SHEEP ON SMALL SCALE PAY

European War Has Developed Very Important Enterprise for the New England Farmer.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Conditions created by the European war have made sheep raising on a small scale a very important enterprise for the New England farmer, so situated as to take advantage of the economic conditions. Prior to the recent remarkable advance in prices of wool and mutton, sheep raising in New England was comparatively unprofitable, but now, under certain conditions, a revival of the industry seems desirable.

In a study made of sheep raising in the New England states by specialists of the U. S. department of agriculture it was found that this industry when conducted on a small scale was more profitable than dairying. They therefore recommend that sheep replace the unprofitable cows and that the industry be given more attention in sections unfavorable for dairying. Kept in small numbers, sheep do not replace other kinds of live stock but are kept in addition to the regular quota of other stock on such farms as have available pasture.

It was found that regardless of whether sheep were kept in conjunction with dairy or with beef cattle, farms with sheep have practically the same kinds and numbers of other live stock as did farms without sheep. Moreover, farms with the sheep had an average of 15 more acres of pasture than did farms without the sheep, warranting the conclusion made by the specialists that sheep in New England have not been kept to the exclusion of other live stock but have been kept on farms with large pasture areas to utilize the extra pasture available.

Though sheep raising as now conducted on the farms studied is a profitable business at present prices, there is much room and great need for the improvement of the industry, and the specialists say that the average grower could, with better care, make the business a much more profitable one even under normal conditions and without the artificial stimulus to prices given by the war. By proper care in breeding and feeding, the lambing rate should be increased one-third and the wool clip 15 per cent, which at present prices would mean an increase in receipts of nearly $3 per sheep.

SMALL OR BIG SHEEP FLOCK

Many More Animals Can Be Kept With Little Added Labor—Overhead Charges Are Less.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The economical disadvantage of a very small flock lies in the fact that the hours of labor are practically the same for a dozen or 20 ewes as for the larger flock. The fencing to allow desirable change of pastures or to give protection against dogs is about the same in either case, so that the overhead charges per ewe are much smaller in the case of the larger flock. Furthermore, the small flock on a farm having large numbers of other animals is unlikely to receive the study and attention really needed or that would be given to one of the chief sources of the farm income.

NO PROFIT IN STAR BOARDER

Feeds Are Too High Priced to Waste Them on Animals That Do Not Earn Their Living.

Kick out the star boarder. This is not the time to feed animals that will not work. Feeds are too high priced and too much needed for the winning of the war to waste them on slackers. Nearly every farm has one or more animals that are not paying for their feed and care. They may be in the beef herd, in the cow stable or the hog lot. Try to spot them and then get rid of them before they "eat their heads off." It is the patriotic duty of every breeder of live stock to send to the butcher any animal that fails to give satisfactory returns on the food consumed.

GLAD SHE TOOK SISTERS ADVISE

Miss Selma Will Feels Like a New Person Since Taking Tanlac.

"Nothing ever helped me until I got Tanlac and now I am just like a different person," said Miss Selma Will, residing at 799 Lawson street, St. Paul, Minn., in an interview, recently.

"There were times before I began taking Tanlac," continued Miss Will, "when I had such terrible headaches that I could not do any work for several days. My stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat much of anything without suffering intense cramping pains afterwards. My appetite was very poor and I was so run down and weak that I would frequently have dizzy spells and was extremely nervous. My sleep seemed to do very little good as I always got up in the mornings feeling just as tired and worn out as on retiring at night. I have taken many kinds of medicines and octodred for a long time but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac, as she had gotten such splendid results from it, and by the time I had finished my second bottle I had a good appetite and felt better in every way. My stomach never bothers me now no matter what I eat and I never have a headache nor a pain of any kind. Really, I am feeling just fine, better than I have in the past five years, and there's nothing too good for me to say for Tanlac."

There are thousands of people who complain of being nervous and run down. They are not sick exactly, but feel tired out and good for nothing most of the time. They need something to build them up and throw off the symptoms of this weakened, debilitated condition.

The system, besides being purified by Tanlac, is toned up and invigorated as the medicine, aside from assisting the blood, reinvigorates the constitution, overcoming as it seems to quickly do, nervousness, indigestion, non-assimilation of the food, headaches, backaches, kidney complaints and many other ailments that are so common to the thousands of half-sick, depressed men and women.

Tanlac is sold in Alliance by F. E. Holsten, in Hemingford by Hemingford Merc. Co. in Hoffland by Mallory Grocery Co.

Records show that more women live longer than men. When taken in 1900, it was found that 62,295 persons between the ages of ninety and ninety-five were living, and of this number 3,536 were women.
