Miss Edna Benedict will lead the Epworth league next Sunday night.

The pulpit will be filled next Sunday by Rev. A. R. Haislip, both morning and evening. The pastor will start for Des Moines Friday evening to attend an evangelistic retreat for the Omaha area, which includes the states of Iowa and Nebraska. The board of bishops has planned that this year shall be devoted to evangelism, with the slogan, "A Million Souls for Methodism this Year." For the first time in the history of the church, a year is set aside expressly for saving souls with a goal high enough to challenge every church to make its supreme effort. A more detailed report of this work will be given from week to week when the pastor returns.

HEMINGFORD M. E. CHURCH

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Alliance will play Scottsbluff at football on Friday of this week. Mr. Prince assures us that we can beat Scottsbluff in spite of their weight, if our boys will do their best work. The boys will do this, but it is the duty of every other interested person to do his or her best, also. We want a big crowd to be there to celebrate a big victory. The game will be played at the fair grounds.

Scottsbluff was victorious in a game with Sidney, last Friday at Scottsbluff. The score was 33 to 0. For obvious reasons there exists between Alliance and Sidney a more sympathetic feeling than usual. Some representatives from Alliance high attended the game, but are not in the least daunted by the prospects.

A Spud subscription contest was held this week ending Thursday. The class securing 100 per cent subscriptions first, will be given the privilege of having its picture in the magazine. The place of honor was won by the seniors. A fortnightly copy will be issued this year.

An interesting program was given by the senior class Friday of last week. It consisted of the following: Piano solo, Margary Stephens; reading, Madeline Zediker; songs, girls of the class; mock wedding, boys of the class. The wedding ceremony was the most unique feature of the entertainment. The bridal party consisted entirely of boys. Scott Lee, Russel Mann, Clinton Brennon, Howard Lotspeich, John Donovan, Ray Edwards and Stanley Wright were, as ladies, attired in wedding finery which greatly enhanced their masculine beauty. The gentlemen of the party consisted of Horace Fuller, Glen Joder, Wray Rominger and Harold Gavin. Horace Fuller, as the bridegroom, Horatio, pledged himself to take the blushing bride, John Donovan, "to contradict, dispute and browbeat;" and in return, the bride, Johanna, promised to adopt Horatio as her "idol, her master and her little tin god." A few moments of sickening suspense followed while the perspiring bridegroom searched for the ring. After a frenzied search through all his pockets, he at last located it in his hat, which, in his confusion, he had placed upon his head. In giving away the bride, the father gave her a very unpaternal shove in the direction of the bridegroom, and the couple were pronounced "duly spliced," and the preacher charged them to go in peace, and consider him blameless.

The period tests will be given Friday, as usual, the afternoon session starting at 12:30, in order to close in time for the game.

—Newspaper reports indicate that very few communities in the state were successful in raising their quotas in the recent Salvation Army drive, which is by way of being quite a compliment to Box Butte county, and the public-spirited citizens who put the drive across here. Complete figures have not been tabulated, but the average community seems to have done well to go past the half-way mark. Considering the reputation of the Salvation Army and the purpose for which the funds were raised, every county in the state should have furnished the money as cheerfully and promptly as the Salvation Army took up its war work.

—Mrs. Nettie Campbell has been visiting her daughter, Miss Ruby, at Grand Island the past ten days. Mrs. Campbell expected her daughter, who has been attending the Grand Island business college, to return with her, but Miss Ruby was detained for a few days. She has just completed particularly successful courses in bookkeeping, banking and stenography.
