitution May Establish State Socialism of Extreme Type.

By a joint resolution the legislature of 1917 submitted to the voters the question of calling a constitutional convention; it was endorsed by a majority of the electors and the legislature of 1919 worked out the details.

There will be one hundred delegates, selected from the present representative districts; delegates become candidates upon the filing of petitions signed by five per cent of the electors, as determined by the last election, but no man may sign more petitions than there are delegates from that district. The petitions shall be filed between July 9 and August 9, 1919. If there be more than two candidates for each place a primary election will be held September 16 to select two candidates to go on the election ballot of November 6, one of which will be elected. There will be no party politics in the election, or in the convention which will convene at Lincoln December 2.

The constitution that will be written at the convention shall be submitted to the voters at the regular election in 1920 for approval or rejection. The present constitution was adopted in 1875 and has stood for nearly half a century with few amendments. The changes that will be made by the convention ought to modernize the document and give it sufficient strength and breadth to stand as a foundation for the enactment of statutes for another fifty years.

Threat of State Socialism. During the closing days of the late legislative session a challenge was thrown into the face of the citizens of Nebraska that one "class" of citizens would seek to control the convention and write into the new constitution socialistic provisions that would lay the foundation for state ownership of privately owned mills, elevators, packing houses, banks, lumber yards, coal yards, department stores, newspapers, etc. The proposed program, viewed from the experience of North Dakota, which is under the control of the same "class," contemplates radical and dangerous changes in the present laws on taxation, of landlord and tenant and would substitute socialistic doctrines for the recognized property rights of the present day which safeguard every Nebraska home and fireside, no matter how humble.

The legislator who publicly uttered this challenge heads a committee of Nebraska citizens whose alleged purpose is to capture the convention for the dangerous experiments above noted. Many of these citizens were named on the committee without their knowledge. The purpose of this committee has recently had the indorsement of the "Non-Partisan Leader," the official organ of A. G. Townley, published in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The New-Nebraska Federation is a state-wide organization, having for its purpose the safeguarding of the vital interests of every citizen of the state, of every class and condition of our citizenship, in the matter of the forthcoming constitutional convention. It will oppose control of the convention by any "class" of citizens. It humbly seeks to advise the selection of broad-gauge Nebraskans for duty in that convention to the end that the new constitution may be strong, progressive, equitable and in keeping with the splendid present and promising future of Nebraska.

Thoughtful farmers are warned to beware of the imported socialist agitators who are threatened to descend like a swarm of locusts this month from North Dakota.

With the fields of corn and wheat and alfalfa waving in promise of a rich harvest, with the cattle on a thousand hills, with the hum of the wheels of industry and with every worthy man and woman employed at better wages than they have ever known before, Nebraska cannot afford to stain her fair name with any taint of bolshevism. True, the problems of post-war reconstruction, cannot be remedied immediately, but the time never was when exact and perfect justice can be accomplished by legislation.

The New-Nebraska Federation invites the membership and active interest of every citizen, man or woman, who loyally believes in Nebraska and honestly desires to keep it safe for its citizens rather than as a pillage field for socialistic agitators, autocratic demagogues and dangerous experimenters in untried theories of government.

Staterooms. There was an old fellow named Shreve who ran steamboats before Jackson fought the redcoats at New Orleans. In Shreve's time the cabins were curtained off just like these new-fangled sleeping-car berths. The old man built wooden rooms, and he named them after the different states, Kentucky, and Illinois and Pennsylvania.

So that when a fellow came aboard he'd say: "What state am I in, Cap?" And from this remark the name stateroom has spread all over the world.

BOY'S TROUBLE COST MOTHER THOUSANDS

Suffered Since He Was Two Years Old—Gains 16 Pounds on Tanlac—Now Well and Strong.

"My nephew, James Hogan, who is fifteen years of age, has gained sixteen pounds on Tanlac and is now a robust, happy boy after thirteen years of awful suffering," said Miss Maggie Goldsmith, 280 Henry Ave., Memphis, Tenn. Miss Goldsmith has been connected with the Joe L. Ullathorne Seed Co., of that city for twenty-seven years and is a stockholder and director in the company.

"Ever since James was two years old," continued Miss Goldsmith, "he has been afflicted with stomach trouble. Two or three hours after eating, especially the evening meal, he would begin to complain of severe pains in his stomach which would increase until he would go into convulsions. These spells would come on five or six times a month and last about thirty minutes and he would be unconscious for an hour. Some said he had heart trouble and others said it was vertigo. His condition kept him down to almost a skeleton and it was pitiful to see how he suffered."

"His mother took him to St. Louis, and many other places for treatment and we spent thousands of dollars trying to find some relief for him but it was all to no avail."

"But all that awful load of anxiety and worry has been lifted. James is now a well and happy boy and is going to school, and a few bottles of Tanlac did it. He always complained of having to take other medicines, but he seemed to like Tanlac and since taking five bottles he is sixteen pounds heavier and doesn't look like the same boy. He wants to eat all the time and can eat anything without it hurting him. It makes us rejoice to see James well and stout and enjoying life like other boys. We are not looking for notoriety, but for the sake of suffering humanity, we are willing to give our unqualified endorsement for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Alliance by F. E. Holsten, in Hemingford by Hemingford Merc. Co., in Hoffland by Mallery Grocery Co.

St. Agnes' Eve.

The feast of St. Agnes was formerly held as in a special degree a holiday for women. It was thought possible for a girl on the eve of St. Agnes to obtain by divination a knowledge of her future husband. She might take a row of pins and pluck them out, one after another, stick them in her sleeve, singing the while a paternoster, and in this way insure that her dreams would that night present the gentleman in question.

Costa Rica.

Costa Rica is the most southerly of the Central American republics, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, with Cocos Island as its outlying possession. It lies between Nicaragua and Panama. A considerable area of the country is high tableland with a temperate climate, but the land along the coast is low, with tropical vegetation and a strictly tropical climate.
